JAPS OCCUPY DALNY

Russians Fled in Great Haste and Left Much Good Property.

A BATTLE NEAR PORT ARTHUR

General Kuropatkin Reports a Number of Skirmishes—Says a Squadron of Japanese Was Almost Annihilated By Cossacks—St. Petersburg Correspondent of Paris Paper Gives Up the General's Idea.

Che Foo, June 1.—(11 a.m.)—An unconfirmed rumor is current among the Chinese that a battle occurred six miles from Port Arthur yesterday (Tuesday).

The engagement resulted in the Russians retreating on Simatsi, followed cautiously by Japanese detachments. Three companies of Japanese are reported to have ambushed a patrol of the Nerinsky regiment near Hunian, wounding three Cossacks. A fourth Cossack had his horse killed under him. Fearing capture he buried his rifle. He was captured, but subsequently escaped, dug up his rifle and rejoined his regiment. Severe fighting is reported along the railway between stations Viagov and Vlandien. The Japanese suffered heavily, and would have been annihilated had not infantry reserves come up and forced the Russians to retire into Viagov.

Continuous Clashes. Liaoyang, June 1.—Continuous fighting has taken place northeast of Fengwangcheng and the railway about Kinchow, since May 27. A sharp action has taken place eastward of Simatsi, 35 miles north of Fengwangcheng, which lasted from the morning of May 27 until daylight, May 30. Both sides suffered seriously, although the detailed losses are not available.

To Fortify Yinkow. London, June 1.—The Tokio correspondent of The Chronicle telegraphs: "Russian strategy has undergone another change. Yinkow is to be again fortified. Four guns have been brought from Newchwang, the garrison increased and the harbor mined."

On to Port Arthur. London, June 1.—The correspondent of The Standard at the Japanese army headquarters, telegraphing under date of May 31, says: "Repeated reconnaissances show that the enemy's troops are not within 15 miles of Fengwangcheng or east of Tayang River for 30 miles in the direction of Siyuen. Motienling Pass may delay, but it cannot prevent the Japanese advance to Port Arthur, as the pass can be turned on either flank."

The Morning Post's correspondent at Shanghai learns that the Russians changed a number of Chinese who had been caught signalling to the Japanese fleet near Vladivostok.

Stationary Till July 1. Paris, June 1.—The correspondent of St. Petersburg of The Echo de Paris says: "A friend of General Kuropatkin's tells me that before his departure the general said: 'The first month it will be said that I am inactive; the second that I am incapable; and the third that I am a traitor, because we will be repulsed and beaten, although this will not seriously affect the result of operations. I shall let people talk freely, adhering to my resolution not to march before July 1, when I shall have the overwhelming masses I need.'"

ANNIHILATED JAP SQUADRON.

Russian Officials Report a Check to Mikado's Forces May 30.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—The following official despatch has been received by the general staff:

"From May 29 to May 30 all has been quiet in the neighborhood of Fengwangcheng."

"At 10.30 p.m., May 27, a force of Japanese infantry from Kuandiansi commenced a frontal flank attack upon a position occupied by our Cossacks near Shoango, 15 versts northwest of Kuandiansi. The Japanese, under cover of the darkness, opened a running, desultory fire, using field searchlights. The Cossacks retired on foot to Chanlin Pass, two versts west of Shoango, and subsequently on Aiyangpiennan, sixteen versts west of Chanlin Pass. The firing ceased at 2 a.m. May 28, when the Japanese ceased the pursuit at the entrance of Chanlin Pass."

Japs Suffered Heavily.

"The same day the first section of a Japanese detachment approached Aiyangpiennan, but afterwards retired to the summit of the hills west of the town. At 10 a.m. they formed up in order of battle, the force consisting of two battalions, with another in reserve. At 11 a.m. a battery of artillery took up a position and opened fire with shrapnel. While crossing the valley the Japanese infantry, advancing in close formation, suffered heavily. At 11.20 the Cossacks, observing that the Japanese were turning their right flank, retired in good order on Saimatsa. The fire of the rear guard ceased at 2 p.m. We lost two officers and seven Cossacks."

"On May 30 the Japanese advanced towards Saimatsa. Their movements were watched by Cossacks. When this telegram was despatched the Japanese had not arrived at Saimatsa."

"Up to May 29 the Japanese had not occupied Siyuen."

Annihilated the Japs. "Shortly before noon May 30 our cavalry opened fire near the railroad station at Vagenfuehchu against an advancing Japanese force consisting of eight companies of infantry, eight squadrons of cavalry, and four machine guns. During the ensuing battle our mounted Sotniai brilliantly attacked a Japanese squadron on the enemy's left flank and almost completely annihilated it. The Sotniai then attacked the infantry, but retired under the fire of machine guns. The advances of the Japanese infantry in order to turn our left flank was stopped by the fire of our battery, which inflicted considerable loss on the enemy. Our losses have not yet been definitely ascertained, but so far as known one officer and 25 men were wounded and 25 horses were lost."

JAPS NOW IN DALNY.

Russians Left So Hastily That They Left Much Good Property.

Tokio, June 1.—The Russians evacuated Dalny so hastily that they failed to destroy much property, which will prove highly valuable to the Japanese. General Oku's scouts report that one hundred stores remain uninjured. The railroad station, with 200 passenger and freight coaches, are uninjured. The Russians destroyed the big pier and blocked all the dock entrances with sunken steamers. They destroyed all the small railway bridges in the vicinity of the docks, but left the jetties uninjured.

Reports from Che Foo state that in the Russian evacuation of Dalny and Taliennan bandits attacked both towns, but order was restored on the entrance of the Japanese troops. The Japanese captured the naval guns taken from Port Arthur to Nanshan Hill.

ASSASSINATION IN RUSSIA.

London Hears That Someone Tried to Kill Lamsdorff.

London, June 1.—A despatch from St. Petersburg to the Central News says that it is rumored there that an attempt was made to assassinate Foreign Minister Lamsdorff at dinner last evening.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—Gossip concerning Count Lamsdorff's early retirement from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is renewed.

Tumor Baseless.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—The rumor that an attempt has been made to assassinate Foreign Minister Lamsdorff is baseless.

Count Assassinated By a Prince.

Paris, June 1.—The Echo de Paris' St. Petersburg correspondent wires: "Count Lamsdorff was assaulted yesterday, while out walking, by Prince Dolgorouki, formerly a pretender to the crown of Bulgaria. The prince was immediately arrested."

STRANDED PAUPERS

Phase of Immigration Threshed Out in the House.

DISTRIBUTION OF IMMIGRANTS

Hon. Mr. Sifton Suggests That the Farmers' Organizations in Ontario Take Up the Subject and Make Suggestions to the Department—Port Arthur and Port William Harbors—Inspection of Grain.

Ottawa, June 1.—The date of prorogation, it is hoped, has been materially advanced by the adoption yesterday of the motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to devote the greater part of Wednesday and Thursday to Government business for the remainder of the session. This gives Government measures precedence on all other days than Mondays, and was justified by the advanced state of private business. The report that large numbers of European immigrants who have recently arrived in Canada are penniless was brought to the attention of the House by Mr. E. F. Clarke, and the subject of pauper immigration was thrashed out. The debate disclosed the fact that Canadian medical examination is most rigid, and that the class of immigrants arriving are desirable.

Mr. Borden's Testimony.

Mr. R. L. Borden took advantage of the opportunity to speak of the excellence of the Galicia settlers. Mr. Sifton, in response to suggestions from both sides of the House, promised to see what could be done in the way of distributing immigrants now seeking employment among the different Provinces. The advisability of making Port Arthur and Port William free ports was suggested during the debate upon the bills establishing a harbor commission for those ports. Sir Richard Cartwright, in connection with the measures respecting the payments of bounties upon lead-bearing ores smelted in Canada, informed the House that the measure of last session had materially increased the output of the mines.

To Increase Bonding Powers.

A petition was received on opening yesterday afternoon from the Huron & Ontario Railway Company, praying for legislation to increase their bonding powers from $10,000 to $20,000 a mile. Mr. Morrison introduced a bill respecting the Similkameen & Kootenay Railway Company. The House adopted a resolution by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that after to-day to the end of the session, Government orders have precedence on Wednesdays and Thursdays after questions put by members. The Premier explained that the business of private members was much further forward than that of the Government.

Pauper Immigrants.

Mr. Clarke called the attention of the Government to the fact that a number of immigrants, chiefly Galicians, are stranded in Montreal, where they are a charge on the city's charity. He read Canadian Association Press despatches regarding the statement of a Montreal correspondent, that thousands of lately arrived immigrants are walking the streets and being sent to the jails for protection. Mr. Clarke declared that the obligation of caring for them is on the steamship companies that brought them out, not on the City of Montreal.

Mr. Rosamond stated that a dozen men of these stranded immigrants had found their way to Almonte, where they are now perfectly helpless. Having no means of support they are dependent on charity.

Mr. Monk said it was the Government's duty to come to the rescue of these people. Unlike the United States, which was enforcing its laws against pauper immigration more rigidly every day, Canada seemed content to allow undesirable immigrants to flow in.

Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Hon. Clifford Sifton said that the Canadian Government had no control over what any private agency in England might do, but he would endeavor to find what could be done in this direction. The officers of the Department were doing their best to deprecate the work of voluntary organizations. Many mechanics had been sent out to Canada by such organizations, and only yesterday a cable had been sent by the Department of the Interior to Lord Strathcona, strongly urging that only farmers or farm laborers should be sent out from England to Canada.

Mr. Sifton stated that most of the stranded immigrants in Montreal are Italian navvies. He promised to give special attention to the complaints that had been made.

Mr. Clarke asked if the Government had not authority to charge the steamship companies with expenses in connection with the maintenance of pauper immigrants.

Mr. Sifton replied that the steamship companies were liable to pay the expenses of inspection and transportation. He believed that the immigrants coming to Canada are far superior as a class to the emigrants going into the United States.

Mr. Borden pointed out that the Government could beyond doubt exercise control over steamship companies making use of Canadian ports. Jabel Robinson failed to see how Canada would benefit from the importation into Canada of people who cannot speak the English language.

good. Action should be taken against these organizations.

Mr. Sifton said he would be glad if the farmers' organizations of Ontario would take up the subject of distribution of immigrants and make suggestions to the department.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Holmes, Heyd, Hughes, Avery, Wright (Renfrew), Uriah Wilson, and Roche of Halifax, after which the matter dropped.

Ontario to Be There.

Mr. Lemieux, the Solicitor-General, replying to a question by the leader of the Opposition, said that the Government would be represented before the Privy Council early in July, when it was understood the appeal of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island against the judgment of the Supreme Court upholding the Federal redistribution of last session would be argued. He understood also that Ontario and Nova Scotia would be represented at the hearing.

Bounties on Lead.

The House, in committee, passed a resolution, on motion of Sir Richard Cartwright, providing that the bounty authorized last session may be paid on lead bearing ores mined in Canada and delivered at a Canadian smelter on or after July 1, 1903. The Minister explained that the session was long, that the Bounty Act did not come into effect until October, and the intention was by the resolution to make it retroactive to the first of July. He believed the bounty had stimulated the mining of low grade ores. Some 70, or 80 thousand dollars had been paid in bounties.

Grain Inspection Bill.

After recess, Sir Richard Cartwright moved the second reading of the bill respecting the inspection of grain. He said it was desirable to refer the bill to a special committee in order that its provisions should be carefully examined. The members of the committee are: Messrs. Campbell, Ross (Ontario), Douglas, Tilsen, Bickerdike, Sifton, Spott, Robinson (West Elgin), Henderson, Smith (Westworth), Wilson.

Port Arthur Harbor.

Mr. Prefontaine's bill respecting the harbor of Port Arthur, Ont., was read a second time. The bill provides for the appointment of a Harbor Commission to control Port Arthur harbor. Another bill introduced by Mr. Prefontaine places Fort William under the control of a Harbor Commission. The Boards of Trade of the two towns requested this legislation. No salaries will be paid the Commissioners.

The bill was passed.

Oil in Canada.

Ottawa, June 1.—The Senate reconvened yesterday after ten days adjournment. Senator Perier moved for a return of geological and other export reports in the hands of the Government, showing the existence or the probabilities of existence of petroleum at Athabasca Landing and in adjoining districts, also the districts in which crude oil has been discovered with quantities produced in 1902 and 1903. Hon. R. W. Scott promised to bring down all the information in possession of the Government.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

Committee on Railways Has Reported the Bill, Confirming the Agreement.

Ottawa, June 1.—The committee on railways yesterday morning reported the bill respecting the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company, which confirms the agreements entered into by the company and the Government. Among the provisions of the bill is one providing that the company may be organized when $1,000,000 of capital stock is subscribed, instead of $2,000,000 as required by the original charter.

The bill of last year was amended in order to permit the issue of paid-up non-assessable stock in consideration of guarantees, or other services rendered the company, due regard being had to the then market value of the stock. The company is also given all powers necessary to carry into effect the agreements between the company and the Government until the time for completion and operation of the line, which is limited to Dec. 1, 1911. Construction is to commence within two years.

The bill extending the time for completion of the works of the Essex Terminal Railway Company to May 15, 1909, was also reported.

G. T. ALIEN INQUIRY.

Judge Winchester Continued His Investigation at Montreal Tuesday.

Montreal, June 1.—Judge Winchester continued his investigation yesterday re the Grand Trunk alien labor. J. R. Stephens was once more examined by his Honor in regard to the employment of Americans.

Mr. Stephens emphatically stated that so far from trying to get Americans, the very reverse of that was his thought and purpose. As a fact, he had given employment to some four persons who were Americans. There was the case of Raymond Heckman, who had been employed at Winnipeg. That gentleman was no longer in the service of the company. He did not know where he was. It was quite untrue to say that, in view of this enquiry, he had made arrangements to have him employed by the C.P.R.

As to the case of Mr. Goodman, he had seen what excellent work had been done at Winnipeg, and he invited him to come to Montreal. Mr. Mellen, recently in his office, had left the Santa Fe Road and reached Montreal about a fortnight after he did. He did not send for him, but he put him on the pay roll at $125 per month. There were four in all who had been on the Santa Fe Road who came to Montreal and who had obtained employment on the Grand Trunk.

LIBERAL FINANCE.

The announcement that Mr. Fielding will show a surplus of $16,000,000 for the present fiscal year does not satisfy the Opposition, which is loath to admit that the country can thrive under Liberal rule. The mode of figuring our surpluses is, they say, a sham; instead of deducting ordinary expenditure from revenue and calling the remainder a surplus, we should add capital to ordinary expenditure and deduct the sum of the two from revenue. That might give us a clearer idea of yearly intake and outgo. Mr. Fielding, however, is simply following the old plan, and in order to compare Liberal with Conservative finance, cannot very well depart from it. It would scarcely be fair to ask him to include capital expenditure as part of the outlay when the Tories, in arriving at their surpluses, excluded it.

Since 1867 the surpluses—except on revenue over ordinary expenditure—have amounted to $82,000,000, the deficits to $23,000,000. From 1891 to 1897, that is to say, the last four years of Tory rule, there was a deficit every year, aggregating over $6,000,000, or an average of $1,500,000 per annum. Since then there has been a surplus every year, notwithstanding the reduction of the tariff by Liberals. The aggregate Liberal surplus in this period, not counting the $16,000,000 for the current year, which expires on June 30, amounted to $42,000,000. In other words, over one-half the aggregate of surpluses since Confederation have been accumulated since the Liberals took office in 1896; while the surplus for the present year will be more than twice as great as the largest ever rolled up by the Conservatives, namely, $7,000,000 in 1882. In 1882 the percentage of duty on goods entered for consumption, dutiable and free, exceeded 15 per cent. In 1903 it was below 16 per cent. Diminished taxation has nevertheless yielded a greater revenue—a sure sign of widespread prosperity. From 1874 to 1878 the Liberals fell on a wintry time, their deficits for those five years aggregating $8,000,000. In the two years 1885 and 1886 the Tories had to chronicle deficits amounting to $8,000,000. The next deficit, $800,000, occurred in 1883, and then came the series of four from 1884 to 1897, already referred to.

The Conservatives have two cries, one contradicting the other: First, Mr. Fielding's surpluses show that only, they show that he is not taxing the people too much; second, they show that his bloated revenues being due to growth of imports, which are cutting the ground from under Canadian imports. (Frog high, frog low, the brethren "squeal"). Reasonable persons gather from his surpluses, amassed under reduced Customs taxation, that the country is doing well under the existing regime, and that it would not be wise to create a disturbance by changing either men or measures.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Dunlop's solicitors are making a desperate fight to prevent the petition in the North Renfrew case from coming to trial. This is the case in which Mr. Dunlop has admitted that he personally spent over $7,200 in the campaign.

The Soo works mortgage has been paid off and there is a probability that the wheels will be turning within a week or so. The Government has taken all precautions to guard the public in the matter of the guarantee, and the concern stands with $1,000,000 working capital on hand.

The General Assembly of the U. S. Presbyterian church, sitting in Buffalo, has adopted a resolution enjoining all its members to refuse to marry divorced persons save those who have been divorced on grounds recognized by the church as scriptural. Women's organizations on the other side blame the members of the various denominations for the large number of divorces, owing to the ease with which divorced persons can get married.

Globe: Police Magistrate Ball of Woodstock has notified the license-holders of Woodstock not to supply a certain resident of the town with liquor. Nevertheless, the prohibited person gets on his customary periodicals and turns up at the police court as of yore. He refuses to tell where he gets his liquor. The Magistrate is determined to discover. It is worthy of note that anyone, whether a license-holder or not, who gives such a person drink is liable to punishment.

Winnipeg Free Press: The present is likely to be a disastrous year for the Intercolonial. The exceptionally severe winter, combined with an increase in the wage bills rendered necessary owing to the general advance in the standard of living, and the rates paid in other occupations, have so increased the operating expenses that for the first nine months of the fiscal year there was a deficit of $643,079. The last three months may reduce this somewhat, but it is plain that this is one of the years when the Intercolonial will not even pay its running expenses. The railway has never been asked to pay a cent of interest on the capital invested, though the annual charge on the people of Canada to meet these payments is somewhat in the neighborhood of three million dollars. This is "government ownership." What would the annual deficit be if the road ran across the continent?

PORT ARTHUR'S FALL

Now Timed to Take Place on or About June 20 Next.

ATTACK TO BE MADE JUNE 15

Very Important Has Developed Since May 29 Beyond Outpost Encounters—Kuropatkin Between Fires at Home and Abroad—Russia's Advisers Lack Moral Courage to Advise Him As to Best Course.

London, May 31.—The attack on Port Arthur, The Chronicle's Tokio correspondent telegraphs, is expected to begin about June 10. In time to see the capture probably about June 20. The correspondent also says that about 10,000 Russians have been sent up the Liao River in junks to Tieling. The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent wires that several Japanese transports are landing troops in Northeast Corea. According to correspondents at Japanese headquarters, up to May 29, nothing important had developed beyond outpost encounters. Japanese troops are largely engaged in building roads and bridges. The Standard's correspondent says that the force that landed at Takushan appears to have struck the fringe of the rainy season. The downpour has been very heavy.

Kuropatkin's Hard Luck. Gen. Kuropatkin, the Telegraph's correspondent at St. Petersburg, says, is fighting two enemies, one at home, the other in Manchuria. While his military reputation is undergoing a terrible ordeal, he also is accused of failure as Minister of War to make proper preparations for war. The Emperor is alleged to be so dissatisfied that he would dismiss both Alexieff and Kuropatkin were it not that he fears the effect of public opinion.

The general impression among the highest classes is that the fall of Port Arthur ought to connote the end of the war, and that if the Japanese succeed in this aim, Russia's best interest would be to make peace, but nobody, the correspondent avers, possesses the moral courage to make such a suggestion to the Emperor.

Japs Occupy Aiyangpienmen. London, May 31.—A despatch to The Central News from Tokio, yesterday, says the Japanese captured a quantity of powder and fifty-six railroad cars at Liushutun. The despatch also says that the Japanese, after defeating the Cossacks at Aiyangpienmen, northeast of Fengwangcheng, occupied that place and reinforcements were sent forward to support them.

The Report Has Color. St. Petersburg, May 31.—There is no confirmation of the general staff of the reported defeat of 2,000 Cossacks at Aiyangpienmen (northwest of Fengwangcheng), but the message from General Kuropatkin recording the Japanese advance from Kuandiansiang (Kwantien) to Siamsatza, lends color to the Tokio report in view of the fact that Aiyangpienmen lies between the above points.

Kuro Reports Jap Advance. St. Petersburg, May 31.—The war office has received the following despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin, under yesterday's date: "I this morning received a report stating that the Japanese advance on Kwantien has begun from Siamsatza. The numbers of the enemy are not known."

Chased By the Japanese. London, May 31.—The Standard's Chefoo correspondent says that a Russian gunboat, believed to be the Bobr, which was in action at Tieling on Thursday, has arrived from Port Arthur. She was chased by Japanese, but was able to take some refugees from Dalny.

Jap Objective Is Port Arthur. Liaoyang, May 31.—The impression at headquarters is growing that the main objective of the enemy is Port Arthur, and it would not be surprising if the actual assault on that fortress began within a fortnight.

Russian Scouts Captured. Tokio, May 31.—Gen. Kuroki, reports a number of outpost affairs, and the capture of eight Russian scouts.

FATAL MILITARY WALK.

Many of French Pedestrians Succumb to Hardships of Race.

Paris, May 31.—Fatal results followed the army walking match Sunday from the Place de la Concorde to St. Germain and back, a distance of about twenty-eight miles, in which 2,000 soldiers from many regiments took part. Reports received by the Minister of War show that forty-two men are missing and a number of them are said to have succumbed to hardships. Besides those missing, thirty-four men were taken to the hospitals along the course, in various stages of prostration. Six were in a serious condition, one man is dead, and another in a dangerous condition. Some reports place the number of dead at four.

Esquary Already Begun.

Montreal, May 31.—Judge Winchester arrived in town yesterday morning and began his enquiry into the complaints re the employment of aliens on the G.T.R. surveys. He expects to be in this city for three or four days.

Double Tracking G.T.R.

Woodstock, May 31.—Double tracking operations have been commenced on the G.T.R., just east of the city, and also in the city limits near Norwich avenue.

Grand Duke Wilhelm Dead. Berlin, May 31.—The death is announced of Grand Duke Friedrich Wilhelm of Mecklenburg-Strelitz. The Grand Duke was born Oct. 17, 1819.

FOR TWO CENT RATE

Mr. Maclean's Bill Referred to the Railway Committee.

ADD TO PAY OF THE MILITIA

Sir Frederick Borden Explains the Increase—The Budget Next Tuesday—Mr. Bourassa's Complaint Against Lord Strathcona—Resolution Passed For the Prohibition of Cigarettes—Protection of Crossings.

Ottawa, May 31.—After many weeks of Government legislation the public bills and resolutions standing in the names of private members were once more given a chance in the House yesterday. Full advantage of the opportunity was taken, and several important matters were discussed. Sir Frederick Borden presented the regulations for the increased pay of the militia. The House adopted in committee the resolution introduced by Mr. Maclean of Huntington some weeks ago, that it is expedient to bring in a bill to prohibit the importation, manufacture and sale of cigarettes. There was no discussion on the bill yesterday. Several bills amending the railway act were discussed, the most important one being Mr. Maclean's, and the principal provision being that fixing two cents a mile as the maximum railway passenger rate. This met with favor from the Opposition, but the House eventually accepted a suggestion by Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick that the bill be referred to the Railway Committee, who should investigate the matter.

The Budget Next Tuesday. Hon. W. S. Fielding announced that the budget would be brought down on Tuesday of next week.

Hon. Mr. Fielding brought down supplementary estimates, amounting to $10,000, on account of the reconstruction of the Ottawa post-office, destroyed by fire. He explained the amount was necessary to carry on the work for the remainder of the current fiscal year, which ends on the 30th of June.

Mr. Bourassa's Complaint.

Henri Bourassa made complaint that Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner in London, discussed publicly some phases of the political relations of Canada and the Empire. He insisted that a Canadian official should take no part in the politics of Great Britain. Recently the Prime Minister had stated that W. T. R. Preston had no authority to speak for Canada in certain matters he had discussed; he wanted some such course pursued with regard to Lord Strathcona.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained that Lord Strathcona, socially and politically, was highly thought of in Great Britain. While His Lordship sometimes gave his opinions on political questions, Sir Wilfrid said he had never known him to speak on behalf of the Dominion Government.

Union Label Bill. Ralph Smith moved the second reading of his bill to enable labor unions to register their labels under the trades marks act.

Speaker Belcourt ruled the second reading out of order under the rule which prohibits the introduction of a bill relating to trade or the restraint of trade without notice in the form of a resolution. "I give notice to that effect than," said Mr. Smith.

To Amend Criminal Code.

Mr. Lancaster moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Criminal Code. The object of the bill is to prevent persons under 21 years of age, arrested on a criminal charge, from electing as to how they shall be tried without first securing the advice of their parents as guardians.

Mr. Fitzpatrick suggested that a good many criminals under 21 years of age know how to take care of themselves on such matters without any advice. He thought it would be sufficient to give persons under 16 the protection provided for in Mr. Lancaster's bill.

Cigarette Resolution.

Without a word of discussion the House went into committee on the resolution: "That it is expedient to bring in a bill to prohibit the importation, manufacture and sale of cigarettes," and passed it. The bill will be brought down at next sitting of the House.

Protection of Crossings.

The House having gone into committee on the bill, Mr. Lancaster, the champion of the cattle-guard movement of last session, explained the necessity of amending the Railway Act as proposed. "Whenever in a city, town or incorporated village a railway crosses a highway at rail level, the said speed of ten miles an hour shall in no event be exceeded, unless the railway company keeps a watchman at such crossing to warn all people using the highway of approaching trains."

Canada-French Line. Sir Richard Cartwright stated that since the beginning of the present session the Government has entered into negotiations with the Armstrong Company shipbuilders, with the object of establishing a line of steamers between Canada and France.

The Treadgold Investigation. Mr. Casgrain was informed that a new commission has been issued to Mr. Justice Britton to continue and terminate the investigation into the Treadgold and other concessions in the Yukon. The commissioner expects to make his report about July 1.

Only to the Cabinet.

Mr. Barker of Hamilton, wanted to know to what persons, or what dates, and under what circumstances was the application of George A. Cox, Charles M. Hoyt and William Wainwright read to the House by the Minister of Finance on May 27 last communicated wholly or in part previous to the same being so read to the House. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that the application was communicated to the Cabinet, and no one else shortly after it was received.

CLEAN SEEDS

We Offer the Best We can Buy in Alsike and Red Clover, Timothy and other Seeds.

IT WILL BE ADMITTED by most farmers that notwithstanding the improved appliances for the tilling of the land, it is a rare thing to find a clean farm. The Government, recognizing that the spread of noxious weeds is on the increase, has passed a law to prevent the sale of impure seed, but it will not deter the farmer from selling seed to his neighbor.

It is a sad fact that a farmer who will work hard early and late, to clean a field and prepare it for a good crop, will very likely sow it with impure seed because he can buy the risky kind cheaper than the sure kind. This we consider is very poor economy as many farmers have found to their great cost.

There are over 100 impure seeds to be guarded against. While we do not guarantee our seeds to be absolutely pure from all of these, we offer you the very best we can buy, and the certainty that in any event only a few of the least objectionable will be found therein. REMEMBER, it is necessary to sow good, sound, clean seed to insure a good crop and a good price. Try ours and you may rest satisfied that you have secured as good seed as can be found in the Province.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JUNE 3.

TREATMENT OF KENT-ST.

Alderman O'Rielly, the energetic chairman of the Board of Works, has wisely repented of his intention to permit Kent-st. to go without its annual spring scraping. The desire was to doubt born of the knowledge that considerable work had been expended last year in repairing the thoroughfare with gravel of doubtful quality, and that a scraping would remove nearly all of it. This feeling prompted the Board of Works committee to flatten the accumulation of mud and gravel and horse droppings by means of the steam roller, but the staff lacked some essential constituent and refused to adhere to the solid foundation beneath. But for that fact the mass of filth would have been left on the street to wear off and be carried in dust clouds into our stores and into the eyes, ears and nostrils of pedestrians.

It is thus aldermen realized that barring the laying of a permanent pavement of vitrified brick, asphalt or tar macadam, either of which is beyond our reach at present, there is no plan by which Kent-st. can be made a decently paved thoroughfare other than that disclosed some years ago by Mr. A. W. Campbell, Provincial Road Commissioner. His advice was to tear up the street to a depth of about a foot, grade and roll it properly, and then add a good top dressing of broken stone in three grades, the top layer to be granite if procurable, the whole to be repaved with gravel. That advice appeals to the common sense of the majority of our citizens, and until they can afford the comparatively small sum necessary our aldermen should stay their hand and refrain from useless and costly experiments.

OUR STREET LIGHTING SYSTEM.

While it is generally admitted that the present system of street lighting by means of the enclosed 1500 c.p. arc lamp is the best Lindsay has ever enjoyed, and that the cost in reasonable as compared with the prices paid in many towns and cities, it must not therefore be assumed by our aldermen and the contracting company that everything is perfect and that there is no room for fault-finding. Because the system is superior to the former imperfect plants does not justify forgetfulness of the fact that the service calls for a much larger proportion of the people's taxes than heretofore, and hence it is important that the contract entered into by the company should be carried out with scrupulous fidelity in order that no cause for complaint may be given. It is admitted by some of our aldermen that the company did not comply with the terms of the contract when erecting their pole line, and that many of the poles are out of position. It is also stipulated in the contract—or at least so Council intended and ordered—that all lamps should be so adjusted as to be in the centre of the thoroughfare. This has been neglected in many instances.

Aldermen who claimed that 60 lamps would be ample to illuminate the town are now invited to consider the fact that with 73 in position portions of many of the streets are too dark to be travelled without risk of accident, and there are citizens who do not hesitate to say that the gas lamps afforded better light for the pavements. (This trouble may be remedied to some extent when the aldermen make their rounds and change the location of some of the lamps, but it seems most probable that a system which did not render the streets too brilliant in winter, when the snow and leafless trees permitted the rays to spread to their farthest limit, will fall short of the mark in summer, when the dense foliage intercepts the light. It will likely require a dozen or fifteen additional lamps to make the summer service equal to that in winter, and as Council failed to stipulate in the contract for a reduced price on additional lamps over 60, the increase will mean a considerable addition to the already large payment.

There is one way in which Council can protect the citizens and save money for future extensions of the street lighting system, and that is by locking closely after the terms of the agreement dealing with deductions for lights out. Some of our aldermen are evincing a leniency in this respect which is not at all in accord with their obligation to protect the people and save their money. They profess to think it a small thing to charge the company the penalty for a couple of lamps out, and no doubt they think it a small thing also that the citizens should be deprived of the benefit of much-needed light which they are paying for but do not get. What the aggregate of these properly imposed penalties might amount to is shown in the following extract from the Stratford Beacon's report of the visit of a deputation from that city to Brantford:

There is no moonlight schedule, there as here, all lights being turned on every night from dusk till dawn. The system in use of finding out what lights are out is a good one. The policemen, of whom there are six at night, are instructed to watch the lights and to take note of the length of time they are out. The citizens also are requested to notify the chief of the fire department of any lights they find out, and fill in a special form. Five cents per hour is charged against each light that is out. This method enables the city to save considerable money. During the month of the floods this spring $435 was recovered on account of "outs," and generally the amount is about $80 per month.

Stratford's method is entirely different, and much more expensive. The Electric Light Company are the only ones that keep a record of "outs" and the rate is 20c a night for those not lighted, with the result that the average amount saved each month is only about $12.

THE FISHING SEASON.

Our citizens and residents at all points along the Kawartha Lakes will learn with much satisfaction that the order to extend the close season for bass and muskellunge to July 1st—two weeks later than heretofore—has been cancelled by the Ontario Fisheries Department for this season at least, and fishermen may inaugurate their favorite summer sport on Thursday morning, June 16th, at any hour they may select as the most propitious.

No doubt the decision to continue the old arrangement was influenced by the many protests forwarded to the Department from all parts of the Province by the fishery inspectors and overseers, and one forwarded by Mr. Nicholas Brady, overseer for this district, was particularly convincing and outspoken. That efficient officer pointed out that the extension of the close season to July 1st would debar nearly every farmer, and those so employed, from all enjoyment of the sport until the fall, because fishing is out of the question during the harvesting season. This would give to the American tourist almost a monopoly of the sport of killing the fine game fish with which our lakes are stocked.

Overseer Brady also directed the attention of the Department to an anomaly in the regulation. Heretofore fishing in Rice Lake has opened two weeks earlier than elsewhere, and it transpired that the reason urged by the people of the district when applying for the concession was that when the water is low the growth of rice and weeds renders trolling a very difficult if not impossible sport. Mr. Brady very properly brought to the attention of his superiors the fact that a much larger area of the Kawartha waters is subject to the same conditions, including Scugog Lake and river, Emily Creek and Pigeon River and Creek, aggregating in all about 100 miles. These stretches should be governed by the same regulations as are framed for Rice Lake, and Mr. Brady is entitled to the thanks of fishermen and citizens generally for his action in calling attention to the matter.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The question of a tunnel under the English channel to connect Britain and France is again revived. It was first proposed fifty years ago, and since then the estimated cost has been reduced from $50,000,000 to $20,000,000. The cordial relations existing between the two countries at present have no doubt prompted its promoters to once more trot the scheme out, but it is doubtful if the military authorities on the British side will take any more kindly to it.

Trent Valley Navigation Co.

Commencing June 1st, and continuing until the end of Sept., the Str. Esturion on Saturday nights will await the arrival of evening train from Toronto, and from June 15th to Sept. 1st the boat will leave Lindsay other evenings at 6.30 instead of 5.45. The Str. Esturion will connect the Lindsay-Burlington trip on June 1st, leaving Lindsay after arrival of morning train from Peterboro, calling at all points on Stony Lake and returning in time to connect with evening train for Peterboro.—dw1.

Effects of Scotch Whiskey.

Gunner—"So you drink Scotch whiskey at the banquet until you saw triple. Did you hear bells ringing in your ears?"
Gayer—"Worse than that—I heard lappets."

Struck by the Train.

At McQuade's railway crossing, about two miles east of Omenee, there was a narrow escape from a fatality. Mr. Richard Hamilton was driving a light rig, and a leading retail when the evening express, running fast, came along. The engine struck and demolished Hamilton's rig, but he and the animals escaped injury.

Imposing on Good Nature.

(London Globe.)
At a musical meet last week a singer was requested by an extremely sedate looking individual to oblige with the Japanese national anthem. It was explained to him by the serious one that the tune was the same as the British National anthem, and that all he had to do was to pronounce the Japanese words provided for him on a sheet of paper, precisely as they were spelled. Accordingly he rose the willing warbler and burst out with the following lyric:
O wa ta fu lym
A fu lym
Ho was only pulled up by roars of delighted laughter from containing the confession. There was no encore.

Local Brevities

—The Downeyville picnic will be held on the 15th of June.
—Mr. F. H. Fee has sold his fine driving mare, Lucy Herreld, for the sum of $220.
—And now the Boston Herald speaks of "the feminine ankle and adjacent territory. There's delicacy for you!"
—Collingwood Bulletin: The decision of the Council to build a cement walks this year, which was unanimously agreed to in March, should not be tampered with. We have had about twelve or thirteen years of sidewalk building and our debates and business have been conducted unanimously. To lay off for a year will do no injury in this particular and will permit the attention of the Board of Works to be directed to other matters of probably greater importance.

A Lawn Social

Under the auspices of the Wesley Sunday School, will be held on the lawn of Mr. S. D. Webster, Glanville, on Friday evening, June 10th. Tea will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock, after which an excellent programme of literary and musical selections will be given. The committee are sparing no efforts to make this the event of the season. A refreshment booth will be on the grounds. Admission—adults 25c, children 15c.—w1.

Railway Notes.

—Present indications are that not less than 75,000 employees will be dropped at once from the leading U. S. railroad payrolls. A large proportion of these employees are losing their jobs under orders from company headquarters to dismiss from the freight departments every person not absolutely needed. Train hands, station men and clerks have been receiving notices to quit since April 15, and by June 10, it is expected that the wedding cut process will have been completed.

Threatened His Family.

Corinth, May 30.—Albert Pound, who has been living with his wife and two small children, on a farm about three miles west of the village, was arrested Saturday for threatening to murder his family, and committed for further trial and expert examination at St. Thomas. Evidence given goes to show that he has had spells of insanity, and in one of these fits, having had trouble with some boys, he came in the house and commenced sharpening a razor, telling his wife the whole family would be dead in half an hour.

Difficulties of a Census.

Johannesburg, May 30.—The un-audited figures of the Transvaal census just published show a total population of 1,268,816—viz., whites 299,327, natives 945,598, other colored persons 23,891. As evidencing the difficulties of the enumerators, it may be stated that one trooper of the constabulary was drowned in the Zoutpansberg region and another was mauled by a lion in the Sabie district, while many contracted fever.

Gamery at Massey Hall.

Toronto, May 31.—Four thousand people in Massey Hall last night listened to an explanation of the famous Gamery case from the lips of the man most prominently connected with it, Mr. R. R. Gamery himself. In the two hours and a half during which he spoke at the Grand Theatre, a considerable detail with the various phases of the case. He had nothing new to say, but what he did say was clothed in somewhat better language than he has been wont to use on the stump.

Flight Stops Train.

Vienna, May 30.—While 300 Hungarian recruits were waiting for the train at Nausohl a quarrel was started among some of their number. The belligerents took possession of the permanent way as their battlefield, and for three-quarters of an hour all traffic was at a standstill while the recruits fought with the utmost fury, regardless of everything that may be gauged by the fact that two of the recruits were killed and twenty-eight received serious injuries.

ALDERMEN THINK TOWN MIGHT AS WELL MAKE A FEW DOLLARS.

Bell Co. Offer $200 a Year, Town to Pay for all Phones Used.

A special meeting of Council was held Monday evening to meet Mr. Scott, Bell Telephone Co. representative, who came at the request of Mayor Southeran to discuss the franchise question. Ald. O'Rielly was the only absentee, being detained by illness.

The Band Concerts.

Previous to taking up the business of the evening, Bandmaster Roenick was heard relative to the unsuitability of the present band stand both as regards its size and position. The band having secured four or five new members, cannot now find room in the structure, and anyway it is located too far back on the park. The stand should be enlarged and moved forward, and it might be deemed best to have it placed on the west park. While the alterations were being made the floor of the stand should be lowered as much as possible, as this would improve the sound.

Mayor Southeran objected to the stand being removed for a couple of years, his reason being that the young trees on the park should be allowed to get a good start, but he was in favor of the other improvements. The business was referred to a committee comprising the Mayor and Aldermen McWatson and Cinnamon.

The Franchise Question.

His Worship then referred to the presence of Mr. Scott, who was prepared to discuss with the Aldermen the amount his Company was willing to grant the town for an exclusive franchise for five years, the term fixed by law. Mayor Southeran replied by the fact that some five years ago Mr. Scott had made an offer, which had been turned down owing to a local company having applied for a franchise.

Mr. Scott said his previous offer presented the option of a yearly payment, or part cash, so many free phones or an addition to the fire alarm system, and his Company again made the same proposition. The basis of the franchise payment to cities and towns was 5 per cent. of the gross income of the Exchange. It should not be forgotten that the recent change in the Assessment law might almost double the Company's taxation in Lindsay, and in any event would mean an increase of over 50 per cent. The previous offer for a franchise was $160 a year, but owing to the number of phones having increased the present offer would be $200 a year.

Ald. Cinnamon—"We have, then, lost about $1,000 as a result of the former offer not being accepted?"
Mayor Southeran—"About $700, but it may not have been a saving to the Company, as we don't know how much it cost them to buy out the other Company."

Ald. Cinnamon—"I think we should get free phones thrown in."
Mayor Southeran—"Especially as Peterboro and Kingston have refused a franchise in order to secure competition."

Mr. Scott—"It would be impossible to give free phones in addition to $200 a year. We must treat all towns alike."

Ald. Cinnamon pressed for free phones for the Clerk's office, Library, Collegiate Institute, Fire Hall and Chief's office.

Mayor Southeran mentioned the disarrangement of the town telephone system caused by the street lighting wires.

Mr. Scott—"To remedy that it would be necessary to install a metallic system, and that would cost a lot."

Ald. Cinnamon's suggestion was put in the form of a motion and was seconded by Ald. McWatson. Ald. Cinnamon remarked, "That means about $800 a year, a small sum for a town like this."

Mr. Scott—"We can't do it, gentlemen. Lindsay has always treated us fairly, and while there is no reason why we should seek a franchise. We are willing to accord the town the best treatment we can."

Finally a resolution was adopted by the Town Protective committee recommending Council to give a franchise for five years in consideration of $200 a year, Mayor Southeran and Ald. Maunders being the movers. The matter will be further discussed at next Monday's Council meeting.

OPS TOWNSHIP LEGISLATORS

COURT OF REVISION AND GENERAL COUNCIL BUSINESS

Dealt With at Last Monday's Meeting—Grant to Central Fair.

Ops Council held their annual Court of Revision on Monday, May 30th. There were only four appeals against assessment. The appellants were as follows:

Mr. Thos. Stewart, on behalf of the L. B. & P. Railway Company, of which he is secretary, wrote that the assessment was a third too high.
Mr. Jas. J. Heenan appealed against the assessment of e. hf. lot 21, con. 9, as being too high.

Mr. John Carlin said he thought the assessment of s. hf. lot 18, con. 4, was about $300 too high, and asked the Court to lower it.

John Jas. Kennedy, of Emily, said his Ops farm, lot 27, con. 11, was assessed at more than its value.
The Court confirmed the assessment in every case except that of e. hf. lot 21, con. 9, which was reduced $100.

Mr. John O'Reilly, alderman, appealed against the omission of ten names that should appear on the roll as joint owners of e. hf. lot 6, con. 5, and names were inserted.

Mr. D. O'Connell appealed against the omission of 40 names of persons, who are qualified under the Manhood Franchise Act or otherwise, and they were added to the roll. Mr. Robt. Bryner's list of 21 names of similar qualification was also carefully considered, and the names were on motion entered on the roll.

Mr. Hawkins then moved, seconded by Mr. Coulter, that the Assessment Roll of 1904, as now revised, be confirmed.—Carried.

Mr. Hawkins then moved, seconded by Mr. Coulter, that the Assessment Roll as now revised be confirmed.—Carried. The Court closed at noon.

SESSION OF COUNCIL.

The members met at 1.30 p.m. for the transaction of township business. The following communications were read by the Clerk.

A letter from Mr. W. R. Tiffin, Sup't. of the G. T. K. Co., stating that he had failed to find any just cause or grounds for the complaint lodged against the Company by Mr. W. I. Reid, of Reaboro.

A letter from Mr. McNeillie, County Clerk, re meeting of County Committee at E. C. C. bridge.

A letter from the Clerk of Mariposa, in reference to cement culvert pipes.

Wire Fence Matter.

Mr. Geo. Smith, ex. said he had put in 104 posts for wire fence, but that Mr. Hawkins refused to give him the bonus because his fence was a foot or two outside his line. He thought the Council allowed three feet for wire fences. He could not easily put his fence as the old fence had been put along the old fence, but would have removed the stone had he known the Council made no allowance. The posts were sunk three feet and it would be expensive to remove them. The Council informed him that no permission had been given to any one to encroach on the road, and that no bonus would be given in future to any one trespassing on the road.

Mr. Smith felt disappointed and said he would do with the old fence, that his object in building the wire fence was to save statute labor during winter.
The Council reconsidered the case and decided to let Mr. Smith complete his fence as the road will be wider than before and statute labor saved, too. The following motion was then passed: Moved by Mr. Best, seconded by Mr. Hawkins, that Geo. Smith be permitted to finish his fence along the east end of lot 14, con. 9, and that public notice be given that all land owners be forbidden to encroach on the public roads when building fences, such roads to be no less than 66 feet wide.

On motion of Messrs. Hawkins, and Coulter, the salary of Mr. J. T. Carrins, assessor, was paid.

Agricultural Grant.

Mr. Geo. Lytle was present and explained the progress made by the directors in enlarging and improving the Fair grounds, and said the South Victoria Agricultural Fair was bound to forge ahead, while smaller ones were dying out. The Reseve then considered the grant, and they decided to grant it, and they replied, "The Society merits a liberal support." The following resolution was then unanimously carried:

Moved by Mr. Coulter, seconded by Mr. Best, that this Council grant $100 to the South Victoria Agricultural Society to aid in improving the Fair grounds.—Carried.

Mr. Lytle thanked the Council on behalf of the Society for their generous and cheerfully voted grant.

Mr. Roche moved, seconded by Mr. Best, that the trees on Beat No. 36 be sold to the highest bidder, and the proceeds be expended on said beat. The Treasurer was on motion of Messrs. Coulter and Hawkins, instructed to place $6, received from P. J. Leddy for timber, to the credit of Commissioner Roche.

A motion was passed instructing the Clerk to correspond with dealers in municipal debentures with a view of disposing of Ops R. R. debentures.

Wire Fence Supply.

On motion of Messrs. Coulter and Roche, the Reseve was requested to order 100 rods of wire fencing, and at satisfactory prices to meet the order.

Mr. John Wilson, town clerk, asked for a bonus for wire fence at lot 26, con. 11. The matter was left in the hands of Commissioner Best.

The following accounts were then read: Motion of Messrs. Roche and Hawkins, that Geo. Lytle, be appointed, $7.50; Mr. Hogan for burying a nuisance, $1. Wm. D. Reid, wood for Widow Powers, $7.

A motion to adjourn till Monday, June 27th, prox., was then passed.

—A number of our merchants are having their store fronts repainted. The 1st. of July is coming and our citizens are preparing to make the town present a pretty appearance.

—The prospects for a large and heavy matrimonial crop in this vicinity are very bright, despite the very backward spring. This is the month of June and many weddings are mooted.

—Kingston aldermen have followed Peterboro's example and refused to renew the Bell Telephone Co. franchise, thus leaving room for the Machine Telephone Co., to establish a competing system.

—On Wednesday evening last, by the burning out of the electric light dynamo, the people of Orillia were left in total darkness, and the play at the Opera house was put on with the aid of coal oil lamps.

—Mr. Christopher Chittick has let a contract for a new residence on Wellington-st. to Mr. T. D. Staples. It will be veneered with brick, 31x24, two storeys in height, and will have all modern conveniences.

—Barrie Council has followed Midland's lead and has passed a by-law abolishing all pool and billiard rooms in that town after Dec. 1st next. Only two Lindsay hotels now have billiard rooms, and if these are closed a great many young lads and youths would be benefited.

—Still another addition has been made to Lindsay's fleet of steamers—an "Alligator" reg built by Mr. John McGee, of the Lindsay Foundry, for Mr. John Garow, lumberman. The craft launched itself on the 24th, and will be used in towing crabs or logs from the storage booms to the mill as needed.

—On Sunday night Mrs. J. Moncrief, of Dwyer's Corners, near Peterboro, while returning from church was attacked by a man who leaped over a fence and struck her repeatedly. The lady was severely injured, and her hurts compel her to remain in bed. The police have not yet discovered the guilty party.

—The town of Barrie will in future get along without billiards, the Council having decided to abolish the game away with the game. The main reason given for the action in that boys of twelve years and under were permitted to gather in the billiard rooms and watch the games. One alderman remarked that the hotel pool rooms were to go, and that their tendency being wholly evil. The abolition of the by-law was voted unanimously.

—Peterboro has a new industry—a factory for the making of cement drain pipe. The Examiner says: Mr. W. Taylor, the present manager in connection with the works, formerly carried on a large brick yard industry of a similar character in Beaverton, as well as a sawmill, and other works. He has associated with him Mr. Warren Hall, who assists in taking charge of the workmen, and who is quite enthusiastic regarding the success of the new industry.

—The bathing nuisance is again to the fore. Sunday afternoon about a dozen young fellows, clad in nature's garb, disported themselves at a landing near Riverside cemetery, and their language would scarcely be a hole in a wet blanket. The town and township authorities should get their heads together at once and take measures to stop this indecency, which renders it impossible for our citizens to enjoy an evening sail on our beautiful river.

"WATCHED" AND "CHAINED"

CHIEF TRAIN DESPATCHER GEO. R. STEPHENS HONORED.

rand Trunk Employees Present Him With a Handsome Gold Watch, Suitably Engraved, and Chain.

Monday evening the employees in the various departments of the Grand Trunk Railway System met in the parlors of the Simpson house to make a presentation to Mr. George R. Stephens, Chief Train Despatcher, who has successfully held this responsible position at Lindsay for the past twelve years, having been identified in a similar position at Peterboro and Port Hope previous to coming to Lindsay. Mr. Stephens has been assigned duties in the office of the Superintendent of the Northern Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, with headquarters at Allandale.

Mr. A. M. Paton, the well-known and popular G. T. R. Agent at this point, acted as chairman, and in a few brief remarks explained the object of the gathering and called upon Despatcher F. A. Ball, who in a few suitable remarks introduced the reading of an address on behalf of the employees as follows:

To Mr. Geo. Stephens, Lindsay.
It is with sincere regret that we, the employees of the Northern Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, learn that you are about to be removed from this branch of the road. Your connection with us dates back some 20 years or more, and during that long period your zealous and painstaking interest in all connected with our various duties has not gone unnoticed. Much of the pleasant relationship existing among us as employees, has been due, we have no hesitation in saying, to your tact, wise judgment and sound advice. As our associate and co-worker we have always found you faithful to duty, kindly in assistance and ever ready in overlooking faults and failings in others.

We would ask you on behalf of all who have been more or less closely associated with you, to accept this watch and chain as a token of the esteem and respect in which you are held by all.

Our sincere wish for you and your esteemed wife is that you may long be spared to usefulness in the work whose interests has been yours first, last and always.—Signed on behalf of the employees: J. W. Lyons, A. M. Paton, Walter Brown, F. Haskill, H. Hurry.

The Gift Acknowledged.

Mr. Stephens' reply was couched in suitable language. In the course of it he voiced his appreciation of the sincere feeling of good fellowship which had prompted the gift, and which he was glad to say, existed between the employees in all the departments. He had had many proofs of this in the kindly support and harmony attending his relations with all the men since coming to Lindsay, and the knowledge of the existence of this pleasant state of things tended to arouse in him a feeling of deep regret that he was about to desert surroundings so pleasant and desirable. He could assure his many friends in the various departments of the local railway service that he would ever remember his stay amongst them with a feeling of keen pleasure. Other remarks made by Mr. Stephens made plain his affection and sympathy for the men whose interests he was so closely connected with for so long a period. He closed by wishing them, on behalf of Mr. Stephens and himself, continued good health, and success in their undertakings.

A short Programme.
Mr. Harvey, who displayed an exceptional talent for whistling, amused the party by rendering one of the southern rag-time airs. Mr. F. Haskill, for the Conductors, and Mr. Herbert Harry, for Car Department, made complimentary speeches, and were followed by Conductor Kelley, who sang in excellent voice, which brought a prompt demand for another.

DEATH OF JUSTICE FERGUSON.

Passed Away Tuesday Afternoon After Brief Retirement.

Toronto, June 1.—Without having regained consciousness Hon. Thomas Ferguson, Justice of the High Court of Ontario, passed away yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his residence, "East Lawn." He had been ill for the past two years, and for the last month was confined to his bed, although he was on the bench at the recent civil assizes.

He was 76 years of age and one of the three veterans of the High Court bench. He served for over a quarter of a century, and presided over many of the famous criminal cases that have been tried in this province. The second trial of the Hyman brothers, the Dominion Bank case, when Pare, Holden, Mackie and Ponton were the leading figures; the memorable McWherrall murder trial, the long fought John Eaton insurance case, and the sensational Melancthon arson case were among those presided over by Justice Ferguson.

The only remaining members of the family are Mrs. George Burnett of Toronto, and Miss Frances, at home.

Sunk in Georgian Bay.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—The crew of the propeller Western, from Buffalo, reached here yesterday on the steamer Benton and schooner Wilcox from Georgian Bay. They brought the first news of the sinking of the Western in Georgian Bay last Saturday. No lives were lost.

GRATIFYING REPORTS READ AT THE RECENT ANNUAL MEETING.

Every Department of the Work in a Flourishing Condition Under the Present Energetic Secretary.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the building Thursday, May 26th, at 8.15 o'clock. There was a larger attendance of members present than in several years. Dr. Clarke presided and W. J. Carlisle was named as secretary. The meeting opened with a selection on the phonograph recently secured by the Association. "Onward Christian Soldiers," Secretary Allan led in prayer and the minutes of the last annual meeting, held May 22, '03 were read and approved. Secretary Allan then read the following report from the directors:

The report of the directors given last night, with the exception of Mr. Wilder's bible class for the year, and the work of the Building Committee, composed of Messrs. Reesor, Lytle, Dr. White and Price, on the work of the new department for Railroad Men, is from Oct. 7, 1903, (the time that C. H. Allen took charge of the work) to April 30, 1904. No other work is reported.

The directors held 8 regular and special meetings during the year. Attendance 70.

It is only necessary for us to inspect the building to note the desirable improvements that the Building and Rooms Committee have made for the benefit of the members and the stranger young men, and last but by no means least, the grand work of the Ladies' Auxiliary in their annual report under date of April 23, having secured for the Association in money and donations $277.80, and for the coming year they will endeavor to secure a new piano for the rooms.

(Here followed reports from Religious work departments, Educational Department, Physical Department, Social Department, and Historical Society.)

LINDSAY BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Annual Business Meeting Disposed of a Prosperous State of Affairs.

The Lindsay Baptist church has held its annual business meeting, and the reports from the different departments of work were very encouraging. During the year, 19 have been added to the church, 12 by letter and 7 by baptism. Fourteen have been dismissed to other churches, and one member has died, leaving a net increase of 4. The membership now numbers 157. The reports showed an increased attendance at the different services and evidence of a deepened interest in the religious life. This is especially true of the prayer-meetings. The Sunday school also, under Superintendent Hardy, has the largest attendance in its history, and enlarged accommodation is a pressing necessity. A considerable number of new books have been added to the library. The Young People's Society is doing effective work along with study lines under the direction of the pastor, Rev. G. R. Welch. Confidence in the pastor and officers was expressed and also appreciation of their services.

During the year much needed improvements to the church property were undertaken and successfully completed. The church building has been put in good repair and beautifully decorated; the parsonage has been enlarged and remodelled. These improvements have cost about $2,300, most of which has been raised by voluntary subscriptions. The year has been marked by financial prosperity and creditable liberality on the part of the people. The church has raised during the year the sum of $3,379.76, of which $378.06 has been given to missions and benevolence. The amount raised for the year was about $22. The newly organized Ladies' Aid Society, under the leadership of Mrs. J. W. Anderson, has rendered efficient service financially, to the church, having raised $340 since last October. The Women's Mission Circle, Mrs. G. H. Gillingham, president, raised $79.50 for missions, and the recently re-organized Mission Band, $6.40.

Most of the old officers were re-elected. Messrs. Robert Kennedy, W. J. Morrison and T. A. Fisher were re-elected the Trustees Board. The church was never in better condition for successful work, and the pastor and members are looking forward to another year of happy and effective service.

No Competition.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the relief and cure of bowel complaints both in children and adults has brought it into almost universal use, so that it is practically without a rival, and as everyone who has used it knows, is without an equal. For sale by all druggists.

Made a Lucky Purchase.

The very fine and extensive collection of old coins, medals, confederate script, etc., owned by Mr. A. C. Babcock, grocer, has been acquired by Mr. W. F. McQuay, the jeweller, for the sum of $1,100. In all there are over 4,000 specimens in the collection, many of them being very ancient and exceedingly rare. Mr. McQuay has taken steps to bring the collection to the attention of numismatists and has already been offered a sum much in excess of the purchase price, but he hopes to do better. The collection may be exhibited at the St. Louis World's Fair.

Lindsay's Progressive Florist.

Mr. E. Maxson has recently installed a large new windmill, which is a great labor-saving device. It is called the Imperial Pump, and is manufactured by the Gold, Shapley & Muir Co., Bradford. The windmill is used for pumping up water to an elevated tank in the tower, some 40 ft. from the ground. It is the first windmill of its kind ever erected in this County, and recently received 1st prize in a competition against 50 or 60 other different makes of windmills at the Royal Agricultural Society Exhibition, England. Mr. Maxson uses the mill for watering his greenhouse plants and for other purposes, and pronounces it an up-to-date improvement. The local agent, of whom the mill was purchased, is Mr. W. J. Hunter.

Cooling Oil.

The man who would sit on a cake of ice to cool off would be considered crazy. Yet it is a very common thing for a person heated by exercise to stand in a cool draught, just to cool off. This is the beginning of many a cold which ultimately involves the throat, the tract and the lungs. For coughs in any stage there is no remedy so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures colds, coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, and like conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate in consumption. There is no alcohol in Golden Medical Discovery, and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Northville, Jefferson Co., Kansas, "and my medicines labeled 'Sure Cure,' almost choked me. I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured."

When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved. "That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

MASS OF SORES

Awful Suffering of a Boy from an Itching Humour.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Not One Square Inch of Skin on His Whole Body Was Unaffected.

"My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college, but its treatment did not do any good. At the time I was induced to try Cuticura Remedies he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cuticura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. I used the Cuticura Resolvent for his blood, and now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy than ever saw than he is to-day."

Obituary.

The sudden death of Mrs. E. J. Kingsley May 26th has cast a gloom over the hearts of many friends and has evoked the sympathy of all for the bereaved husband and family, the youngest child being an infant not yet three weeks old. The untoward event was entirely unexpected. Mrs. Kingsley having made an excellent recovery. It is supposed that an attack of heart failure was the cause of death. The obituary notice of the saddest that has been noted in Lindsay for years.

A Noon Hour Blaze.

About 12.15 last Friday a citizen on his way up Cambridge-st. observed flames issuing from the roof of Mr. R. Kyle's carriage warehouse. The fireball being close by, Driver Bill and some members of the brigade were soon on the spot, the former being armed with one of the chemical extinguishers carried on the wagon. Its charge smothered the flames in effective fashion and although the firemen had to cut a small hole in the roof to get at some smouldering joists, very little damage was done, the vehicles in the warehouse having been removed by the citizens first on the ground. The fire was due to the overloading of stove in the paint room above with light wood, the pipes getting red-hot and setting fire to a partition close by. It was very lucky the fire was discovered so soon after breaking out, as in another five minutes the flames would have reached a quantity of oils and varnishes.

Railway Notes.

Eleven Saxon consolidation engines, made in Germany, have been added to the C.P.R. Ontario motive equipment. These engines are 35 per cent more powerful than the huge Moguls.

A mess hall accommodating about 1,000 men has been decided on by the C.P.R. as a supplement to the group of new shop buildings now in course of erection west of the city of Winnipeg. The decision of the company will no doubt be highly appreciated by all the mechanics of the new shops as a boom.

Two attractive new folders have been issued by the C.P.R. The one includes a map, time table, views and general information regarding the double daily transcontinental train service which commences next month. The other gives routes and descriptions of a trip via the C.P.R. from California to Canada. They are both obtainable from T. C. Matchett, town.

The water supply for the engines of the Grand Trunk has given the officials of that road much cause for consideration, not only in Guelph, but in Stratford and other places. They have now decided that they can pump their own water at a much lower expense in Guelph than the present cost. The result of their deliberations is that they will build a large and up-to-date pump house at Guelph Junction capable of supplying sufficient water for the large motive engines, which will shortly be placed on the route.

Interesting statistics regarding railway traffic in England have been issued. Exclusive of season ticket holders, of which there were 618,000, the railways last year carried 1,085,325,000 third class passengers, 74,466,000 second class and 35,042,000 first class. There was a remarkable increase over the previous year in second class passengers, owing to the general cheapening of fares. The length of rails open for traffic was 22,380 miles, compared with 22,152 miles in 1902. A total of 393,703,000 miles were traversed by the trains. The amount earned by the railroads of Great Britain in 1903 was $554,035,000, an increase of $50,000,000 over the previous year.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns, and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on the same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

RELIGION AND GOOD-WILL

THOUGHTFUL ARTICLE IN A TORONTO DAILY PAPER

Which Should be Read and Pondered by Church People Everywhere.

The other day, The News, of Toronto, published under the heading, "Ottawa University Ceremonies," an editorial that deserves mention in the pulpits of the province, and merits the hearty approval of every citizen of this broad Dominion who desires to do what he can to promote and strengthen the feeling of goodwill and mutual forbearance among the members of the various sects, to the end that all may live in peace and amity and labor side by side for the upbuilding of Canada. The News, after noting the presence at the dedication of a Catholic seat of learning of Cardinal Gibbons, the Governor-General of Canada, the Prime Minister of the Dominion, the Master of Education for Ontario, and distinguished representatives of other Canadian universities and of the great Protestant churches of the country, says:

There is now in progress in Canada a remarkable movement for the organic union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational bodies, and the rare spirit of Christian charity which thus far has distinguished that movement was fully manifested in the proceedings at Ottawa University. Protestants, who resist the claims of the Roman Catholic hierarchy to supremacy in civil affairs, have seldom any disposition to deny the noble religious work which has been performed by the Roman Catholic church for many generations with its noble persistence and noble self-sacrifice in every corner of the earth. The story of the early Jesuit missions is one of the most thrilling, fascinating and inspiring chapters in Canadian history, and all over the world it has its counterpart in untold and heroic martyrdom for the ancient faith. If the history of the church in a less tolerant time, has its deplorable chapters of pitiless persecution and cruel human vengeance, it has likewise its noble exhibit of concern for human sorrow, of devotion unto death for the poor and the suffering, of divine deeds of saintly women, of infinite solicitude for the sick, the weak, the maimed, and the outcast.

As the world grows in charity and toleration, and the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount enters deeper into the Christian churches, we shall witness many such manifestations as was revealed at Ottawa University, and an increasing co-operation between the Roman Catholic church and the Protestant denominations in all healthy movements for human betterment. It may be that before many years have passed the leaders of Protestantism may come to doubt the wisdom of maintaining Protestant missions among Roman Catholics. The maintenance of such missions is practically an attack upon the validity of Roman Catholic belief, and while the harvest is scanty enough, the certain result is irritation and dissension among the great body of Catholics and estrangement between the leaders of the rival forces. Few persons believe that the salvation of a Roman Catholic depends upon re-education of his faith, and it can hardly be doubted that the world would profit greatly from a more sympathetic understanding between the ancient church and the younger Protestant denominations.

Many times in Canada there has arisen a stern necessity for resisting the political aims of ultramontanist but there has never been ground for quarrel over the simplicity and purity of Roman Catholic teaching in life and morals. And we doubt if the protesting movements of Protestants have seriously aimed to resist political ultramontanist.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a Roman Catholic, and during all the hard political struggles with the church which have been waged by the Rouges of Quebec he has never uttered a word in disparagement or in denial of the faith in which he was born. His action is in finest contrast with the Catholic leaders of France who are resisting ultramontanist with an energy and an intolerance which seem certain to destroy some beloved institutions and to leave the national life a poor and sordid segment of materialism. It would be better surely to teach, as did Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the doctrines of civil liberty with respect for the Roman Catholic church as a religious institution than thus to destroy the whole religious structure of the nation and strike the Christian faith in the dust. The Catholics of France are not turning to Protestantism, but to agnosticism, and that is the consequence of the civil persecution, and the overthrow of a herited and established Christian agencies. Better far the simple church-loving habitants of Quebec than the dechristianized masses of old France, and better a rigid faith than no faith at all. Roman Catholics and French-Canadians have equal rights in Canada with their English-speaking and Protestant fellow-country men, and each can afford to respect his neighbor's creed and regard his natural racial pride and racial sympathies.

THE CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

We offer you a better investment than Government Bonds

Better for three reasons.

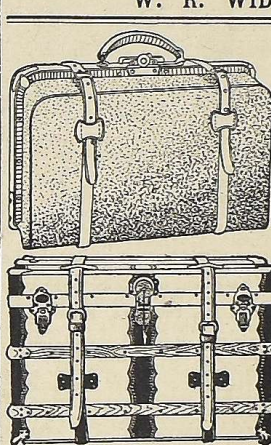

1st.—Canada Life 5 per cent. Gold Bonds yield a much higher rate of interest than Government Bonds.

2nd.—They are paid for by instalments—thus placed within the reach of men without capital.

3rd.—They are insured. That is, should the investor die after paying only one instalment on his bonds, all his future payments to the Company would be immediately cancelled and the benefits of his investment would at once become available.

Add to all these advantages the very material one that the investor shares in the surplus earnings of this leading Company, and you have an opportunity for safe and profitable investment rarely equalled. A handsome booklet, giving a full explanation, will be sent on request.

A WORLD'S WONDER.

The $50,000,000 St. Louis World's Fair District Passenger Agent McDonald, of the Grand Trunk Railway, who recently returned from St. Louis, states that it is hard to find suitable language to describe the magnitude and beauty of the greatest Exposition ever held.

The site of 1240 acres, being two miles along and one mile wide, is covered with beautiful buildings, broken in with Lagoons, Canals, Grand Courts, Monuments, Statuary, Parks, etc., all forming a picture that must be seen to be realized.

An Electrical Railway, called the International, makes it easy to get from one part of the grounds to another, and follow out the daily programme, enjoying an hour listening to "Sousa's" or other famous bands, or taking in a lecture, or address, or Art Gallery.

When you consider the immensity of the buildings, one alone having over 20 acres of floor space, and reflect that they are filled with the choicest of exhibits from all over the world, one exhibiting vying with another to obtain the coveted Gold Medal, it seems to suggest the thought of what a great opportunity to the young men and women of our land to spend a week or two at St. Louis this year. Really no intelligent man, woman or child can afford to miss this great World's treat.

The beautiful electric lighting of the Fair-American Exposition, which few thought would ever be approached, is entirely eclipsed by this Monster Fair. One of the features of the fair is the "Inside Inn," a hotel accommodating 6000, splendidly run, and at reasonable rates.

The total expense of a trip to St. Louis based on half railway rates is within the reach of all and permits stop over at Chicago, and other points, and the trip is made quickly and comfortably. It is the intention of the Grand Trunk to run through cars from Montreal and Toronto to St. Louis, commencing June 15th, and possibly before.

The Canadian Press Association were unanimous in their praise of the Grand Trunk and Illinois Central route and with the Exposition.

CAMBRIDGE ST. METH. CHURCH.

Impressive Sermons by Rev. G. W. Henderson on Hospital Sunday.

Two large congregations assembled Sunday morning and evening, at Cambridge St. Methodist church to hear Rev. Mr. Henderson.

In the morning he preached to the Sunday School scholars, illustrating his sermon by the use of a magnet and a number of nails, cards, vials, etc. Some of the nails represented the old, middle-aged and young people who are struggling to reach the better land. Mr. Henderson used the magnet to show the silent force which is trying to draw people to Christ. The old, rusty and bent nails were the old and hardened sinners who got up so far and then dropped down again, but the small nails, representing the young children, clustered to the magnet in great numbers, showing that it was easier to come to the Saviour while young than when old. The speaker described clearly the man who was fond of drink, the society man, the careless father and mother, and many other examples, and urged the children to be converted while young and not to put the matter off till it was too late—when they would find it hard to break away from sin. He urged the parents to show their children a good example and help them to reach the Kingdom of God.

The evening sermon was an address to the parents, and the pastor impressed on fathers and mothers to do the right thing by their children, for in a great many cases the sins of the parents are visited upon the children. The speaker enlightened the parents in many ways, and his remarks were listened to very closely by all.

The choir rendered two anthems in the morning and two in the evening, Misses Spence and Bate and Mr. Schriver taking the duet, trio and solo in the evening anthem. The collection was in aid of the Ross Memorial Hospital, and was a liberal one.

VISIT TO WORLD'S FAIR, ST. LOUIS.

Members of the Canadian Press Association and Their Ladies Enjoy a Trip to the Great Exposition as Guests of the Grand Trunk Railway—A Superb Vestibule Train for the Excursionists—Countless Wonders of the Fair—The Inside Inn, the World's Largest Hotel, and its Fine Service—Other Interesting Features.

Through the kindness of the Grand Trunk and the management of the St. Louis Exposition, the publisher of The Post, together with about 150 members of the Canadian Press Association, enjoyed the pleasure of seeing the great World's Fair at St. Louis. The party left Toronto on Saturday, the 14th inst., at 8.15 on the Grand Trunk in a special Pullman vestibule train, composed of seven sleepers, two dining cars and a baggage car, all of which were models of the convenience, luxury and comfort that tends to make travel a pleasure instead of a task to be dreaded. The train was drawn by one of the best passenger engines, which handled the heavy load with ease, and made the fast scheduled time without the slightest trouble.

At Hamilton the party was joined by the Hamilton contingent, who brought on board numerous boxes of the celebrated Marguerite cigars and some packages of Murtle Navy, a gift from Messrs. Tuckett & Sons, the manufacturers, to the smokers, who pronounced the brands, after a careful and almost continuous analysis, the very best of the market, and registered a vow to use to other in future. The ladies were not neglected, as the management of Canada's great National Exhibition had provided for the distribution of handsome leather card cases, which were handed out with best wishes for a pleasant trip to St. Louis. Little Miss, Messrs. Ryrie Bros. Jewellers, of Toronto, had thoughtfully provided purses containing two golden coins, and the following quotation from Shakespeare: "How last thou purchased this experience? By my penny of observation." A very thoughtful gift indeed, when one considers the usual emptiness of the newspaper man's purse, and the novelty the sight of the King's coins would be to their wives. A silver pencil was also donated by the same firm, that the ladies might keep track of and make notes of their own and their husband's doings.

At London the party were joined by the western contingent, when the journey was resumed and the long run was completed without incident, the train arriving at St. Louis at 7 a.m. on Sunday morning. The tourists then transferred to street cars and arrived at the grounds after a short ride, landing at the depot of the "Inside Inn," the largest hotel ever built. A short description of this great hostelry may be of interest to our readers. It has the advantage over all hotels in the city, as it is within the fair grounds and guests can visit the fair every day without extra charge and get their meals with easy access of all that is going on. The hotel has 2,257 rooms, and can accommodate 6,000 people without overtaxing its capacity. Its prices are $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 on the European plan, and on the American plan $3, $3.50 and $4, at the discretion of the guest. The day of the arrival of the press party, 4,000 people were domiciled at the Inside Inn and all were fed and cared for without a hitch. The dining room provides accommodation for about 2,000 people at one sitting and guests are fed to the music of an excellent orchestra.

To endeavor to describe to our readers a tithe of the wonders to be witnessed at the Fair, would occupy more room than is at our disposal, but when we say it is larger, grander and better in every respect than the Chicago, Buffalo and Paris. Expositions we are drawing a timid, as the magnitude is almost beyond comprehension by those who have not spent a week sightseeing and who feel that they have just skimmed over less than half the sights. The Exposition is situated on rolling land, partly wooded, and covers 1,240 acres—several times larger than Lindsay's entire town limits. There are thirteen exhibition places of great height and enormous length that they can be compared with no other buildings, and yet the exhibitors are not all accommodated. The exterior of the buildings are finished in staff, painted white, and present a magnificent appearance. The general architecture is of imposing grandeur. Every state in the Union is represented with beautiful buildings, each more or less ornate, according to the size and wealth of the State it represents. These structures are handsomely furnished and are presided over by an official and retinue of servants. One can hardly believe such fine and costly creations are to be taken down a few months hence, when the Fair closes.

Canadians who visit the St. Louis Fair will feel proud of their country. In agriculture, horticulture and mineralogy, Canada takes no back seat as compared with any country represented at the Exhibition. The Canadian building, costing between $40,000 and $50,000, is well located and cannot but attract the attention of the vast crowds that will visit the big Fair from all parts of the world. The interior of the Dominion is well looked after by Mr. McLean, a very able staff of men, who explain all about the exhibits and distribute the printed matter. A large influx of American settlers coming into Canada must be the result, as no reasonable man could dispute the fact that we have the best goods ready to deliver to the incoming settler.

The Grand Trunk Railway have an excellent exhibit in Agriculture Hall, making a large booth which is hung with excellent large size photographs of the scenery, hunting, fishing and resources of the territory covered by their line. It is a big bid for summer tourists and will bring good results. The International Railway has also a fine exhibit showing the fishing and hunting resources and the natural charms of the country covered by Canada's great Government road. The management are evidently wide-awake for business, as they have put on a show that will make anybody a sportsman drop work and shiver his gun and rod to look up the spots described in the exhibit. To go into Canada's exhibit minutely would take up too much space, but we can assure our readers that it does us pride and reflects great credit on our country. When you visit St. Louis look up Canada's varied and numerous exhibits the first thing you do, and we know you will be well pleased.

Almost every country is represented with a large number of exhibits, but no country to the extent of Japan—that country is compelling in almost every line and the work shown is exciting the wonder and admiration of all who see it.

The machinery exhibit is most interesting and the finest collection ever brought together. Americans are not the only clever mechanists by any means. Belgium is showing a gas engine of 3,000 horse power—probably the largest ever made; France is leading in automobile machinery and other lines, and Germany and several other countries are keeping well to the fore in this department.

Acres of outdoor forestry are shown by the United States, Germany and Great Britain a feature new to exhibitions. The live-stock display covers 37 acres, Canada alone will spend $100,000 on her exhibit in an endeavor to capture most of the premiums, amounting to $250,000. Blooded stock from England, Germany, France, Russia, and other countries across the water assure the greatest exhibit ever made in this line. The Paris Exposition states that the French jewelry exhibit already amounts to $4,000,000 and includes a pearl collar valued at $500,000. From jewelry to cattle is a long jump, but it is an instance of the tremendous field covered by this greatest of universal spectacles.

Yet these are only a tithe of the Exposition. In the "Guleh," an outdoor exhibit of 12 acres, mines are operating, aerial tramways are transporting precious freight, coal is coming from the bowels of the earth, oil wells are delivering their cargoes to the surface, Mexican Indians are pounding out the treasures of nature in mortars, as they did in the time of Cortez. A map of the United States in cereals covers 10 acres, each State and Territory distinguished by its native product. Admiration stretches along a quarter of a mile, where the best paved street in the world is flanked by the finest types of municipal and private buildings.

Such outdoor attractions as the St. Louis Exposition presents have never been attempted. The Philippine exhibit alone employs the services of 1,000 natives of our next neighbor to depict the life, manners, and customs of the archipelago. Parts of the walled city of Manila, a market place of Manila, native villages of many island tribes make an exposition within itself. A great lake surrounding the north and east fronts of the Philippine reservation furnishes a marine theatre for aquatic sports and water transportation. Three native bridges span the water. On this ideal location, commanding a view of the exposition, 400 of the native constabulary and 200 Manobo scouts show the Philippine as a fighting man. Four hundred other natives, divided into families, are engaged in the peaceful pursuits of that clime. Not only the life of Manila, but the tribes which build their habitations over water and swing their hammocks in the trees, make the unfamiliar American and European acquainted with their brothers of the human race. The whole natural treasury of the rich archipelago is spread in profusion for inspection.

The United States Government building, the largest Exposition structure ever erected by this country, is one mile from the Grand Trunk of France, along a stately boulevard, between eight of the finest places ever built. Three great courts cross this boulevard, and the central court is 2,500 feet long and 600 feet wide. More than one mile of continuous lagoons and canals lie between these places. Ninety thousand gallons of water pour over three cascades every minute. The pike or amusement street is a mile long. The Philippines stretch over 40 acres. The giant agricultural palaces is 1600 feet long and has an area of 20 acres, requiring five minutes to traverse its length. The dome of the Hall of Festivals is 200 feet high and larger than St. Peter's. It houses the largest organ in the world, an instrument 62 feet wide and 40 feet high, with 10,000 pipes. An intramural or sightseeing railway, nine miles long, touches every point of interest in a site two miles long and one mile wide.

Queen-st. Methodist Church.

Mrs. (Rev.) Strick was presented by the choir and the Ladies' Aid of Queen-st. church with an address and a beautiful china tea set. On Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Strick referred to this choice gift and made a very sympathetic and touching reply. His services Sunday were well attended, and both sermons were thoroughly practical and very helpful. The Rev. Mr. Strick will extend cordial welcome to all who desire to be in the service, which will be held in Peterboro, this week. The pulpit will be well supplied next Sunday, and on June 12th Rev. L. S. Wright, B.A., B.D., will conduct all the services, it being Flower Sunday.

The Engineer Was Startled.

As the Kenosha was forging slowly out of the lock Monday, May 23, on her way to Port Perry her funnel collided with the electric power cable connecting the Flavelle mills and elevator. Obedient to the expectation of the spectators, the cable did not break, but rasped along the iron until the tension caused it to spring upwards. Evidently the gutter perch covering was worn away by the scraping against the funnel, because a burst of flame shot up, the engine room bells began to jingle, and the engineer, when he jumped to the lever, received a shock that threw him against a wall close by and set his nerves tingling in most unpleasant fashion. The cable was next day raised above the danger point.

A Great Sale OF WOMEN'S SAMPLE COSTUMES.

Waists. Rain Coats and Light Weight Jackets at Manufacturer's Cost.

A lucky purchase for us, a great opportunity for you to save money. It isn't a long story—a certain cloak manufacturer in Montreal made an assignment.

The bank being the largest creditor wound up the estate, and you know how quickly banks clean up estates. Well, this firm had all their New Spring Samples in the hand of their travelling men on the road and they also had a considerable stock on hand ready to ship when they became insolvent. All these samples and stock were sold at big price concessions. We secured our share of the plunder and now offer this lucky purchase to you at

A THIRD TO HALF LESS THAN REGULAR PRICES.

The lot consists of New Sample Waists, Costumes, Raincoats and Light Weight Top Coats. They are all in this season's most up-to-date styles, and as clean, crisp and new as can be had anywhere.

As most of them are samples, and only one or two of a kind you will feel all the happier that the bargain can't be duplicated many times in similar styles.

There are too many styles to attempt any description here, but will ask you to come to the store and see for yourself. The following list of prices will give you an idea of how much you can save by coming here to buy.

Women's New Shirt Waist Suits of Muslin, Organdy or Linen.

We are proud of our splendid showing of New Shirt Waist Suits for Women. They are all in good style, the twig of newness of the suits is written with the art of the designers—the skill of the tailors. It's hard to define style—hard to catch it. Yet these inexpensive suits tell you at a glance that it is there. Style does not rest on expenditure alone, it is much more—skill and knack. The Wakely & Ford styles have proven that to a great many of Lindsay's well attired women.

These Suits bear it out.

1 59 Shirt Waist Suit, white and black polka dot print, five gored flare skirt, waist with wide pleats.

5 50 Shirt Waist Suit, white lawn skirt, with lace insertion, set in to form a pattern, waist made with tucks and two rows of insertion, also insertion running from the neck over the shoulder and through the top of the sleeve.

CORRESPONDENT'S LETTERS

FRANKLIN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Quite a number of our young people visited Omemee on the 24th and report a pleasant time.

Miss L. Veals spent Monday and Tuesday with Peterboro friends.

Mr. H. Fallis and wife, of Bathurst, spent Sunday under the parental roof.

Mr. Selby, of Pontypool, spent Sunday with Mr. Faris, of this village.

Mr. and Miss Peel, of Salem, visited friends in this place Saturday and Sunday.

DOWNEYVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The people of this vicinity are pretty well through with their spring work. The next thing on the programme is potato-planting.

Our cheese factory is booming, but so far the low price of cheese has kept a good deal of milk away.

Preparations have been begun for the annual picnic to be held here in the near future.

Our troubles never cease. Just as we are congratulating ourselves that the season is over for getting up stairs by means of ladders placed at back windows, sleeping on clothes-lines, etc., along comes the mosquito.

Miss Monica O'Leary, of Campbellford, is home on a visit, - a long one we hope.

Posters are out announcing the date of the Downeyville picnic which takes place on Wednesday, June 15, in the grove east of the village. An energetic committee have undertaken the task of making the picnic the event of the season. With good weather and good roads it cannot fail to be a most successful affair.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
There were quite a few from this place attended the convention at Lindsay Tuesday. Rates were at single fare.

The crops are looking fine. Prices for all kinds of stock and produce are advancing and farmers want no change in the Government line.

The 24th of May celebration has given the best of satisfaction and the sports were well carried out. Now our fire company will reorganize for sure.

Miss Rowan, the former organist of the Presbyterian church, has been re-engaged, to the delight of all, and music is expected to "boom" again in this church.

The D. D. G. M. of the Masonic Order here is shortly expected for his official visit.

The 1st of July celebration at Lindsay will be attended by large crowds from here to meet the old Victoria boys.

Mr. Thos. Kennedy and W. H. Sherwood, the leading spirits in the Victoria County Old Boys' Association, are both former pupils of the Omemee high school.

Thos. Rutherford, Reabro, has received the contract for the building of the Omemee school, for the sum of $6,000. Work to begin at once. Kenneth and Wm. Jardine, sons of our high school principal, have gone to New Ontario, as assistant surveyors, with a view of locating in some good rising town, to engage in business. They are bound to succeed and the best wished of all go with them.

The annual Downeyville picnic will attract large crowds from here on June 15th.

The village and township Courts of Revision had only a few appeals on Tuesday.

HARTLEY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Many from around here took in the excursion to Niagara on Wednesday. Mr. G. Campbell is now busy framing his new barn.

May the 24th was a very quiet day here.

The beef ring here was opened on Friday last.

Mrs. Connor spent a few days last week among Woodville friends.

Mrs. McEachern spent a few days recently in Toronto visiting her son, Mr. Donald McEachern.

Don't forget the glee club concert on June 7th, in the Oddfellows' hall.

CAMBRAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The excursion to Niagara Falls, which is to take place on Wednesday, June 8th, promises to be the event of the season. A number from this vicinity have already signified their intention of attending.

Our village seemed deserted on Tuesday, 31st, the greater number of our citizens having gone to Lindsay to attend the Liberal convention.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cooper, of the Temperance house, visited friends in Glenora this week.

We learn that an excursion under the auspices of the S. O. S. of Beverton, will be run to Toronto and Niagara Falls on Wednesday, June 8th. A few of our young men are making preparations to join the excursion at Woodville on that morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolbon, of Verulam, were visiting their niece, Mrs. W. A. Penning, on Saturday last.

While Mrs. Wm. Blackford was going home from the village on Tuesday morning her horse became unmanageable and ran away.

The buggy was smashed, but luckily Mrs. Blackford escaped unhurt.

A very pretty house wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Wool, on Tuesday the 31st, when her daughter, Maude, was married to Mr. F. Hunter, of Palestine. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. Terrill.

The home of Mr. R. Weldon became ignited by a spark from the chimney on Monday evening but owing to the very prompt assistance the house was saved without a great deal of damage being done.

The Rev. A. Terrill is attending Conference at Peterboro. The Rev. R. McEachern will take charge of the service here next Sunday.

Mr. John Cochrane is building an addition to his house. Messrs. Morrow and Owens have the contract.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Owens, Oshawa, have been visiting at Mr. Gowen's during the past week.

Mr. W. G. Webster is attending the Methodist Conference in Peterboro this week. Miss Edna also accompanied him.

Several persons in our vicinity took in the excursion to Niagara on Tuesday.

Don't forget the anniversary at Eden on the 15th. It will be the treat of the season.

PLEASANT POINT.

The 24th of May, was a beautiful day and many enjoyed themselves around the Point.

Mr. Bert Brien, of Toronto Medical College, is under the parental roof at present.

Mr. Thos. Flynn has his barn raised up in preparation for a stonefoundry.

Miss Annie Hutton has returned home after visiting her sister, Mrs. Flynn.

Mr. Harman Bryan, of the Toronto Medical College, spent a few days of last week with Riverview friends.

GLENARM.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Our football enthusiasts are working up muscle for the coming season.

We are glad to see Mr. E. McDonald again able to walk after a somewhat painful accident with a rifle.

Miss A. Nicholson conducted school at No. 9, Fingleton, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Murchison, of Woodville, visited friends here last week.

The Misses Manning, of Hartley, called on friends here last Wednesday evening.

Mr. D. Jamieson spent the 24th in Kearney, Ont.

Mr. Hart, teacher, took in the Cannington celebration on May 24th.

There will be a number of our citizens, who will take in the S. O. S. excursion to Niagara Falls on Wednesday, June 8th.

Word was received here last Saturday of the death of Mrs. Parsons, of Toronto, who for many years was a resident of this town. After the death of her husband here, about three years ago, she went with her son to live in the city. The remains were brought to Cannington on Monday, for interment.

Rev. W. Elliott left on Monday for Peterboro, to attend the Conference. He intends being away about two weeks.

Mr. Jas. Brokenshire, at present in Rosedale, visited with his family on Sunday.

Miss Mabel Bingham, of Cannington, was home on Sunday.

There is to be a change among some of the stores in town. R. Switzer is to move down to the stand Mr. J. McPherson now holds - the latter going up where Tom Grant was, and Mr. L. Stuart, harnessmaker, moves into Switzer's shop.

It is high time for our street commissioners to look around. There are several nasty holes, in the sidewalks, and on the main streets too. They are rather dangerous on dark nights, and should be attended to.

Mr. Arch. Carmichael visited Beaverion friends on Sunday.

Miss Annie Vaughan visited in Toronto last week.

There is a new verandah being built on the front of the Manse, which adds very much to the appearance of the building.

Mr. C. H. Caverly went to Toronto on Wednesday.

Mr. Chard, of Lindsay, who is district manager for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., was in town last week and placed the local agency here with Mr. Jas. Vanstone.

MR. FIELDING'S
BUDGET SPEECH

Safeguarding of Canadian Industries Its Keynote.

DUTY ON SLAUGHTERED GOODS

Tariff Raised 20 Per Cent. on Certain Woolens—Maximum and Minimum Tariffs—Statement of the Minister Fore-casting Their Adoption Received With Ringing Cheers—Tariff "Sore Spots" to Be Healed.

Ottawa, June 8.—To the many triumphs achieved by the Laurier Government was added one more yesterday in the announcement of an adjusted tariff suited to the changing needs of the Canadian people. The budget speech by Hon. W. S. Fielding was a record of remarkable business administration and a revelation of resourceful statesmanship. The story of the condition of Canada's bountiful treasury was a surprise only in the degree of affluence to which it has reached, with an estimated surplus of $16,500,000, and a reduction in the national debt of $7,500,000 for the year. It was shown that the net debt of the country has been decreased by $1,000,000 in the eight years of Liberal rule, notwithstanding the many large undertakings and large capital expenditures. The other evidences of prosperity were equally conclusive. Mr. Fielding justified the Government's policy of a moderate tariff, and proceeded in a most business-like way to announce some changes which were deemed necessary for present needs.

Tariff Revision Promised.
A commission will be appointed to take evidence, and the tariff will be revised along the lines of a minimum and maximum tariff, to suit our own tastes and requirements in dealing with different nations. This announcement was received with ringing cheers from the Government benches. The enthusiasm increased as the Finance Minister revealed changes which are designed to remove grievances respecting certain well-known "sore spots" in the tariff schedule.

To Prevent "Dumping."
The greatest enthusiasm was excited over the proposed special duty to prevent the "dumping" of goods in Canada at slaughter prices. It is designed to end this by adding an amount equal to the difference between the invoiced price and the real value up to 50 per cent. of the duty in general lines, and 15 per cent. in the iron and steel items. As the Government's plan was revealed, the astonishment of the Opposition was plainly apparent, while the joy of the Liberals rose correspondingly.

The Opposition Critic.
The critic selected by the Opposition to reply to Mr. Fielding was Mr. A. C. Bell, one of the front benches of the Opposition, but even so experienced a Parliamentarian as Mr. Bell had to spar for wind, and when the Finance Minister sat down at 5.40 asked that the House rise at that hour for dinner, thus giving him respite to 8 o'clock. Last evening he criticized the Liberals for deserting their free trade policy, and contended that the prosperity of the country was due to Providence and the large trade figures to inflated prices.

Liberals Well Satisfied.
Sir Richard Cartwright will reply to-day and a great speech is expected from the veteran Knight. The announcements of the budget have caused the utmost satisfaction in the ranks of the Liberals, who recognize that the skillful provisions of the amended schedule have met the pressing objections, and that the uninterrupted prosperity which Canada has enjoyed for the past seven years will go on under the most favorable circumstances so long as can be secured by the tariff conditions. One of the interesting incidents of the afternoon was the presence on the floor of the House of Herr Dopp, German Consul in Canada, who was compelled to listen to the story of the success of the surtax on German goods, which is working beneficially to Canada and other British colonies.

THE TARIFF RESOLUTION.

The following are the tariff resolutions: That it is expedient to amend "The Customs Tariff, 1897," to the following effect:

Notwithstanding anything contained in schedule D, the minimum duty on the undermentioned articles shall be as follows:

The package also to be free. Provided, however, that this shall not apply to molasses to be used for the purpose of distillation.

The following articles now dutiable shall be transferred to the free list: Goats, for the improvement of stock, under such regulations as may be made by the Minister of Customs.

Whale oil soap.

Item 462 of schedule B, the fire list, shall be repealed and the following substituted: 462, Philosophical and scientific apparatus, utensils, instruments and preparations, including boxes and bottles containing the same, of a class or kind not manufactured in Canada, when specially imported in good faith for the use and by order of any society or institution incorporated or established solely for religious, philosophical, educational, scientific or literary purposes, or for the encouragement of the fine arts, or for the use or by order of any college, academy, school or seminary of learning in Canada, and not for sale, subject to such regulations as the Minister of Customs shall prescribe.

The dumping clause.—That whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Minister of Customs or of any officer of customs authorized to collect customs duties, that the export price or the actual selling price to the importer in Canada of any imported dutiable article, of a class or kind made or produced in Canada, is less than the fair market value thereof, as determined according to the basis of value for duty provided in the Customs Act in respect of imported goods subject to ad valorem duty such article shall in addition to the duty, otherwise established, be subject to a special duty of customs equal to the difference between such fair market value and said selling price. Provided, however, that the special customs duty otherwise established in respect of the article, except in regard to the articles mentioned in items 224, 226, 228 and 231 of schedule A, the special duty of customs on which shall not exceed 15 per cent. ad valorem. The foregoing provisions respecting a special duty of customs shall apply to imported round rolled wire rods not over three-eighths of an inch in diameter, notwithstanding that such rods are on the customs free list. Provided, however, that the special duty of customs on such wire rods shall not exceed 15 per cent. ad valorem.

If at any time it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Governor-in-Council, on a report from the Minister of Customs, that the payment of the special duty herein provided for is being evaded by the shipment of goods on consignment without sale prior to such shipments, the Governor-in-Council may in any case or class of cases authorize such action as is deemed necessary to collect on such goods or any of them the same special duty as if the goods had been sold to an importer in Canada prior to their shipment to Canada.

If the full amount of any special duty of customs be not paid on goods imported, the customs entry thereof shall be amended and the deficiency paid upon the demand of the collector of customs. The Minister of Customs may make such regulations as are deemed necessary for carrying out the provisions of the foregoing sections and for the enforcement thereof. The special duty mentioned in the preceding sections shall not apply to goods of a class subject to excise duty in Canada, nor to imported goods entered for consumption prior to the eighth day of June, 1904.

That the Minister of Trade and Commerce may make such regulations as is necessary respecting the payment of the said bounty.

Estimated Surplus $7,500,000.
Mr. Fielding in his budget speech estimated the revenue for the current year at $71,000,000; ordinary expenditure, inclusive of sinking fund payments, $54,500,000; capital expenditure, $11,500,000; surplus over all current and capital expenditures, $7,500,000, inclusive of $2,500,000 added to the sinking fund. The debt of Canada to-day is about a million dollars less than when the Liberals came to power, although immense public works have been undertaken and carried to completion.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Opposition Against Sending Dr. Wilkie Again to India, But the Vote Has Not Been Reached Yet.

St. John, N.B., June 8.—At the general assembly session yesterday morning the resolutions moved Monday committing the assembly to an expression of opinion in favor of church union were carried unanimously. Dr. Sedgewick, Dr. Somerville, Dr. Murray, Dr. Bryce and Rev. J. A. Macdonald were named to appoint a committee to confer with the Methodists and the Congregationalists concerning the practicability of union.

The case of Dr. Wilkie, whose inability to work in harmony with other missionaries in Central India, has caused trouble in the church for some time, came up for a long and sharp discussion. The foreign mission board, while acquitting Dr. Wilkie of the charges of being addicted to noxious drugs, believed that he could not with advantage to the mission, be allowed to resume his work there, and recommended that he be removed from the principality of Indore College, and that an effort be made to secure him a suitable mission field somewhere else.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the general assembly in Grand Hall, Kingston, beginning the first Wednesday in June, 1905.

The whole of the afternoon session was given up to a bitter discussion on the question of the settlement of the Dr. Wilkie difficulty. Any proposal to send him back to India met with determined opposition, it being freely stated that his presence there was a menace to the success of the church's foreign work, and would threaten permanent disruption. It was moved by Dr. Scrimger in amendment to the motion for the adoption of the report presented in the morning that a new field be established in India for Dr. Wilkie. The hour of adjournment came before a vote was taken, and the discussion was postponed till this morning.

Last evening's session was taken up with a discussion of the reports on young people's societies and Sabbath schools.

Fire at Dutton.

Dutton, June 7.—Early Sunday morning fire nearly destroyed two large brick stores belonging to the Dunwick Farmers' Building Society. It broke out in one of the stores occupied by Richard Pedlar, general merchant, and had made considerable headway when discovered.

Montreal, June 8.—In the Court of King's Bench yesterday, Morelli, the Italian, who was charged with murdering another Italian named Comino, was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury, with a recommendation to mercy. The killing of Comino took place on April 17.

Building A Shoe Trade

The methods we have of doing business ought to build a Shoe Trade. There is no guess work about it, our methods have met with approval on all sides. We know this by our ever-increasing number of satisfied customers. There is only One Price here. The old and the young, the rich and the poor, are all treated the same. The small boy with $1.00 gets the same price privileges as the grown man who is ready to invest $25.00 for a quantity. This simply means that our One Price must be the lowest possible. The other important factor with us is Quality. Then to sum up the whole story, One Price to all and the Quality of our Shoes has built up this business. We are giving you a number of Short Shoe Stories below. If you wear Shoes you'll find these stories very interesting. They are money-saving stories for you.

Men's Shoe Stories.

The well-dressed man to-day must wear dressy Shoes. If, however, the Shoes are not good they will not be dressy long. To avoid any trouble of this kind, buy America's best Shoe made by Lewis A. Crossett and sold by us at $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00. You can only procure this Shoe here. If you would like some thing good and stylish too at $3.00 here it is. Velour Calf Foxing, dull Kangaroo Tops and the famous Goodyear welted soles. It may happen, though, that you only want to pay $2.50 for a Dressy Shoe. We have it too. Made of Vici Kid with dull topping and extra good McKay sewn soles. Here is an old story but it may be new to some. We do Shoe Repairing the best that's possible. Have it ready when promised and the prices right.

Women's Shoe Stories.

This is the time of the year when Slippers and Oxford shoes are worn so much. It's like a rest to put on a pair of Shoes or Slippers after a pair of high lace boots. Our story really begins at $1.00. That would be too long, and we'll pick out a line here or there. Our Women's Dongola Kid Oxford Turn or McKay Sewn Soles, $1.25. Our one or three Strap Vici Kid, turn-over Sole Slippers, are really good buying. They are well sewn, we seldom have a rip, all sizes 2½ to 7, $1.25. We have an Oxford make of Patent Kid, dull tops, the soles are Goodyear welted. These goods will not crack. The price will please you, $2.50.

Have you any notion about a vacation trip. May be you will need a Trunk or Valise. Our goods are good and the prices are lower than you'll get in the city.

BOYS' and GIRLS' SHOE STORIES.

Nothing is more pleasing to Children than nice light Footwear for Summer. It's economical, for they are not expensive and wear wonderfully well. We have some very desirable lines. Sizes ranging from child's 4 to misses' 2½. The prices range from 50c to $1.35. For Boys we have a good boot made the same style as our men's boots (that's something a boy likes.) These Shoes are made of Vici Kid with good durable soles, good wearers and fine enough for any purpose. Sizes 1 to 5. Price $1.50.

Remember our Price to all means a very close Price.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

With ordinary soap a woman has to work so hard and so long on wash day she has no time for preparing any of the family meals. Wash day is a trial, and the good wife faces each with a sigh of despair.

Sunlight Soap makes all the difference in the world. No toiling—no rubbing—no boiling—less than half the labor with much better results. Most women are all through their wash by twelve o'clock when they wash with Sunlight Soap the Sunlight way. It makes child's play of work.

to her would be to marry me, and give me the opportunity of devoting my life to making her happy."

"You really love Margaret, then?"

"Yes, and I have loved my pure, gentle Margaret all my life," he answered, calmly.

She came close to him and her face was marvelously beautiful in its penitential sweetness.

"Gerald, can you ever forgive me for the suffering I caused you in the past?" she sobbed. "Let me tell you how I have regretted it."

Oh, surely the blind, silly girl, who, ignorant of the value of the treasure, slighted and spurned it, may indeed be pardoned when realizing the nobility of a nature she once failed to appreciate, she comes and says, what it is so hard for a woman to say, "Take me back to your heart, gather me up in your arms, as in the olden days, because—because I love you now, because only your love can make me happy."

Oh, Gerald, believe me when I tell you at last—at last—your own Aurelia loves you as she never loved one before. Remember, I was foolish, vain and thoughtless in those other days, Gerald. Pity me! love me! take me back to your heart! God is my witness that I do love you entirely now! Dearest, say I will love you and trust you as in the days of old."

She tried to put her arms up around his neck, and to rest her head on his shoulder, but he resisted, and put her at arm's length from him.

Holding her there, he looked at her with cold scorn in his eyes, and a heavy shadow darkening the brow that five minutes before had been so calm.

"Aurelia, how dare you attempt to deceive me, after all that has passed between us? I know you and your object too well."

"You do not believe that I really love you, Gerald?" she sobbed. "Oh, do not look at me so harshly! I am not deceiving you! Stop bopping Margaret's face and listen to me! Oh, listen! I am not deceiving you, I do love you! If you could see my poor heart you would not look so cruelly cold. You ought to know that I am terribly in earnest when I can stoop to beg for the ruins of a heart, which, in its freshness I threw away and trampled upon."

He had seen Aurelia weep and act dramatically before when it suited her purpose, and he only smiled as he answered:

"Yes, Aurelia, you ruined it, as you thought, by tramping upon it, but I have rebuilt it. Let me tell you the truth, when you overturned the temple, you crumbled your own image that was set up there; and I, long ago, swept out and gave to the hungry winds the dust of the broken idol, and over my heart you can reign no more. My love and faith were strangled by the cold hand I had kissed in the fondness. Never until then did I realize the nobility—the grandeur of Margaret's nature as when compared with yours, and all the love and reverence sprung up once more in my heart for her, and I say to you, Aurelia, that I love Margaret with a purer, sweeter, deeper and truer love than I have ever known before."

Aurelia cast herself down on one of the seats, and rocked herself to and fro with a despairing wail.

"I have indeed lost you—forever," she moaned. "Once you hung over me adoringly, wearing me with your caresses. Now you draw back from my touch as if I were a viper. And I—what is there I would not give for one—just one of the kisses that in that past I put up my hand to ward off. Oh, fool that I was!"

"Aurelia," said Gerald, deeply pained, "for your own sake I pray you to say no more."

"I wish," cried Aurelia, springing up from her chair with the fury of a panting tigress, "that Margaret had died when she was a child. She has come between me and—"

CHAPTER LIII.

It was some weeks before Paul Lancaster was strong enough to bear the shock of the wonderful news in store for him.

It was Mrs. Denham who told it to him at last, and, oh, what a joyful meeting there was between father and daughter! But one cloud darkened the sunlight of their horizon, and that was, the whereabouts of Aurelia.

Despite all that she had done, sweet Margaret bore no ill will towards Aurelia. On the contrary, she had besought Gerald to do all in his power to find her half-sister, and that she might divide equally with her the great wealth that had come so unexpectedly to her.

And Margaret was firm in refusing to touch a penny of it until Aurelia's share was set aside for her. But, although carefully worded advertisements relative to this fact were kept constantly in the papers, Aurelia did not return.

From the moment she had passed out of the conservatory door she had vanished as completely from sight as though the earth had suddenly opened and swallowed her.

At length Gerald noticed that something more than Aurelia's absence, even, was weighing on Mr. Lancaster's mind.

Both gentlemen had spent a small fortune since the day of her disappearance in endeavoring to trace her, but it was quite useless; and, slowly, from dark-brown, Mr. Lancaster's hair turned snow-white.

"Romaine," he cried, excitedly, one day, as he paced the floor of his room nervously up and down, "I can bear the weight of the terrible secret I hold locked in my breast no longer. I must speak with you about it, for I could never mention it to my daughter Margaret. What I have to say would, completely prostrate her, and it is this: No girl in this whole wide world needs constant watchful care so much as my poor Aurelia. My one constant prayer to Heaven, Romaine, is that she may never love, for she must never marry, because—"

—and here his strong voice broke down completely, and he bowed his head and wept as only a strong man weeps when grief more bitter to endure than death itself sweeps over him—"because," he repeated, faintly, "the taint of insanity runs in the girl's blood from her mother. I did not know this when I married her mother. Every dark-eyed daughter of that house becomes insane at about the time of their eighteenth year, but in some cases their malady has not shown itself until they marry, but as sure as fate they never escape then. I have told you before now the story of my unhappy life. One part I kept back from you, by this announcement, in regard to my daughter Aurelia, must have readily foreseen. When my young wife Aurelia discovered that I had had a wife before I met her, and that other wife's child must inherit my estate, poor Aurelia lost her reason. It was then that she took the two babes and fled to this country, where I lost track of them completely."

"Now my great fear is, has not the same dread malady overtaken my daughter Aurelia? The torture of it on my mind is killing me. I would give every dollar I am worth to find my child, that I might be able to watch over her when the dread cloud that will darken her young life settles over her. She has her many faults, but, oh, Romaine, should they not find pardon when we think of the future that awaits her! Would to God that she may never marry, that that accursed and much-to-be-pitied race may die out with her! I could not tell Margaret; it would break her heart, and the secret was eating my life away, bearing it alone."

Gerald renewed his efforts to find Aurelia, but it was all useless. They did not know Aurelia's fate for many a long day afterward.

Margaret and Gerald were married, Mr. Lancaster giving the sweet, timid young bride away at the altar.

Gerald Romaine never forgot that day. It was the happiest of his whole life.

He remembered how pretty Margaret's hand had trembled on his arm as they walked down the dim aisle of the old church together, and he had whispered lovingly to her:

"My own, my darling wife, at last, thank God!"

"Oh, Gerald—you know that I do love you!" she faltered, shyly.

"But you did not add the two words that I most long to hear, darling!" he said, in the old pleading voice. "You know what they are perfectly well, precious."

"I—I—do love you, my dear husband!" murmured shy Margaret.

Meanwhile, where was Aurelia, the beautiful, faulty girl who had so much need of the pity of Heaven and mankind?

They tell even now, in the gay city of Paris, of the wondrous beauty of a young girl who came there suddenly one day, no one knew from whence.

She was wondrously lovely. Men lost their hearts by one look at that perfect face, and adored her.

No man who looked into those wondrous dark eyes could resist her—yet a man had far better given his heart to a marble statue than to her.

She took all—she gave nothing. Even princes sighed in vain for one smile from those beautiful lips.

Those who knew her best could tell that her gaiety was all forced—her brilliancy assumed. They called her the Beautiful Icicle, and no name could have suited her better.

Men knew that her smiles were deadly as poison; a glance from her eyes was fatal as death—yet they were like moths fluttering around the light; they fluttered nearer and nearer, were singed, and fell under her feet to be trampled on.

She lived in a whirl of excitement—she knew no rest. There was no revel in that world of hers in which she did not take the lead. There was no extravagance in which she did not take the leading part. There was no gaiety so wild but that she joined in it, yet always the same—cold, proud, cruel as death.

So, through the long, brilliant years she lived, and they said woman living had such luxury, such admiration as fell to her lot, and they said, too, that no woman living had done more harm by her fatal gift of beauty, which she might have turned into a blessing from Heaven instead of a curse; for wives and sweethearts trembled when they heard her name upon the lips of a husband or a lover.

And that name which struck such terror to the hearts of women was—Aurelia.

But one day she disappeared from Paris quite as suddenly as she had come.

On the pearl and gold table of her boudoir they found a card bearing these few simple words:

"Sell everything that belongs to me at public sale, and divide it as far as it will go among the needy poor."

(Signed) "Aurelia."

"There was a little heart, after all, in the Beautiful Icicle," the people said, who obeyed her behest.

One day, months later, Gerald and Margaret, in their sunny, happy home across the water, received a letter bearing a foreign post-mark. Margaret pressed it to her lips with a great, glad cry.

"Call papa, Gerald, dearest," she said. "See it is from our long-lost—"

Aurelia, he will want to hear it read."

And, with her loved ones seated near her, Margaret broke the seal, that had indeed from Aurelia, and ran as follows:

"Dear Margaret, Gerald and Father.—The time has come when I think it best to relieve your mind in regard to my fate—I am married; not to an emperor, grand duke, or a noble lord—my Robin is only an artist—but I am far happier with him than I would be with another man, were he a king on a throne. Ah, yes, we are very happy, Robin and I, in our little cottage down by the banks of the River Rhine. Come and see us, Margaret, you and Gerald, and bring father with you; and tell him this for me, Margaret: I know of the curse that hung over my life. I learned of it from some of his private papers which he entrusted to my care, and tell him, Margaret, that God in his mercy has spared me from a fate more cruel than death—the curse has passed me by unharmed—untouched. I have learned life's greatest, grandest lesson, Margaret, and that is, that there is something dearer than gold, and far more precious than all worldly wealth, and that is—the true love of a faithful, honest heart. All other touches of love that I have known in the past, were but light fancies, I find, Margaret. I never knew what real love meant until Robin and I were wed. I know you are all very happy. I read in the society papers how fond Gerald is of his lovely wife, and proud father is of his fair-haired Margaret—his treasure, as he calls you. But when you think of me, if ever, always think of me kindly, and at my best, and say to yourself: 'It was the true love of an honest heart that won—you—'"

"Aurelia."

THE END.

A SIX MILLION DECLINE.

Statistical Reports Shows Great Falling Off in Soo Canal Traffic.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 7.—The statistical report of the traffic of the Sault Ste. Marie Canals shows a great falling off from the traffic up to this time last year, the difference being more than 6,000,000 tons. The decline in tonnage is due to the strike in America, and to a certain extent and also to the fact that navigation opened about a month later than last year.

The total freight tonnage for the period to June 1 was 449,883. The tonnage for April last year was 1,651,839 and the tonnage for May reached 5,188,071, making a total up to June 1 of 6,839,856, or 6,389,968 more than this year up to June 1.

The Canadian Canal traffic shows up heavier than that of the American side by over 40,000 tons, a condition seldom known. This is due to the fact that the Canadian boats are not affected by the tie-up. Very little ore of any kind has gone down the lakes so far.

Note—The Canadian canal opened on April 30, 1904, with the following traffic for that date: Four passengers, two lockages, registered tonnage 48 and 32 tons of freight. The American canal opened on May 5, 1904.

Jarred Off a Box Car.

Belleville, June 7.—An accident, which will probably prove fatal, happened in the station yard here between 5 and 6 o'clock Sunday evening. Patrick Farrell, 22, and unmarried, switchman and helper, was jarred off a box car, which passed over him, crushing his left leg and injuring his spine. The doctors have no hopes of his recovery.

Stole Stouffville Horse.

Kingston, June 7.—Charles Wilds, an ex-convict, is under arrest for stealing a horse and buggy from Elijah Pennock of Stouffville, Ont. Wilds has a weakness for horse-stealing, as he had only lately been released from the penitentiary for a similar offence.

Newfoundland Fisheries.

London, June 4.—(C.A.P.)—Sir R. Dond will shortly meet the British and French officials in London for the purpose of discussing the policing of the concurrent fisheries of Newfoundland.

Was Slave Before the War.

Binghamton, N.Y., June 7.—Mrs. Henrietta Moore, colored, aged 103 years, died, in this city yesterday. Mrs. Moore was born in slavery, in Maryland, but escaped and served as a nurse for the northern troops during the civil war.

MONTREAL AND TRANSPORTATION.

Board of Trade's Large List of Recommendations Submitted.

Montreal, June 7.—The Government commission on transportation opened its sittings here yesterday. Mayor Laporte formally welcoming the members to this city.

The first session was taken up altogether with the recommendations of the Board of Trade Council, the same being submitted by the first vice-president, W. I. Gear. These suggestions aimed at covering the entire transportation problem, ocean, inland waterways and railways, as well as Montreal terminals, a drydock for the city, the removal of all port charges, the building of an additional grain elevator, a high level basin for the harbor, and the like.

Mr. Gear also advocated making Montreal a free port.

Messrs. Robert Munro, Hugh A. Allen and James Carruthers were examined yesterday afternoon and all wanted more facilities. The Board of Trade wanted the French River deepened, but Mr. Carruthers opposed this. He wanted elevators at Port Colborne and the grain brought from there in barges.

Dr. Parkin Received Report.

Montreal, June 7.—Dr. Parkin yesterday received the report of the Oxford examiners upon the papers of candidates examined April 13 and 14 throughout the United States and in those provinces of Canada which have no college affiliated with Oxford. Altogether 129 candidates have passed from the different states and territories of the union and thus become eligible for selection as Rhodes scholars. This probably represents about one-third or one-fourth of all the candidates who took the examinations. In the Dominion, candidates have passed as follows: Prince Edward Island, Wm. E. Cameron; Montreal, John MacLean, Walter Burman; Northwest Territories, Ralph Bellamy; British Columbia, W. A. Donaldson, E. K. Leach. The other candidates from these provinces are excused the qualifying examination as graduates of affiliated colleges.

Sheriff Asks For Help.

Ottawa, June 7.—The sheriff of St. Schoolastic has asked for help to restrain villagers from interfering with the hanging of Theophilus Belanger on Friday, and a squad of Dominion police will go down and also a provincial squad. It is said owing to the disgraceful proceedings at the double hanging a few years ago, the sheriff is refusing all applications for passes and villagers threaten to break down the gates. Public sentiment in the locality strongly favors the condemned man, although he was convicted of a grievous crime.

Wanted in Trenton, N.J.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 7.—Fred J. Grant of Trenton, N.J., was apprehended and arrested yesterday afternoon at the Grand Trunk Depot by Chief Mains and Officer McHot-tien of the Ontario Police, on the strength of telegrams. Grant is wanted at Trenton, N.J., on a charge of embezzling $500. Grant has waived all extradition proceedings and will return to Trenton.

LIBERALS ORGANIZING.

So far as the Province of Ontario is concerned, Liberal members are urging their followers in each constituency to look carefully after the voters' lists of this year. There is no doubt the lists of 1904 will be the lists used in the next Dominion general election, and should Hon. George W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, decide not to have a fourth session of the present parliament of Ontario, the lists of 1904 will be used in the new provincial general election.

James Vance, 34 Victoria-st. Toronto, is in charge of the Central Liberal offices for the province, and Liberal workers are requested to write to him for instructions, forms, etc., for use in the revision of the lists and naturalization of aliens.

Former Canadians, who have become subjects of a foreign country, can, on returning to Canada, be naturalized as British subjects in three months; the period for other aliens is three years.

The Central Liberal association has not a staff of organizers, and the officers of the riding associations are making their own arrangements as to lists, organization and naturalization. In furnishing information from the head office, Mr. Vance's time will be fully occupied, as he is the only person under the direction of the Ontario Liberal Association or Central office.

THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

A great transformation has taken place in the Post Office Department since Sir William Mulock took hold. Saying nothing of the useful reforms he has made in various branches—the railway mail service, dead-letter office, money-order offices, and so on—the financial results accomplished are exceedingly satisfactory. In 1896 there was a deficit of nearly $800,000. There had always been deficits; it was supposed they were inevitable. After Sir William had been in office two years, the balance on the wrong side was cut down to less than $50,000, whereupon he felt justified in trying the experiment of lowering the rates. In 1898, mainly through his efforts, the rate on letters between Canada and the United Kingdom was reduced from five to two cents per half-ounce. The year after the domestic rate on letters in Canada was reduced from three to two cents, as also the rate between Canada and the United States.

Naturally, the revenue fell in consequence, but it recovered by 1902, when there was a small surplus on the year's operations. In 1903 the surplus had risen to $300,000, although in addition to the reduction of rates he had all along been paying for the Yukon service, which was not in existence when he entered office. The post office, for the first time in its history, is now a self-sustaining department and something better.

It is contended by the Tories, who do not like to admit what is now manifested even to the blind, namely, that by comparison they made a poor fist of post office affairs, that the reduction in the rates of postage is not a gain to the farmer and mechanic, but only to corporations and merchants who purchase large quantities of stamps in the course of their business. As a matter of fact, the cost of the Post Office Department is now paid for by those who make use of it, who buy stamps, etc. But when there were deficits ranging from $650,000 to $800,000, as happened under the Tories, these had to be made good by extra taxes on the whole people. Under the present order of things, however, we have, first, lower postage rates, and, secondly, a surplus that goes to reduce the taxes on the whole people. It is obvious, then, that everybody is profiting by Sir William's capable management and that of his highly competent deputy, Dr. Coulter.

The citizens of Lindsay have had ocular proofs of Sir William's energetic management of the affairs of his department. Several times during the last few years he has issued orders for the remedying of grievances in connection with the local office, and a recent order has added to the conveniences enjoyed by enabling the public to purchase stamps or secure mail at the general delivery at any time during regular office hours.

JUGGLING WITH FIGURES.

In a recent address at St. John, N. B., Mr. Watson Griffin, an official of the Manufacturers' Association, stated that last year "Americans bought from Canada 62 cents' worth of merchandise per head of population, whereas Canadian per head of population bought from the United States about $21.46 worth." Further, "per head of population the Americans bought only about 10 cents' worth of Canadian farm products, while Canadians bought from the United States about $2.90 worth of the same kind of farm products per head of population." Mr. Griffin seeks by this argument to show the necessity for increasing the Canadian tariff on imports from the States. The reader will at once note the fallacy involved in reducing imports and exports to a per capita basis when of the two countries interested one contains about six, the other about eighty million people. But let us meet Mr. Griffin on his own ground by reversing the process and dealing not with purchases but with sales.

Our exports (sales) of all kinds of goods to the United States in 1903, came to $72,000,000. That is to say, if there are six million Canadians, each Canadian sold $12 worth of stuff to our neighbors.

Their exports (sales) of all kinds of goods to Canada in 1903, amounted to $138,000,000. In other words, if there are 80,000,000 Americans, each American sold to Canada $1.70 worth of merchandise.

Coming to agricultural products alone, including animals and their produce, our exports (sales) of those commodities to the United States last year were $9,000,000 or $150 per capita. Their exports (sales) of like commodities to us were valued at $16,000,000 or 20 cents per head of their population.

Consequently each Canadian sells seven times more agricultural products to the United States than each American sells to Canada, and the same result works out in the case of exports at large, that is to say, each Canadian sells seven times more to them than they sell per head to us. Mr. Griffin's argument turns out, therefore, to be a kicking gun.

Of course, the per capita basis is not a sound basis; it can be made to prove almost anything. It suited his purpose to employ it in the case of purchases, but it is obviously just as fair to employ it in the case of sales, whereupon he is at once driven up a tree.

LURING THEM ON.

It is plain that Mr. Borden is an admirer of General Kuropatkin's tactical methods, remarks the Montreal Herald editorially. At the beginning of the Grand Trunk controversy he was for fighting all along the line, just as the Russians were. There was to be a battle royal over the Eastern extension, just as there was to be one in Korea. Mr. Blair's onslaught on New Brunswick bore a certain resemblance to the early movements of the Cossacks south of the Yalu, and it looked as though the Conservatives would make a big fight, but when it came to close quarters it was seen that the Conservatives never intended to offer battle over the Eastern extension. The policy of Mr. Borden was to let the Liberals win all along the line, and so lure them on. He next made a great stir about his second line of defence, like Kuropatkin at Liaoyang. This second line was his marvellous alternative plan of buying a road here, building a few miles there, buying a few miles more, leasing another stretch, letting the Grand Trunk build another stretch, and then going into a syndicate for building another stretch. In the mountain passes and wire entanglements thus provided he counted the enemy will meet their fate. He was going to lure them that far and then he was going to fight, fight, fight, until they were beaten in every province. Now he has decided that he will not fight in this position of his choice, but will withdraw to Hanbin. "If the Japanese want to show how far north they can get in Manchuria," reasons Kuropatkin, "I'll show them that I can take my army further north than they can follow me." "If the Liberals want a fight about a transcontinental railway, which the country is to help build," says Mr. Borden, "I'll show them that I'm ready to spend more of the people's money than they are. If they want to fight me they can't fight about a Grand Trunk line; they must agree to fight about a state-owned line. I'll keep so far ahead of them that they can't fight me until they get their Grand Trunk line running. Then I'll be ready for the potrooms, and with my overwhelming forces I'll sweep them off the map. Luring them on is my policy, and if anybody has any siege artillery to use against the Liberals when they overtake us, now is the time to ship it by express, in convenient parcels, well tied up in string, as they used to say in the good old days in Quebec. "Harbin for me," says Kuropatkin. "Government ownership for me," says Borden.

ALIEN LABOR ENFORCEMENT.

The Ottawa Government has appointed Judge Winchester of Toronto a commissioner to enquire into the reports that American engineers and others are employed on the Grand Trunk Pacific surveys. A bill will be introduced to prevent the employment of alien labour on works sub-ventured with public money, or rather to provide that Canadian labour shall have the preference. This of course, will apply to the Grand Trunk Pacific. Meantime without any knowledge of the facts, the Opposition is denouncing the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific for employing American engineers, while saying nothing about the employment of American contractors as well as American engineers by the Canadian Pacific. In other words, Mr. Borden is more concerned about making party capital against the Government than about the interests of Canadian labour. The matter will become serious when construction begins on the Grand Trunk Pacific. It is notoriously difficult to procure Canadian labour for navy work, and, if Italians and Chinese are to be excluded, it will be long before the road is finished and the extra cost will come high. For the present, however, the controversy may be left in Judge Winchester's hands. If Canadian engineers have been discriminated against because of their nationality, the Grand Trunk Pacific ought to be severely dealt with. If the truth be that the Canadian engineers who are complaining lacked the necessary ability and experience for the high positions they sought and failed to obtain, the judge is not likely to call on Mr. Hays to employ them. The case turns on a question of fact which can only be determined by an impartial investigation such as the Government, in appointing Judge Winchester, has provided for.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Twenty-one Liberals of Winnipeg—immortal tailors of Tooley Street!—out of the three or four thousand in that city have signed a protest against the Government's transcontinental project. In their opinion the line should be owned and operated by the State. Eighteen of the 21 are directly or indirectly connected with the Winnipeg Tribune, a paper once Liberal but now free-lance and semi-Socialist. Government ownership and operation have attractions for a good few persons in Manitoba. Their idea, probably well-founded, is that it would be easy for the settlers to combine and force Ministers, Liberal or Conservative, to grant excessively low rates on wheat and merchandise especially about election time. This, they say, is done on the Intercolonial, why not in the West?

Because, for one thing, it would be unfair to the majority of the Canadian people. Judging by our experience of the Intercolonial, a transcontinental line under Government management would not pay operating expenses, much less interest on the borrowed money sunk in it, as the Conservatives say, it would cost

Hood's

Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the greatest blood and liver medicine known. It positively and permanently cures every humor, from Pimples to Scrofula. It is the Best Blood Medicine.

$150,000,000, the aggregate deficit would probably reach $6,000,000 a year—$4,500,000 for interest, $1,500,000 on operating. The lower, that is, the less profitable the rates conceded to the West, the greater annual drain on the country at large. Obviously the farmers of Ontario and most of those in Quebec, who are served exclusively by company lines, would be paying commercial rates on their own shipments and receipts plus a yearly tribute to make good the loss occasioned by the political rates given to shipments to and from the West. The only possible way of doing justice all round would be for the Government to buy all the company lines in Canada and make them part and parcel of a huge State-managed system. Granting for the sake of argument that such a coup is desirable, where would the purchase money come from? And how could the enormous deficits be met if not by taxing the people through the nose? What the Western settler gained by low rates would be more than offset by additions to the tariff and other forms of money-raising necessitated by the transaction.

The notion that the State is a good fairy that can work miracles for mankind dies hard. In reality the State in Canada, on which the Winnipeg Tribune set so much store, is nothing more than the ruling politicians whom it denounces every day as fools and rogues. By a well known mental process it has builded an idol of material that it despises, and, like the African savage or the pagans mentioned by Isaiah, falleth down unto it and worshippeth and prayeth unto it and saith, "Deliver me from thou art my god." The Tribune and papers of its type give a highly idealized account of the results of State management in Australia, France, Germany, Italy, etc., quite ignoring the other side of the story as well as keeping out of sight the fact that an arrangement that works satisfactorily in one country may prove sadly defective in another owing to the difference in social, political and economic conditions. Our experience of State ownership and operation is confined to the intercolonial, which has been a going concern for thirty years, and no one can read the blue book history of that road without concluding that a fresh experiment in that direction is not desirable at the present time.

bling, particularly during strikes near the border, or when great public works are being built.

The United States is on the eve of beginning the construction of the American Panama Canal. In answer to American labour men on one side and to the Anti-Boycott Association on the other, the head of the Commission states that while American labour, principally negroes from the south, will be employed, the Government, for the sake of saving time and money, will also hire natives of Central America, negroes from Jamaica and Chinese coolies. White men cannot work with safety in that climate. Capital flows freely between Canada and the United States. Our banks cut an important figure at times in New York and Chicago, and American investors have similar opportunities in Canada. Some day labour will be permitted to pass backward and forward with equal freedom, but just at present time both countries are suffering from the disease known as particularism—a too narrow conception of our duty as Christian men to the fellow men who happens to be a foreigner.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The enthusiasm of the Montreal Gazette for Mr. Borden's Government ownership policy founded on "if" is shown by the utter absence of editorial reference to the matter. And yet some of the organs affect to regard it as the greatest national issue.

The Montreal Gazette says that Government ownership and operation of the Intercolonial Railway has cost the taxpayers since 1897 over $30,000,000. And it was far worse in the days before 1897, under Tory rule. The Gazette is inconsiderate of Mr. Borden's feelings in presenting such a statement at this time.

Weekly Sun: David James, in his contribution to the discussion on farm problems in this issue, gives a much needed warning to farmers against the danger of investing in enterprises of a more or less speculative nature. The extent to which people have been carried in this direction is indicated by a statement in the Express to the effect that 200,000 has been invested by the people of Beaverton and vicinity in cement, gold mining, and various other enterprises of like nature. This is an exceedingly dangerous practice for farmers to engage in providing a share of the capital for schemes, in the carrying out of which they are, by the circumstances of the case, denied a voice. The safest investment possible for a farmer's surplus capital will be found in improved stock, under-drainage, labor-saving implements, and properly constructed buildings. The returns in such cases are sure, and the capital provided is always under the control of the owner.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JUNE 10.

THE RECENT CONVENTION.

Our Liberal friends have reason to be proud of the large and representative attendance from all parts of the riding at the convention for Victoria and Haliburton, held in Lindsay, on May 31st, and no better proof that it aroused misgivings in the bosom of the Tory packed convention could be required than the fact that the Watchman-Wardner-owned by him for the time being—devoted two columns to a Minchhausen-like account of the alleged proceedings. The writer soared on the wings of fancy, returning to earth at intervals to stab with his pen-point some leading Tory—Senator McHugh preferred. As no bitterness has existed between the Senator and the Watchman-Wardner, it must be taken for granted that the special attack made upon that gentleman was either prompted by the alleged candidate or considered necessary by his supporters, for some reason not yet apparent.

It is quite easy to understand the chagrin of the packed convention candidate and his friends because the Liberals met and adjourned without having selected a standard-bearer. The political situation had changed since the convention was first called, there was no need for haste, and delay meant time for the widening of the cleavage between the Hughes-Vrooman factions. All these conditions tended to the advantage of the Liberals and they were guided accordingly. But the annoyance felt by the Hughes organ should not have prompted it to ignore the many Reform delegates from the north country in stating that only one representative was present from that part of the riding. The delegates from Haliburton county numbered thirty or forty—all leading men in their respective localities—and they have to thank the Hughes organ for a gratuitous insult.

It is possibly difficult for the packed convention candidate and his friends to understand the cheerful willingness of the Liberals of the two counties to come to Lindsay two or three times at their own expense—to discuss matters connected with the representation of the riding. The railways are not managed that way—the railway fares of chosen stalwarts are paid and their hotel bills defrayed by picked agents. These delegates vote and cheer according to instructions—providing no mistake has been made in the matter of railway or hotel tickets, and they know also that the business must be finished and that the picnic will not be continued. Corporations will spend money freely to attain their object or help the man who is trying to gain it for them, but no waste is permitted, for money has to be accounted for closely.

That the Liberal convention did not select a candidate is a sore blow to the hopes of the nominee of the packed Tory convention held last January. It creates an uncertain situation and leaves him in doubt as to which part of the neglected riding he should invade with his magic lantern outfit in an endeavor to coax the voters into the belief that he has been a devoted representative, and that if he failed to secure much for the riding it was not because of lack of effort—nor because his undivided services had been at the command of others who had the right to order him about that is conferred in the relations between employer and employee.

Lively Tilt Over Bell Telephone Co. Matters.

NEGOTIATION WITH GAS CO. DELAYED BY TOWN SOLICITOR.

Our city fathers met in regular monthly session on Monday in the Council chamber. Mayor Sootheran presiding. The minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read and duly confirmed.

A large number of communications were read and referred to various committees.

Want More Light.
A petition signed by S. Tetreault and other ratepayers on St. Paul-st., asked that an arc light be placed at the L. B. & P. Ry crossing, it being a dangerous spot.

Angerment O'Reilly and Robson moved that the request be granted.

Mayor Sootheran—"Don't you think the request should be inquired into? Why not leave it until we inspect all the lights?"

Ald. Maund—"I think that would be best."

Ald. O'Reilly—"The people have got tired waiting for Council to make the promised trip. Every member knows the spot is dangerous—I have hung out a lantern a number of times for the accommodation of people."

Mayor Sootheran—"The citizens have not been brought down yet and we don't know if we can afford the expense."

Ald. Robinson—"In any event let us arrange for a lantern service if we can do no better."

Ald. Cinnamon—"I think a light is badly needed there."

Ald. O'Reilly—"I decided against making any changes or additions until we had made a tour of inspection."

Ald. McWatters suggested that Council make the tour of the streets to-morrow night, as something should be done about the King-st. light as soon as possible.

Ald. McCrea, chairman of the Lighting committee, said he would arrange for the trip the first dark evening.

A Batch of Reports.
From Engineer Way, reporting that it would be necessary to put in six additional laterals on Sussex-st. sewer—Board of Works.

From same, reporting against the opening of a ditch on north side of Park-st., and suggesting the south side instead at a cost of $20.—Board of Works.

From Auditor Eagleson, covering Treasurer's accounts up to May 31st. Attention was directed to a few irregularities due to Council having failed to pass necessary orders.—Finance committee.

Reports of Committees.
The following resolutions presented by Ald. McCrea, Police and Lighting; Ald. O'Reilly, Board of Works; Ald. McWatters, Town Property; Ald. Cinnamon, Finance.

Ald. O'Reilly, seconded by Ald. Robinson, moved that the clause in the Town Property report recommending that a five-year franchise be given to the Bell Telephone Co. be referred back for further consideration.

Mayor Sootheran—"I see Mr. Scott here from Napanee, and it would be too bad to have him come here for nothing. I think we should hear him now, and if the representative of the other Co. does not wish to be heard now, he can meet the committee at a later date."

Mr. Scott—"I understand that it is the wish of some members to refer the franchise question back to the committee, and I would prefer to myself I am quite willing to retain whenever you want me. I wish to recall to your minds the fact that the suggestion about a franchise did not originate with us, but we are quite willing to meet you and discuss the matter at your convenience."

Ald. O'Reilly—"You don't deny myself I am quite willing to retain whenever you want me. I wish to recall to your minds the fact that the suggestion about a franchise did not originate with us, but we are quite willing to meet you and discuss the matter at your convenience."

L.O.O.F. Guarantee Fund.
On motion Mr. Wm. Pedlar was heard. He asked that Council grant the Independent Order of Oddfellows the usual guarantee fund of $200 in connection with their first of July celebration.

Mayor Sootheran—"Of course the Council always expects to reap some benefit for the town in return for a guarantee."

Mr. Pedlar—"All we can promise you is a big crowd and first-class sports."

Mayor Sootheran—"What about the Toronto Old Boys' Rally? They wrote me about holding it on a later date and I suggested that they combine it with the July 1st celebration."

Mr. Pedlar—"That's about as far as the thing has gone. We have not heard from them since."

On motion of Ald. McWatters, seconded by Ald. O'Reilly, the desired guarantee was granted.

Wants His Money Back.
On motion Mr. Napoleon Dussault was heard. In his best broken English he explained that he had been fined $4.45 last year for spitting on the pavement, and it was hard on a poor man to be taxed so large a sum when he had offended unintentionally. He would like to get his money back.

On motion of Aldermen Robinson and Maund, the matter was referred to the Finance committee.

The Bell Rings Once More.
On motion Mr. A. E. Gregory, a stockholder in the Machine Telephone Co., was heard. He was delightedly brief, and merely asked that his company be heard before deciding anything in connection with a franchise.

Mayor Sootheran—"There's the communication from Mr. Dyke, asking permission to erect some taller poles. Putting in a metallic system will take some time and cost considerable money. I understand the men will be ready to begin in a few days."

Ald. O'Reilly—"Well, if you give them free of charge the right to tear up our streets you give them all you've got to ask a franchise for. We got a special rate from the L. B. & P. Co. as a concession for the use of our streets. We pay the Bell Co. $200 a year for the use of their poles, and they should pay us something when they seek special privileges."

Mayor Sootheran—"But what about the complaints from citizens concerning the poor telephone service? I couldn't begin to remember all who have spoken to me concerning it."

Ald. O'Reilly—"That's a question to be settled between the Company and their patrons. People might as well complain to us about the quality of boots sold by a certain dealer or that the lumber sold by one of our millmen was defective."

It was finally decided to thresh the matter out in committee after the Council meeting.

A Couple of By-laws.
After a first reading Council went into committee of the whole to consider a couple of by-laws, Ald. McCrea in the chair.

By-law No. 1047 prohibits the dumping of ashes, brush, paper, glass, or other refuse on the streets and sidewalks, the washing of ice and allowing the contents of the latter to lodge in the open drains. The minimum penalty for a breach of the regulation was fixed at $2 and costs, maximum $20.

By-law No. 1048 authorized the Mayor and Clerk to enter into a contract with James M. Chalmers for the sewers awarded at a recent meeting.

Committee rose and reported, and by-laws were given a third reading. An Objection Sustained.

Ald. McCrea moved seconded by Ald. Maund, that the Mayor's action in engaging Engineer Way as inspector of the Chalmers' sewers be approved, and that his services continue during the whole of the contracts.

Ald. O'Reilly registered a protest,—"would it be the right thing to employ as inspector the man who is drawing 2 1/2 per cent. on the cost of the sewers? If he desired he could allow extras and so benefit the contractor and himself. He (O'Reilly) was willing to countenance the arrangement only until McMahon, their former inspector, was at liberty, which would be a week or ten days."

Mayor Sootheran—"I'm willing to engage Mr. McMahon when he is at liberty. I must say that he has done some things he should not have done as our inspector, but I'm inclined to think he erred through ignorance of the full extent of his duties. For instance, he did not have reported to us the attempt to tap Queen-st. sewer for C. P. R. station drain, and he has allowed extra laterals to be put in without denouncing the authority of this Council."

Ald. O'Reilly—"If he erred through a misunderstanding as to his duties. He probably thought the Engineer was looking after such matters."

A resolution to employ Mr. McMahon when at liberty was adopted.

Will Complete His Job.
Moved by Ald. O'Reilly, seconded by Ald. McWatters, that the granite walk on the north side of Wellington-st. from William-st. to the bridge be completed by day labor, Mr. M. H. McLaughlin to be overseer at $2 per day.—Carried.

Cement Wanted.
Moved by Ald. O'Reilly, seconded by Ald. McWatters, that the Clerk be instructed to call for tenders for the cement needed for the east approach to Wellington-st. bridge, to be opened by the Board of Works.—Carried.

Street Lighting Contract.
Ald. Storer said he would like to know when the Light House, Mayor Co. intended to print and number the poles. The Council had had cards printed and distributed to keep track of lights out, but until the poles were numbered the plan was useless.

Mayor Sootheran—"The Company has not carried out its contract fully. There are a number of poles out of position, and they promised to move these as soon as the ground was in shape in the spring. But they have done it. Another thing—the lamps have not been strung in the centre of the streets and owing to the thick foliage very little benefit is derived from the light in many cases. This must be remedied."

Ald. McWatters—"That's right; many lamps will be of little use until that is done."

The Estimates.

Mayor Sootheran called attention to the fact that it was high time the year's estimates were brought down, and a motion was passed instructing Ald. Cinnamon, chairman of Finance to see that the estimates are introduced not later than the middle of the present month.

It was decided that the Aldermen will make their long talked of inspection of the lights next Monday night. Council then adjourned.

HELD UP THE BELL CO.
Permission to Tear up the Streets is Withheld by Council.

As soon as Council adjourned the members sat again at the Board of Works, with Ald. O'Reilly in the chair, to discuss Mr. Dyke's request for permission to open up certain streets and erect poles.

Mayor Sootheran again referred to the poor telephone service and said the Council owed it to the business men to do everything possible to assist the company in remedying the trouble.

Ald. McWatters—"The system is no good at all at night."

Mr. Dyke explained that only seven or eight new poles would be put in, but taller poles would be substituted for many of the short ones now in use.

Mr. Scott—"The new service will also benefit your fire alarm system."

Ald. O'Reilly—"How much is your company prepared to pay for this privilege?"

Mr. Scott—"Do you mean to include all our poles—we have 400 or 500 in town."

Ald. O'Reilly—"I mean to cover the right to keep those on our streets. You give other places special inducements, and why not Lindsay?"

Mr. Scott—"It's a mistake to say that we give other places better terms than we offer Lindsay. You should remember, too, that we serve the tops of all poles for your alarm system."

Ald. Storer—"Which company came here first, the Light Co. or the Telephone Co.? It seems that the latter system has been injured by the former."

Ald. O'Reilly—"The Light Co. was first, but it's merely a question of stringing wires higher."

Mr. Scott—"It's not the height of the wires, but the high voltage system put in by the Light Co. which causes us trouble. If our wires were 1000 feet high the result would be the same. To put it another way, we are compelled to add another wire to every pole."

Ald. O'Reilly—"Put your wires underground, as the new company intend doing in Peterboro."

Mr. Scott—"No company charging our low rates could afford to do that. Other companies—That's a question to be settled between the Company and their patrons. People might as well complain to us about the quality of boots sold by a certain dealer or that the lumber sold by one of our millmen was defective."

It was finally decided to thresh the matter out in committee after the Council meeting.

A Couple of By-laws.
After a first reading Council went into committee of the whole to consider a couple of by-laws, Ald. McCrea in the chair.

By-law No. 1047 prohibits the dumping of ashes, brush, paper, glass, or other refuse on the streets and sidewalks, the washing of ice and allowing the contents of the latter to lodge in the open drains. The minimum penalty for a breach of the regulation was fixed at $2 and costs, maximum $20.

By-law No. 1048 authorized the Mayor and Clerk to enter into a contract with James M. Chalmers for the sewers awarded at a recent meeting.

Committee rose and reported, and by-laws were given a third reading. An Objection Sustained.

Ald. McCrea moved seconded by Ald. Maund, that the Mayor's action in engaging Engineer Way as inspector of the Chalmers' sewers be approved, and that his services continue during the whole of the contracts.

Ald. O'Reilly registered a protest,—"would it be the right thing to employ as inspector the man who is drawing 2 1/2 per cent. on the cost of the sewers? If he desired he could allow extras and so benefit the contractor and himself. He (O'Reilly) was willing to countenance the arrangement only until McMahon, their former inspector, was at liberty, which would be a week or ten days."

Mayor Sootheran—"I'm willing to engage Mr. McMahon when he is at liberty. I must say that he has done some things he should not have done as our inspector, but I'm inclined to think he erred through ignorance of the full extent of his duties. For instance, he did not have reported to us the attempt to tap Queen-st. sewer for C. P. Ald. O'Reilly—"If he erred through a misunderstanding as to his duties. He probably thought the Engineer was looking after such matters."

DEATH OF CORNELIUS O'SULLIVAN

Father of Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan, Curate of St. Mary's, Lindsay.

Campbellford Despatch, June 2nd: By the death of Mr. Cornelius O'Sullivan, which took place in Peterboro on Sunday last, another of the most highly respected pioneer settlers of Seymour has passed away.

On Thursday May 26th, he was taken ill and upon the advice of his physician he went to Peterboro on the evening train and entered the St. Joseph's Hospital, where, it was thought, he might receive better care than it would be possible to give him at home. His illness proved to be pneumonia, but no thought was entertained by his friends of the result being fatal. A telephone message was received on Sunday stating that he was not quite so well. He gradually grew worse and passed away that evening. To his relatives, as well as to his many friends, the news of his death was a great shock, and one which will be hard to bear.

He was a man of honesty and integrity and very highly respected by all who knew him. He also was of a kind and charitable disposition, a good neighbor, a kind father and a loving husband. He had nearly reached the allotted time, being 66 years of age.

He was born in Seymour on the farm next to where he has always resided. He was married 35 years ago to Mary O'Brien, of Pictou. He leaves to mourn his death a wife and five children, namely: Maud, (Sister Antoinette) of Peterboro; Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan, Curate of Lindsay; Katie, John and George, at home, One brother—Joseph—survives the others, Daniel, of Seymour, Dr. O'Sullivan of Peterboro, and D. A. O'Sullivan, of Toronto, having predeceased him some years.

His remains were brought to his own home Monday afternoon, where they remained until Tuesday morning when the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Mary's R. C. church, Campbellford, where high requiem mass was celebrated by the son of the deceased, Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan, assisted by Rev. J. O'Sullivan, Victoria Road, as deacon, Rev. Father O'Leary, of Galway, as sub-deacon, and Rev. Father Crowley, North Bay, as master of ceremonies. Rev. John O'Brien, of the Cathedral staff, Peterboro, assisted in the choir, and in the sanctuary were his two children, who were especially consecrated to God, one as a priest of the Church, and the other as a Sister of St. Joseph's.

After this the corpse was blessed, when the funeral procession proceeded to the cemetery, where the body was consigned to its last resting place, Rev. Father Joseph O'Sullivan officiating at the grave. The funeral was very largely attended, many having come from great distances to show their respect to the deceased and their sympathy for the bereaved relatives. Among those from a distance were Capt. O'Brien, of Pictou; Mrs. D. A. O'Sullivan and Mrs. J. J. O'Sullivan, of Toronto; Rev. Mother Cleland, Mother Agatha and Sister Evarista, of Peterboro, and friends from Wooler, Workworth, Hastings and Lindsay.

May he rest in peace.

WATERWORKS APPOINTMENT.
Stafford Gassien is Now Second Engineer at the Pumping Station.

A short meeting of the Water Commission was held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, for the purpose of receiving applications for the position of night engineer at the pump house. Those present were, Chairman Flavell, Messrs. T. Brady, R. J. McNeill and Supt. Baggie.

The following applications were read: Messrs. Owen Corrigan, Ronald McKay, Robert Richmond, Stafford Gassien, David Robertson and David Fisher. The application of Mr. Gassien met with the approval of the Board, he being a steady young man, who knows quite a bit about machinery. He seemed quite anxious to know what he had to do before undertaking the work. He was the only applicant out of the six who visited the pump house beforehand to find out what his duties would be.

Horse and Buggy Stolen.
Chief Neilson has received the following post card from Stouffville, offering $10 reward for any information: "Horse stolen from Stouffville, on May 28th. Dark colored chestnut mare, docked tail, over in knees, about 11 years old, height 15.1, slight touch of scratches, little thick in right front leg, covered in buggy, stained green, oddish trunk, white behind. Man about 30, light mustache; young woman with him about 18 or 20. Wire or phone information to John Urquhart, Supt. Peon Asso, Stouffville."

New Railway Making Progress.
When the track-laying gang employed on the Burkaton-Lindsay section of the L. B. & P. Ry, stopped work last Saturday evening, the steel had been laid as far as McGill's landing, McNairs, and in all probability the rails will reach the edge of Lindsay corporation by next Saturday evening, as more men will be sent south by Contractor Fauquier today on Wednesday. About Friday we may expect to hear the whistle of the engine of the ballasting train that follows the track-layers closely. In town the work around the new station and freight sheds is nearing completion, and as the Lindsay-Bobcaygeon link is only 10 miles in length it is almost a certainty that the road will be opened early in August.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

E. J. KYLIE, M. A., OF OXFORD, ENGLAND, WILL BE THE SPEAKER

At the Collegiate Institute Closing Exercises at the End of June.

The Board of Education met last Monday, instead of Tuesday, on account of the lecture by Mr. Whitney. Those present were: Chairman Stewart, Messrs. Devitt, Beal, Jeffers, Flavell, Edwards, Staples, Kylie, Carey and Dr. Blanchard, Inspector Knight and Principals Harstone and Broderick.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Order at the Board. Before commencing the regular business Chairman Thomas Stewart stated that he would like to make a few remarks concerning the rules of the Board in regard to the keeping of order, which several of the members had violated at previous meetings, and he would also like to correct a misstatement which appeared in one of the local papers. Mr. Stewart said:

"I am reported by the Watchman-Warder as having said at the last meeting of the Board, 'I shall allow no more discussion to-night and take nothing but resolutions.' This statement is not correct. In correcting it I will relate the circumstances. The Chairman of the Finance Committee had brought in his report, containing among other things the estimates for the year. It was thought that this report should not be adopted until the report of the Committee on Management had been considered. The Chairman of the Committee on Management then read his report, and both reports were taken up and discussed very fully in an informal way. Then the report of the Finance Committee was upon motion made and carried, adopted; then the Board took up the report of the Management committee dealing finally with each item, some items being adopted, some stricken out and others altered, and after the whole report was dealt with in this fashion a motion was made adopting the report as altered, which motion was carried. After this motion adopting the report was carried, a member of the Board raised a question as to whether a porch which the report provided for should be built upon the east side of the East ward school instead of upon the west side, as authorized by the report. I stopped the gentleman, saying that the report was adopted and that there could be no more discussion upon it unless upon a resolution proposed. That is the ruling which I gave.

The Closing Exercises.

Mr. Stewart then called for the business items, the first being the report of Principals Harstone and Broderick, showing that the number on roll of the L.C.I. was 179 and the average attendance 141. Mr. Harstone also stated in his report that they had secured the services of Mr. Ed. Kylie to address the school and friends at the closing exercises on the 30th of this month.

Mr. Stewart said he would like to see a goodly number of the board present at the Cadet Corps inspection in the morning and also at the lecture and banquet Tuesday evening.

Two resignations were received by the Board—Miss Lucy L. Staples, of the Collegiate staff, teacher of modern languages and Miss Jessie Ferguson of the Public School staff.

On motion of Messrs. Flavell and Kylie, the resignations were accepted and the Chairman of the Board was given the power to grant testimonials.

Finance Report.

It was moved by Mr. Staples, seconded by Mr. Kylie, that the Finance Committee's report, which is as follows, be adopted as read:

J. Hutchinson..... $ 50
Borall & Mathie..... 3013
United Typewriter Co..... 1200
J. J. Turner Co..... 100
Foster Brown Co..... 137
Robinson & Johnston..... 250

How the Time is Spent.

Moved by Mr. Flavell, seconded by Mr. Kylie, that a report be furnished by Principal Harstone, showing the time-table of the Collegiate Institute, how the time is spent by the teachers and pupils, and what they do during the spaces.—Carried.

To Fill Vacancies.

Moved by Messrs. Staples and Edwards, that an advertisement be placed in the Globe and Mail & Empire for teachers to fill vacancies, applications to be received up to June 20th.—Carried.

An Omission Repaired.

Mr. Stewart then brought before the Board the fact that Mr. Beal had not as yet been placed on any committee, and after a little discussion it was moved by Mr. Flavell, seconded by Mr. Kylie, that Mr. Beal be placed on the Finance and Managing committees.—Carried.

Other Business.

Moved by Mr. Kylie, seconded by Mr. Flavell, that the flower beds at the L.C.I. and Union School be filled with plants.—Carried.

Mr. Kylie then informed the Board that he did not expect to be in town during the summer school holidays and would like some member of the committee to be appointed to take up his work during his absence. Mr. Beal was mentioned along with Messrs. Kennedy, Kylie and Jeffers, but Mr. Beal said he was going to do any work he could, but he would not have time, and therefore would not like to undertake anything and not be able to carry it out properly. The matter was finally left in the hands of the committee to decide.

The Thompson truncheon case was referred to Mayor Sootheran for further investigation.

A short discussion took place on the subject of fuel for the coming winter, after which the Board adjourned.

Thrown From a Wagon.

Mr. George K. Babcock was thrown from his wagon and severely bruised. He applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely and says it is the best liniment he ever used. Mr. Babcock is a well known citizen of North Plain, Conn. There is nothing equal to Pain Balm for sprains and bruises. It will effect a cure in one-third the time required by any other treatment. For sale by all druggists.

Publicity Indispensable.

Until a merchant's goods are advertised in some way it cannot be said that they are on the market. Until they are advertised in a leading newspaper they cannot have the best chance of sale. Even the small classified advertisements have proved to be worth a great deal more than methods of publicity which do not include newspaper space.

BENEFIT OF TRENT CANAL.

WOULD LOWER RATES FOR CARRIAGE OF GRAIN AND FREIGHT.

This Would Compel the G. T. R. to Improve Grades on This Division.

The Midland Free Press has the following to say concerning the recent meeting of the Dominion Transportation Commissioners in that town:

The advantages to be derived by the opening up of the Trent Valley Canal was thoroughly discussed, and a carefully prepared statement advocating the opening up of this route was presented by the Mayor, which in his view would compel the G. T. R. to improve their line to a condition equal to that of the New York Central. Mr. White considered three routes available—the all-water route from Fort William to Montreal, the route by the Trent Valley Canal and that by water to Midland and by G. T. R. to Montreal.

The rate is now five cents a bushel from Fort William, and should be four cents, which would leave all a reasonable profit. The cost of making the Welland Canal capable of carrying such vessels as W. D. Matthews would be between $35,000,000, and $50,000,000, while the Trent Valley Canal could be completed for $5,000,000. The Trent Valley Canal route would develop Ontario, and even if it did not carry a bushel of grain would act as a regulator to prevent the railways asking improper rates. Mr. White was confident the Grand Trunk Railway should be able to carry wheat from Midland to Montreal as cheaply as grain could be carried by water. To obtain this, of course, the roadbed, grades and bridges would have to be improved up to almost the standard of the New York Central.

In answer to a question as to whether the Government should help the railways to make these improvements instead of spending money on the canal, Mr. White said he thought that the railway appeared willing to make the improvements of their own accord, and instances the improvements already being made. At present the G. T. R. can take out with one locomotive only seventeen cars—that is, 550 tons—while the New York Central trains are from 60 to 70 cars. Mr. White estimated that if the G. T. R. could take 40 cars per train with one locomotive at 2 cents a bushel, this would increase the earnings per trainload by from $225 to $640. Mr. White advocated that the elevator facilities here should be increased from one and a half million bushels to at least four million, and in conclusion urged the commissioners to advise the increase of terminal facilities at ocean ports, the lack of which, he thought, more than shorted the value of rolling stock, congested traffic.

Mr. W. J. Parkhill, collector of customs, gave the following grain statistics for the port: 1900, 7,000,000 bushels; 1901, 4,750,000 bush.; 1902, 15,500,000 bushels; 1903, 13,000,000 bushels.

Joseph Cook.

The Port Perry Observer: Deceased was a worthy son of Merry England. He came to Canada while a boy and spent many years in the Bay of Quinte district, for which locality in after life he had fond memories and pleasant recollections. He came to Port Perry about thirty-five years ago, since which time he has been a permanent and desirable citizen. He was universally esteemed for his many good qualities as a town benefactor and citizen. He was a consistent member of the Church of England, and a staunch and uncompromising Conservative. He possessed rare traits of character in a marked degree, obliging, generous, honest and sympathetic. He was real in all things—he never seemed, and while less polished than conventional than some, his heart was in the right place; he wronged no man and met his obligations like a hero. He was a devoted husband, affectionate father and kind neighbor and true friend. His was a long, honest and industrious life. He lived at peace with all and all say: "Rest in peace." Besides a disconsolate widow, four sons and three daughters survive the deceased—Mr. Joseph Cook, Caesar; Messrs. Thomas and William Cook, Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Mrs. Thomas McOonnell, Lindsay; Mrs. G. Deshane, Brownsville, and Mrs. Wm. Brooks, Port Hope. The funeral took place Wednesday and was largely attended. The sons of England taking a leading part in their funeral services. The ministerial services were conducted by the Rev. Geo. Scott, incumbent of the Church of Ascension.

Sued by His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $1250, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coacalla, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used, as I had good reasons to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this—in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all druggists.

BASEBALL.

Varsity 3—Lindsay 2.

Another fine day and another good crowd greeted the baseball players in their game against Varsity, of Toronto, on Friday, by the close score of 3-2. The game was a very good exhibition of ball playing, although there was a great deal of kicking. The Toronto boys played a good game, only making four errors, but the Lindsay players did not put up their usual game and made seven errors. The Toronto team are a bunch of big fellows, and by playing games every day they receive lots of practice at the bat, base running and in the field, while the Lindsay team have not been able to have a workout for the last four or five evenings owing to wet weather. The Toronto men are a gentlemanly lot, and played the game.

For the pitchers "Curly" Mack easily carried off honors, his pitching being very effective and fast. Philan for the Varsity boys, also pitched well, but most of his balls were thrown underhand with a little upshoot, which did not bother our boys very much. Toronto scored their first two runs in the 4th and 5th innings, then Lindsay scored in the 7th, and Toronto again in the 8th.

The Lindsay players still need more work at the bat. They should practice the bunt hit. Keen observers at yesterday's game must have noticed that as a rule the Toronto boys would make a little bunt and reach first base, and when they got two or three on bases they would then bat for the outfield. The line-up was as follows:

Toronto:2nd base..... Lindsay
Williamson.....1st base..... McGill
Robert.....left field.....Little Tripp.....Catcher.....Cinnamon
Balfour.....3rd base.....Menzie
Lend.....right field.....Marks
Phelan.....pitcher.....McLaughlin
Biggs.....short stop.....Miller
Rose.....centre field.....Toyer

The Varsity boys felt highly honored in having their tour opened by the Citizens' band of Lindsay. The management of the home club will always endeavor to treat visiting teams handsomely.

LACROSSE.

Our boys met defeat when they crossed sticks last week with the fast Orillia bunch by the score of 19 to 2. They all report a good time. The grounds were very slippery, and as our players only had on the lacrosse shoes, they naturally slipped, while the Orillia players had on spiked shoes and were able to keep on their feet. Our players were outlasted by their opponents.

THE CHURCHES ON SUNDAY.

HELPFUL TALKS IN THE ABSENCE OF SEVERAL PASTORS.

Interesting Missionary Address in the Presbyterian Sunday School.

The Rev. Mr. Cragg, a young preacher, who has been stationed to preach at Manila during the coming term, delivered two helpful sermons yesterday in the Cambridge-st. church. In the morning he took as his text the 19th chapter of Acts, 2nd verse, "He said unto them, Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed? And they said unto him, 'We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost.'" In the evening his text was found in the 18th chapter of Jeremiah, 4th verse, "And the vessel that he made of clay was marred in the hand of the potter; so he made it again another vessel, as deemed good to the potter to make it." Mr. Cragg handled both subjects in a very able manner, and was listened to with pleasure. In the anthem at the morning service Miss Erimmell took the solo part, and Miss Walters and Messrs. Schwalm and Moyes the trio; Mr. Schwalm also sang a solo in the afternoon. The ladies' quartette, comprising the Messrs. Walters, Spence, Bunnell and Bates, was well rendered.

AT QUEEN-ST. CHURCH.

The Queen-st. church pulpit, in the absence of Rev. Mr. Strike, was occupied yesterday morning by Mr. G. Wilder, and in the evening by C. H. Allen, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Wilder gave a short bible talk from the 37th Psalm. The essence of the psalm as given in the bible is "David persecuted to patience and confidence in God, by the different estates of the good and the wicked." Mr. Wilder, in his usual clear and impressive manner, explained the psalm to the benefit of all. Mr. Allen took his text from the 8th chapter of Matthew, first, second, fifth and other verses, speaking on "The Attraction of Jesus Christ." At the latter end of the address he touched the great need of personal effort in all lines of work. Mr. Allen explained how Christ attracts men— attracts them as no other person could or ever did. The men of all walks and conditions of life come to Christ. The speaker explained in connection with the psalm how, when Christ came down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him, and in the 2nd verse, the leper comes to be healed. In the 5th comes the centurion—Jesus answered them when they asked to be healed. In the 7th, "I will," he said, and it was done. We are going to accept Christ we have got to say, "I will." Personal work did not consist entirely in becoming a Christian; we can do personal work in different ways. At the close of his address Mr. Allen illustrated personal work by a little quotation.

MISSION WORK IN INDIA.

The Presbyterians of Lindsay had the privilege yesterday of listening to a rare treat in an address delivered by Miss Sinclair, of Indore, India, to the scholars and friends of the S. S. This does not mean that all the Presbyterians, or even a fair proportion of them, took advantage of the opportunity of hearing something of the work that their church is doing in that far-off land, for as nearly as we could judge there were less than half a hundred present, and as is usual on those kind of occasions, were mostly of the female persuasion. Probably those who were not present had that tired feeling come over them that comes to some people—even Presbyterians—when the subject of missions is mentioned. One thing is sure, those who were present enjoyed a great treat, not only in Miss Sinclair's address, but in listening to the singing of the Sunday school, which Miss Sinclair complimented them on as being the best she had heard in Canada. The School itself was out in full force and in spite of the close, hot day, listened with wrapt attention to Miss Sinclair as she described the wonderful work that was being done in India for the children in the different schools conducted by the missionaries of the Canadian Church, who have the province of Central India set aside for them as their special preserve. Needless to say, everyone present went home with a better and more enlightened knowledge of how some of our fellow subjects of the great British Empire are living. Miss Sinclair speaks to the women on Thursday afternoon and we understand an invitation has been extended to the women's organizations of the other churches to come and hear her. We can promise them an interesting talk.

AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The address delivered by Mr. F. A. Robinson, a former secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., but now of Louisville, Ky., was listened to with interest by the small crowd present. Mr. Robinson spoke chiefly upon the first chapter of Daniel. In his remarks he explained how the small habits which we fall into when young keep growing upon us, and said if we want to become noble we must plant noble ideas in our minds and hearts. What sort of material are we putting into our lives? A large number of men of to-day are too contented. We all want to be better men, but not very many of us want to pay the cost. The speaker explained that there was no elevator to carry us to success—have simply got to climb. We have got to be gentlemen. David was a courteous and a gentle man. A true Christian is a true gentleman. Mr. Robinson showed how that we should be gentlemen in word as well as in deed and never let our tongues utter ungentlemanly things or let our lips be stained with impure stories. If a man sells his character it will never pay him; it is not what a man has in life, but what he is, that makes him a gentleman. Mr. Robinson's remarks were very inspiring to the men present, and they were pleased with his short address. The Y.M.C.A. gentlemen rendered a few selections before and after the addresses, and Mr. W. Webster acted as chairman.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

At the Baptist church yesterday the pastor, Rev. G. B. Welch, preached at both services. In the morning his subject was, "The City of the Faithful," based on the text Heb. 11: 10. The preacher showed that the city represented the spiritual Kingdom. He proved it to be a real city from the fact of the persistence of spiritual consciousness, the meaning which the spiritual factor gives to life, and by the satisfaction found in the verities of the Christian religion. The city is permanent, being built upon the foundation truths of Christ and his apostles. It is more glorious than either Jerusalem or Rome, because the glory of God is in it and the glorified saint dwell there. It is also the city of promise, being the Mecca of the Christian and the realization of all his hopes. Not only is the spiritual city real but its divine Architect and Builder also. The need of the age is a real God; not a Great Perhaps, but a Great I Am; not a mere Jewish historical God but a real God who lives and works to-day. This divine Builder is the All-wise and the All-kind and every life is a plan of God. We are all journeying somewhere—but whether? The city of the faithful is the true destination of the soul. In the evening Mr. Welch preached on "Destiny," and showed that time was the probation of eternity. Destiny is fixity of character, which is projected and carried forward in the next life. God and man combine in determining the soul's destiny. The all-important concern of each should be the development of a Christ-like character. The service was based on Rev. 22: 10-12. Large congregations were at both services.

Saturday's Market

The market was well attended Saturday by sellers, but buyers were rather scarce. A few of the prices were inclined to be higher. The produce of the Canadian here is still selling at 15c. for 1 lb. apples, 1c. each or 6 for 5c.; cranberries, 20c. per quart; chickens were scarce, but sold at 35c. for small and 50c. for large; pigs six weeks old sold at 36c. Hay has been coming in pretty fast, but a number of loads are of poor quality. The price is from 87 to 93c.

POISONED.

Rank Poison is Created when Food does not digest, and that is when Sickness Commences. If the man or woman who does not feel right, will at once look to putting the stomach right they will strike the right key—Every ache and every pain is a cry of poison, too much of which has been made in the process of converting food into nutriment. It may be the backache or sideache of the kidneys, telling they are overtaxed and cannot filter the poison. It may be weight, pain or distress in the stomach that tells of fermentation and decomposition instead of digestion—it may be headache, dull, depressed, which tells of poisons has reached the fluid which surrounds the brain cells. The first cause is the same—lack of gastric power to properly digest. ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, is a new discovery which so acts on the mucous membrane of the stomach, a natural supply of gastric juice is assured. To prove the wonderful action of ANTI-PILL, you may have a free trial bottle by addressing Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT

Opposite the G. T. R. Station Friday Afternoon.

CEO. F. LANDRY, A CALL BOY, FELL BETWEEN THE MOVING CARS, Sustaining Injuries Which Resulted in his Death Next Morning.

A shocking occurrence—which turned strong men pale, and overcame some of the seasoned railway men who are accustomed to sorrowful sights—took place Friday afternoon on No. 2 track, opposite the Grand Trunk passenger station, and resulted in George Francis Landry, a call boy, receiving injuries of so serious a nature that his death took place at about the same hour next morning at Ross Memorial Hospital.

It appears that a long double-headed freight train was on No. 2 track making ready to pull out for Belleville, and Landry was on the south side of it getting some particulars from the man at the weighing scales. Hearing the bell of the leading engine of the double-headed train ring, and wishing to get across before it started so as to save time, he swung himself up on the buffers between two of the cars. Just as he was reaching for the "grab bars" on the outer edges of the cars to assist his leap toward the train commenced to move, and in his haste the boy missed the bars and fell between the cars. In an instant one wheel had passed over his right leg in a diagonal direction from the thigh to a little above the knee, and the second wheel caught the lower part of his left foot.

The accident was witnessed by some railway men and others who were standing on the station platform and their shouts of horror caused the engineers to apply the brakes to the slowly moving cars. The poor lad, who had been rendered temporarily unconscious by the frightful pain, was carried into the baggage room, and in a couple of minutes Drs. Jeffers and Simpson, Grand Trunk surgeons, and Dr. Blanchard, were in attendance. After making the sufferer as easy as possible he was removed to Ross Hospital, where a consultation was held and the medical men decided that the boy's condition was very grave, being too weak to undergo amputation. Early in the evening Dr. Archdeacon Casey administered the consolations of the Roman Catholic church, and the end came, as stated above, about 3.30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Landry, who was sixteen years of age, had been in the service of the Grand Trunk as call boy for about six months, and was a general favorite with the station staff, and the various station crews owing to his ever cheerful disposition and unflinching courtesy. Previous to assuming duty at the station young Landry was employed for a time by Mr. N. Hoekie, and the latter heard the news of the accident with deep sorrow, as he thought very highly of the boy and desired to keep him in his store.

Deceased was the son of Mr. Felix Landry, car-tapper in the local yard. The bereaved father and mother and brothers and sisters will have the sympathy of all citizens in their deep affliction.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The social to be held on Mr. John and surrounding villages are expected to attend. Mr. J. J. Whitty, of the horse-shoer has become so widely spread that work has been coming to him within a radius of ten miles from our village. It is probable that indications are any criterion to go by he will soon find it necessary to take

WOODVILLE
(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Don't forget the Muskoka trip next week. The Oddfellows, of Beaverton, are holding their annual excursion to the Royal Muskoka this year on Wednesday, June 15. There is always a good crowd from here and no doubt this year will sustain the record. It is a very pleasant and profitable day's outing. The fare is $1.35 from Woodville.

Mrs. Farrow and Miss Farrow, of Sunderland, are spending a couple of weeks with friends in and around here.
Donald Fraser, of Kirkfield, was a guest of the Queen's hotel on Frifers of real estate in that village.

Mrs. Neil McLeod left for the city

Quite a number of citizens, including the band, took in the excursion to Niagara last week. As the weather was very unfavorable, the lake was rather rough, and the trip was not a very enjoyable one.

Mr. E. A. Davis, of Nanawau, representing the Naxon Machine Co., of Ingersoll, called on the local agent, last week, and succeeded in booking up some nice business.
Mr. Davis reports that owing to the prospects of the most abundant hay crop the country has seen for some time the sale of mowers is far in excess of other years at the same date.

We are pleased to see the interest some of our citizens are taking in the appearance of our streets in keeping the grass out. We would say to all,
"go thou and do likewise."
Mr. J. J. Vanecko, the right man in the right place. He has made a great improvement on his premises, and when completed will be in a position to supply his customers with farm machinery and all kinds of ve-

Our Council has had the old buildings removed from the rear of the new town hall grounds, which makes a decided improvement to that part of the village.
A well contested game of baseball was played on the agricultural park on Monday evening, Married v.s. the Unmarried Men. At the end of the 5th innings the score stood 5-8 in favor of the married men, proving that they still know how to handle the ball. We must say to the credit of the players, that the practice of this game is a field of a very for-mable team. We learn that the second game of the series is to be played on Friday evening.

The Queen's hotel, under the management of D. J. McKee, is becoming more popular with the travelling public day by day. The house received a thorough overhauling this spring, and it will now compete favorably with any hotel to be found outside the larger towns or cities. Mr. McKee, who has had many years' experience in the hotel business has by his obliging and painstaking manner, built up a trade, he may well feel proud of.

Mr. Robt. Findlay, of Lindsay, travelling salesman for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., was in town last week calling on the Co.'s local agent,
Mr. Jas. Vanstone.
Mr. Jos. Staples, our energetic and hustling dealer in pianos, organs, sewing machines, buggies, etc., reports business as growing steadily year by year. By his dealing and a courteous manner, he has worked up a connection with the farming community that enables him to do a business direct from his warehouse, without the aid of canvassers going about the country. A great deal of the business booked the present season is reached him through mail orders. He is looking forward to one of the most successful years he has had for some time.

Miss Mary McCallum, of Lindsay,
L. C. I., is home for the vacations.

TO POST TOWN SUBSCRIBERS.
Delivery of Weekly by Mail.
As it is becoming increasingly difficult to secure a prompt and careful delivery of The Weekly Post to town subscribers by route boys, we have decided—in the best interests of our many readers—to adopt the plan now being followed in many towns and take advantage of the mails. [This method, we are convinced, will result in better satisfaction.]

DUNSFORD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Messrs. E. Woollard and son are now occupying their new premises and have added a full line of hardware. All lines to be found in the larger towns or cities are kept in stock.

Mr. N. Mulligan, our enterprising young merchant, reports business as thriving in his line and has laid in a full up-to-date stock to meet the requirements of his many patrons.

Our new station is nearing completion, and in the next two weeks we hope to hear at least the whining of the ballasting engine. Dun-ford will then be on a par with the outside world, and with a railway in our midst, we hope to grow to dimensions that will compare favorably with all other towns.

The Rev. C. Cook, Methodist minister, attended conference last week, but will occupy the pulpit in the church here next Sunday.

Mr. Fred Woollard has invented a new rubber tired buggy and made his initial trip in it to Bobaygon last Sunday. He says the results were satisfactory.

Mr. E. Woollard, of the Kawartha drug store, Bobaygon, visited at the parental roof here last Sabbath.

stock on Wedne day by Messrs. Moore

Mrs. H. McQuade is again recovered from a severe attack of pneumonia.

The village has been enlivened in the evening by music from an excellent gramophone, much ahead of the brass band.

There will be a large crowd go to Lindsay to meet the Victoria "Old Boys" on Dominion day.

The water in Pigeon river was never so high at this season of the year before, and now is the time for some of the Lindsay boats to open up the navigation with the Trent Valley.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We advise everybody to use Sunlight Soap—it makes child's play of work.

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

CHAPTER I.

"Ho, ho, John Topp!" said the boys. "You daren't tackle him, that's what it is. The stranger can thrash you, and you know it."

Now, I knew nothing of the sort, and, in fact, rather fancied that I could thrash Alexander Ireland as easily as I had every other boy in Whitby, but the others were jealous of my prowess, and therefore egged me on to tackle the stranger in the hope that he might prove too smart for me. For thus their broken noses and lost teeth would be avenged.

I was at that time a bull necked, squarely built young lot of 15, and Alec was dark haired, slender and wiry, and about six months my senior. I was the best fighter in Whitby—even Dan Asquith, the squint eyed butcher's boy, said so—and I had a reputation to lose. Alec was a newcomer to the town and had none.

"Come on, carrot head!" I cried, stung at last into action by the jeers which I affected to despise. "Let us see which of us two is to be cock."

But the stranger kept his hands in his pockets.

"Why should I fight?" he asked gravely. "I haven't quarrelled with you."

"Afraid?" said I contemptuously. "Right! Say I can beat you, and you shan't have your thrashing."

"No," he replied steadily. "I am not afraid of you, but I don't choose to fight for nothing."

"That's all, brag," I said, as I edged up to him. "You've either got to fight or acknowledge you're afraid," and I gave him a shove with my shoulder.

"All right then; I'll fight."

And without more words we stripped and got to.

For an hour and a half by the church clock the fight went on, each of us doggedly determined to come up to the mark so long as his trembling knees would support him.

At last the end came, and it was Ireland who eventually struck the knock-out blow. How many rounds we fought I do not know, but at last I felt that unless I could finish him off quickly I should not be able to toe the mark the next time the squire called out.

So, summoning up all of my raving energies for one last slashing blow that would make me the victor and him insensible, I rushed at him like a mad cart horse. He did not flinch, but stood his ground waiting for me.

Dodging my blow, he seized my left hand with his right, ducked his head under my arm, whipped his other hand between my legs and before any one could tell exactly what had happened I had flown over his head and was lying on the ground with all the wind knocked out of me like corn out of a burst bag. It was all done in less than a couple of seconds, and as I had fallen on my head, I lay quiet enough.

"Alec Ireland," I said when I had recovered. "I own you have given me a thorough drubbing. Will you shake hands?"

"No, no," he said. "You had the best of it for the last fall, and if it hadn't been for that south country trick by which I lifted you over my shoulder I should have had to knuckle under to you."

Such was the beginning of my friendship with Alexander Ireland. On that very night we took together the solemn sailors' oath, by which we became sworn shipmates for life, and to this day we have neither of us broken it.

My new friend and I quickly found that we had a great deal in common. The perils and pleasures of the sea had always had an entrancing fascination for me, and when I discovered that Alec shared my passion for salt water my previously vague longings became suddenly crystallized into a definite purpose—I would be a sailor.

Consequently it soon became the greatest enjoyment of my leisure time to sit in the dark little parlor of the Angel and listen to the tales of the old seamen who frequented it—tales of the great captains they had known and sailed under, who, caring as little for the violence of the tropical hurricane as for the ice grip of the cold north, had braved the storms of unknown oceans in their stout little ships and had brought back from every clime its choicest treasures to lay them at the feet of our sovereign lady, good Queen Bess.

There was, however, one thing, and that no small one, over which Alec and I very nearly quarrelled. And what should that be if not a woman? For it is woman's bright smile and coyly drooping eye which shatter half the friendships of man with man, even when the longed for down has hardly yet appeared on the upper lip and the razor is still a joy to be gloated over in secret.

Inez was her name, and she was the daughter of Don Miguel, a Spanish gentleman who had for a reason which I did not then know taken up his residence in Whitby. I had known her since she was a child of 10 and had never thought of her more than of any other girl in Whitby until one day I chanced to see her in the street with a new gown on. It was a wonderful gown—the skirt of it was slashed and puffed out to the size of a 40 gallon case—and as I looked and marveled it suddenly struck me that the laughing face above it was the most bewitching I had ever seen. Perhaps it was the fine dress that did it, and perhaps it was the pretty mouth that smiled and wished me a "good day." I am not quite sure which it was, but the next time I met her in the lane near her father's house I asked her to be my sweetheart. After a few blushes and a few kisses she said she would, and I was the proudest lad in Whitby.

Alec, however, was not pleased at my success, and very soon he told me so. "Jack," he said, "I didn't think my sworn shipmate would prove a traitor."

"A traitor!" I exclaimed. "It's a hard word, and I don't know what I have done to deserve it. How am I a traitor?"

"She is a Spaniard, Jack. The Spaniards are the queen's enemies, and you and I have said we meant to fight for the queen."

"Inez is no one's enemy." "But her father, Don Miguel, is a Spaniard."

"Yes; I suppose he is. Is that all you have to accuse him of?" I asked, somewhat nettled at his persistence.

"Isn't it enough? I tell you that every Spaniard is an enemy to England and Queen Bess, and since my father, Captain Harry Ireland, was murdered by the Spaniards every Spaniard is an enemy to me."

"And shall be to me, too," I said as I gripped his hand. "But I don't see that the rule applies to the daughters."

"Spanish daughters become Spanish mothers, Jack."

"Not when they marry Englishmen." "Do you mean to marry Inez, then?" he said, looking at me earnestly.

"Yes; when I am old enough, if she will have me."

"No fear of her refusing a stout Englishman! Well, if that is so I will say no more, although I admit I don't like it."

But, although Alec agreed to let me have my way, I could see that he was displeased at what I was doing, and his displeasure at first angered and then grieved me.

"Alec," I said to him one day, "I'm going to see Inez tonight. Will you come with me?"

"Do you really want me to go?" "Yes, Alec, I do."

"Will her father be there?" "No. We never see him in the evening."

"Then, if you are sure of that, I will go. But have you never guessed, Jack, why it is that you never see Don Miguel in the evening?"

"Because he is busy in his workshop." "At what sort of work?"

"How should I know? I never asked him."

"I will tell you. He is an alchemist."

"What?" I cried. "Are you sure of that, Alec? Alchemy! Why, it's the devil's own trade."

"So they say. But to me it seems that if the devil had any favor for the work, alchemists would be richer than they are. It's an ill trade, though, at best and not the one I should choose for my comrade's father-in-law."

This news of Alec's troubled me, for, though he declared that the devil could have no share in such profitless toil, yet I had always been told that every alchemist had sold himself to Satan, and I more than half believed it. Still, I argued that Inez was not to be blamed for her father's sins, and in the end Alec agreed with me.

After that night I never had any more disagreement with him on the subject of my love-making. Inez fairly laughed and sang herself into his good graces. She had the sweetest voice I ever heard, and as she sat in a corner by the fire and sang us quaint little sea songs that her nurse, Ann Garrat, had taught her I wondered whether the mermaids that the old sailors of the Angel spoke of were one-half so sweet and pretty as my own little Spanish sweetheart.

"Why, Jack," said Alec as we walked home from her house, "she is hardly a Spaniard at all, except for her black hair and eyes. No Whitby girl could have sung those English sea songs with a prettier accent than she did."

"No Whitby girl could have sung them half so well," I answered warmly, "and, as for her being English, her nurse Spain almost as much as you do, and she won't allow Inez to speak a word of Spanish in her hearing."

"Well, she's a sweet girl, Jack, and I'm glad of it for your sake. It's a pity, though, that her father is a Spaniard."

I said nothing in reply to this, for, to tell the truth, I was not much more in love with the curly Don Miguel than was Alec. By and by, as we walked, Alec began to hum a tune, and after a short time he sang the words too. It was the last song Inez had sung to us, and I remember the chorus went like this:

Then, an, for the cruel creeping waves,
With their clay cold lips of spray;
But, hi, for the merry dancing waves
That with the sunbeams play!

"Take care, Alec," I said, with a laugh. "You'll be falling in love with Inez yourself."

"No, no, Jack; I like her, it is true, but I'll never be a rival to my sworn shipmate."

Nevertheless when I said "Good night" to him and turned in at my father's gate I heard him go singing down the road, and the words that came floating up the breeze to me sounded suspiciously familiar. It seemed to me that what he sang was:

Hi, for the merry dancing waves!
And the tune, at any rate, was the same.

CHAPTER II.

Before Alec's arrival on the scene I grieve to say that besides being one of the greatest dunces in the school I was also, so the master said, the most troublesome young scampage he ever had the misfortune to cane. He told my father that he could not conscientiously take any blame to himself for my deplorable ignorance and depravity, as he would warrant that there was scarcely a square inch of my ungaily carcass that his ferule or birch broom had not scored. I was innately wicked, he declared, and my poor father groaned and said he feared the schoolmaster was right.

There was really some justification for this belief of my father's, for all my ten brothers (I was the youngest of 11) were either doing well or giving promise of it, and I was the only one who had ever given my worthy parents the least trouble. The others were mostly parsons, or on the way to become parsons; so, as my father, too, was in the church, there was plenty of piety in the family, but I am very much afraid that the collective goodness of all my relatives was more than balanced by my individual depravity. I have heard my mother say—and it has never occurred to me to doubt it—that the first use I made of my legs after I learned the art of locomotion was to walk straight into a scrape. It is a habit I have not dropped with increase of years.

Now, however, I had for the first time a companion who, like myself, appeared to be happiest when in trouble, and for the next two years Alec and I continued to live in a state of intermittent rebellion with those in authority, and the pursuit of it continually led us into hot water. Now it would be a scuffle with his lordship's men for snarling his lordship's grouse, now a brawl in a tavern and now, again, a threat or severe punishment for scaring half the town with a turnip lantern on a dark winter's night. Once we went off for a whole week and lived like conies among the hills, and on another occasion we hid ourselves in a ship's hold and sailed down to Scarborough in her and then tramped the whole way back over the moors on foot.

Adventures like these cemented our friendship and taught us to be quick and ready in emergencies, but they did not tend to increase our popularity with those in authority, and to such an extent did our ill repute spread that when anything went wrong or any evil was committed of which the perpetrators were not at once discovered every finger pointed to Alexander Ireland and John Topp as the culprits. And, truth to tell, these judicial digits did not often point askew.

Alec, indeed, pursued his studies with some amount of diligence; but as for me the perpetual war which I waged with the schoolmaster was far too bitter to admit of my profiting by his efforts to instruct me. I increased, therefore, in very little except stature, but in that I bid fair to be pre-eminent in Whitby.

My eventual sudden departure from the town was caused by the unexpected boiling over of a pan of water, and this is how it came about:

I had gone to see my sweetheart Inez, and Alec had, as usual, accompanied me. He still took great pleasure in the sea songs she used to sing to us, and, besides, his presence was a help to our love-making, as he was always willing to converse with Dame Garrat and so divert her attention from Inez to me when we happened to wish to speak of anything of an especially private nature. We had a pre-arranged system of signals by which I could always let him know when I wanted him to talk louder than usual, and, to tell the truth, our knowledge of the code was in no danger of growing rusty from want of use.

On this particular night, however, the conversation had been of other times and places than our own. We had been discussing the marvelous wealth of the new world, and Alec and I had fought a wordy battle about the relative merits of glory and gold. He was all for glory, and I was for gold first and glory only as an afterthought when the gold was safe below hatches.

"Jack," said Inez to me when Alec and I had, in our despair of converting one another, come to a controversial deadlock, "there are other ways of making gold than by fighting for it."

"Yes, sweetheart, I know there are," I answered, "but you would not have me to become a snug faced merchant?"

"No, but there are other ways still." "How?"

"By alchemy."

"The devil's work!" I cried. "My father's work, Jack," replied Inez gravely.

"Yes, sweetheart, and I wish it were not," I began when Alec interrupted me.

"Jack, my boy, you're a fool. How can the devil have anything to do with it? The trade's respectable enough, though it doesn't seem to be very profitable to its professors—a sure sign, by the way, that it's an honest one."

"Jack," said Inez, "will you see for yourself?"

"Visit Don Miguel at his work?" "Yes."

"Not I!" I said, with a shudder. "I should expect to be enchanted."

Alec, however, chafed me for my superstitious fears and said that nothing would please him better than to see how the work was done. Now, to be called a coward in the hearing of my sweetheart was naturally more than I could stand, so I told Alec I would go with him.

Inez said there was a window in the pantry from which we could see Don Miguel's laboratory without his knowing that any one was watching him, so we stationed ourselves there. Alec was all curiosity to see what was going on; but, though I tried to conceal my fears, I was horribly afraid that some unholy sight would meet my eyes. From my cradle I have been taught that it is always safest to shun the devil and his works, and I believe it to be a thoroughly good rule.

Don Miguel's laboratory was a fearsome place. There were rows upon rows of retorts and flasks of various quaint shapes, shelves with big, dusty, learned looking books on them, cases of bottles containing tinctures of various colors, both dull and bright; charcoal furnaces, and steaming vats of bubbling liquids. The floor was marked out into arcs, circles, triangles and every sort of uncanny geometrical figure, and one corner of the room was entirely filled by a large blast furnace, over which Don Miguel was leaning, intently watching some substance that was rising and gurgling in an earthenware crucible.

There was no light in the room except that which the glow of the furnace gave, and as at each blast it burned up brightly and shone for a moment on the pale, eager face of the alchemist and then died away in a gloom again which by contrast was almost darkness I thought I had never gazed upon such an uncanny scene.

As we watched we saw that a critical point in the process had evidently been reached. The Spaniard was trembling and muttering as he peered into the crucible whenever the dragon's breath of the furnace gave him light, and, though we could not hear what he said, it was perfectly clear that he was wildly excited—unless, perhaps, it was the working of madness that we saw.

By and by he seemed to see the sign for which he was looking. With a low cry of delight, more like the yapping of a dog than anything else, he stopped the furnace blast and lit a rushlight candle. Then he took the crucible from the flames and poured the contents into another vessel.

For four or five minutes he held it up to the light, and during all that time, as he watched the silent workings of his bell broth in the vessel, I never once saw his eyelids blink. Then he gave a wild, unearthly yell of delight, which made my very marrow run cold, as though a tub of water had been thrown over me, and as his excited utterance became louder we could now hear what he said:

"It turns! It turns! The color—the lovely blood red color! See how it rises, red showing through the green! Success has come to me at last, and tomorrow I shall have gold! Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha! Gold, gold, gold!"

At this moment one of the flasks that had been gurgling and spluttering in another corner suddenly boiled over, and the liquid fell, hissing, on to the charcoal embers. A cloud of steam rose into the air, and at the sight my overstrained nerves could bear the tension no longer, and I uttered a sharp cry. The Spaniard heard it, and it made him start involuntarily. Some of the decoction in the vessel he was holding splashed over and burned his hand. With a yell of pain he let the vessel fall, and the precious essence was spilled on the floor, over which it ran in an oily stream, burning with a blue, sulphurous flame. He looked up at the window, saw our white scared faces peering at him, and with another yell (of rage this time) he snatched up a sword that was lying on a table and made a rush for the door.

"Fly, Jack, fly! He'll murder you!" cried Inez as she pushed me away from the window.

I snatched a hurried kiss from her and fled, and Alec with me.

Down the lane we ran with all the speed that fear gave us and Don Miguel hard on our heels. We gained on him slightly and, taking advantage of the darkness, doubled and crouched down under the side of a haystack. He did not see our maneuver, and we breathed more freely as the sound of his footsteps grew fainter in the distance.

"A near shave, that!" I said as we made over some fields to avoid meeting the Spaniard as he returned.

"Yes," replied Alec, "but why did you run?"

"For the same reason as you did, I suppose," I answered, somewhat surly.

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant he may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects.

The DRAINS, either by nightly losses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the BLOOD must be purified, nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active; the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no pay. THE TWO SCHEMES.

The chief points of contrast between the Grand Trunk Pacific project and the Canadian Pacific project which the Conservatives launched are these:

1. The Canadian Pacific is from end to end the property of the company which was chartered and subsidized to build it. The Dominion will own one-half of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and will be part proprietor of the other half through a line held as security for guarantee of interest.

2. The Dominion Government constructed two costly sections of the Canadian Pacific—from Lake Superior to Winnipeg and from Kamloops to the Pacific ocean—and made a present of these completed portions to the company. The Grand Trunk Pacific from Winnipeg to near the Atlantic Ocean will be built by the Government, but will remain the property of the people of Canada in perpetuity.

3. Parliament granted to the Canadian Pacific a subsidy of $25,000,000. The only financial aid given to the Grand Trunk Pacific is a guarantee of interest—which will not cost the country anything—to the capitalists who furnish the means of construction west of Winnipeg. On the section east of Winnipeg, which will be built and owned by Government, the country will receive a rental sufficient to pay interest on the sum invested.

4. Parliament gave the Canadian Pacific 25,000,000 acres of land, including the privilege of establishing town sites. Not an acre of land, except for right of way and station facilities, is given to the Grand Trunk Pacific. To enhance this discrimination, the Canadian Pacific lands were made free of taxation for twenty years unless "sold or occupied." This has so far been held to mean twenty years from the actual specific conveyance of the lands to the corporation, not from the date of the agreement—a difference which means many additional millions of dollars to the Canadian Pacific.

5. As far as it was possible to do so the Dominion Parliament gave the Canadian Pacific Co. a monopoly of the traffic of the Dominion west of Lake Superior, by prohibiting the building of other lines, except such as would of necessity become feeders of the Canadian Pacific. The Grand Trunk Pacific Company must take its chances in competition with existing trunk lines and with any others that may hereafter be chartered and constructed.

6. Parliament granted to the Canadian Pacific virtually absolute control of transportation charges west of Lake Superior. The absolute control of such charges on the Grand Trunk Pacific is vested in the Dominion. The difference is made clearly apparent by the fact that, so far as its main line is concerned, the Canadian Pacific cannot be brought under the control of the Railway Commission recently created by Parliament, whereas the Grand Trunk Pacific is placed under that control by the terms of its charter. 7. No attempt was made by Parliament to grant running powers to other companies over the portions of the Canadian Pacific constructed by the Dominion Government. Running powers over the portion of the Grand Trunk Pacific constructed by the Government may be obtained by any other company, subject to the operative control of the Grand Trunk Pacific Company so far as that is necessary to the safety of passengers and property.

8. The Canadian Pacific was allowed to import construction material free of duty. The Grand Trunk Pacific enjoys no such privilege. As far as possible, its material must be made or purchased in Canada. Where it imports material that cannot be procured here, it must pay duty.

9. When the Canadian Pacific was finished it possessed little more in the older provinces than its main line from Rat Portage to Montreal. A system of feeders led to be laboriously built up. The Grand Trunk Pacific, on the other hand, will commence operations with all the lines and equipment of the Grand Trunk proper, behind it in the older provinces, which mean that the Eastern manufacturer will at once be placed in direct communication with his customers in the West and insured lower rates.

10. The Canadian Pacific, though built as a national undertaking, was semi-Americanized from the first. Its Soo line to-day carries wheat from Minneapolis to the seaboard for less than the main line charges from Winnipeg; in other words, treats the farmers of Dakota and Minnesota better than the main line treats those of Manitoba. Further, although St. John, N. B. is the winter port of the Canadian Pacific, its line thither runs for 200 miles through the state of Maine. The Grand Trunk Pacific will traverse Canadian soil from start to finish, will send all unroasted freight to Canadian ports, is under obligation not to discriminate in rates against those ports, and will run too far north to become tied up as the Canadian Pacific is with the rival interests of Minnesota and Dakota.

11. The Canadian Pacific did comparatively little for the older provinces in the way of opening up new territory. Its main line west hugs the Lake Superior shore, which is sterile and unfit for settlement. The Grand Trunk Pacific will open up a vast back country between Moncton and Winnipeg, containing 150,000,000 acres of well timbered land, much of it fit for agriculture, with deposits of mica, copper, nickel and iron and with water powers of enormous capacity. It stands to reason that the development of this region must add to the wealth and importance of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick. That part of Canada will no longer be a mere fringe. The older provinces have done much for the west; they are now helping the west again and at the same time doing something for themselves.

FEATURES OF THE BUDGET.

(Toronto Globe.)

Mr. Fielding dealt with admitted tariff inequalities requiring immediate treatment. There will be a thorough and detailed revision probably next session after an inquiry by members of the Government similar to that made in 1897.

A maximum general tariff, a minimum general tariff and the British preference will be adopted when the fiscal question is dealt with in detail. The highest scale of duties will be applied to countries whose trade policy is hostile to Canada, and the lower scale to countries that deal fairly with us, while the preference is to be kept for the firm of John Bull & Co.

The minimum duty on tweeds, coatings, overcoatings and other woollen goods, with the exception of blankets, bed comforters or counterpanes when imported under the preferential tariff is fixed at 30 per cent. Present minimum 23 1/2 per cent.

A special duty will be imposed upon goods "dumped" or "slaughtered" in Canada, being the difference between the sacrifice price and the fair market value of the goods. On certain articles of iron and steel on which bounties are paid this special duty is not to exceed 15 per cent. ad valorem, and in other cases the limit of special duty is 50 per cent. of the present duty.

The minimum duty on twine and cordage under the preference is raised to 20 per cent. ad valorem from 16 2/3 per cent.

The maximum duty under the British preference on china and porcelain ware is reduced from 20 to 15 per cent. ad valorem; that on common and colorless window glass from 13 1/3 per cent. to 7 1/2 per cent.

The duty on refined petroleum (coal oil) is reduced from 5 to 2 1/2 cents per gallon. Fuel oil for manufacturing purposes is placed on the free list. The duty on crude petroleum is wiped out and a bounty of 1 1/2 cents per gallon is to be given to the crude oil producers of Canada. The duty on paraffine wax candles is reduced from 30 to 25 per cent.; that on paraffine from 30 to 25 per cent.; that on illuminating oils costing more than 30 cents per gallon from 25 to 20 per cent.; vaseline 35 to 25 per cent.; that on lubricating oils from 5 cents to 2 1/2 cents per gallon; that on lubricating oils n.e.s. and axle grease from 25 to 20 per cent.

Pails and tubs of wood are made dutiable at 25 instead of 20 per cent. The minimum value for duty of open buggies is fixed at $40, and that of covered buggies at $50.

To the list of prohibited goods is added stallions and mares of less value than $50 each.

The duty on plate glass not bevelled in sheets or panes not exceeding seven square feet each, n.e.s., is lowered to 10 per cent. ad valorem. On the same material in sheets or panes exceeding seven square feet and not exceeding 25 square feet each the duty will be 25 per cent. ad valorem.

The duty on silk fabrics imported by manufacturers of men's underwear for use exclusively in their own factories is reduced to 10 per cent. ad valorem.

Molasses from any country entitled to the British preference is placed in the free list.

The free list is further extended to comprise the following: Printing presses not made in Canada, whole oil soap, plain basic photographic paper, hydro-fluo-silicic acid, glass for the manufacture of photographic dry plates, ferment cultures for butter making, machinery not made in Canada for the manufacture of certain goods, well drilling machinery not made in Canada, but not to include motive power, artificial teeth, guano, juice, crude petroleum fuel and gas oils. The free admission of machinery and applications not made in Canada used exclusively in alluvial gold mining is extended until 1st July, 1905.

Estimated revenue for the current year, $71,000,000; ordinary expenditure, inclusive of sinking fund payments, $54,500,000; capital expenditure $11,500,000; surplus over all current and capital expenditures, $7,500,000, inclusive of $2,500,000 added to the sinking fund. The debt of Canada to-day is about a million dollars less than when the Liberals came to power, although immense public works have been undertaken and carried to completion.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A surplus of $14,355,000. Compare that with Foster's long line of deficits.

Hon. Mr. Fielding will clip $7,500,000 off Canada's national debt this year. In the N. P. days Foster et al. used to clip on a few millions every year.

"In the last seven years," said Sir Richard Cartwright, "the revenue of Canada has quadrupled; the value and volume of trade in seven years has doubled that of the previous thirty years, and to-day our population is increasing in all probability at the rate of 1,000 per cent., certainly at the rate of 500 per cent., faster than it was in the decade before."

Bob, Independent: Lord Dunsford has put his foot in it, in fact he has put both feet in, and dropped to his neck. He let himself loose on Saturday night and said that if the Hon. Mr. Fisher knew as much about soldiering as he does of agriculture he would not interfere in the military department. When Dunsford knows one-tenth part as much about Canada as Mr. Fisher does, he will arrive at the conclusion that the climate of England is necessary to his health.

The number of deaths by drowning from capsized canoes, and the readiness with which they capsize, have led a correspondent of the New York Herald to give the following instructions as to what to do by a person who has been capsized:

As soon as the canoe capsizes the thing to do, without getting excited, is to right her. Of course she will be full of water. Do not attempt to get any of the water out, because that is generally impossible, but climb over either the side or the end, and when you do this the chances are that she will sink under the water, but as she feels the weight of your body lightening she will rise to the surface, and then for you to lie down in the boat, resting your head on the thwart or the crosspiece toward the end, where you can remain until picked up. The fact that your arm or arms may be out of the water so that you can wave to persons on the shore or on passing boats, will not materially affect the flotation of your boat. Not only one person can do this, but two.

NATURE'S CURE FOR CHILDREN.

Soothing medicines, opiates and strong drugs should never be given to little children, any doctor will tell you this. Baby's Own Tablets should be used because they cannot harm the smallest, weakest infant. These tablets instantly relieve and promptly cure all stomach and bowel troubles, break up colds, prevent croup, destroy worms, and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. Thousands of mothers say they are the best medicine in the world; one of these, Mrs. R. Scullard, Calabogie, Ont., writes: "I have tried many remedies for children, but Baby's Own Tablets is the best I have ever used. I have been giving them occasionally to my child since he was six months old. They have always kept him well, and he is a healthy baby." All medicine dealers sell these tablets or you can get them post paid at 25 cents a box by writing to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO.

Cobocok-Lindsay-Lakefield Service Will be inaugurated June 15th.

The complete summer service of the Trent Valley Navigation Company will come into effect next Wednesday, June 15th, when the Ste. Manita will give a daily service between Cobocok, Fenelon Falls and Lindsay; Esturion, double trip service between Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point and Lindsay; Ogema, double trips between Bobcaygeon and Barleight Falls; Empress, double trips between Barleight Falls, Stony Lake, points and Lakefield. The boats of the company will thus cover the entire Kawartha Lakes route, and give a superb service. Meals served on all except the Manita, which stops at Fenelon Falls morning and evening to enable passengers to secure meals at the hotels—d.w.l.

SOME Y. M. C. A. CHARGES.

Meals Will be Given to Railway Men in Future.

On or before July 1st a number of changes will take place in the local Tower and Railroad Y. M. C. A., one of which will be the removal of Mr. Geach, the present caretaker, who deems it best for his family and himself to vacate the premises and to remove to his old home on William-st. He will likely resume his former position with Horn Bros. The rooms which Mr. Geach now occupies, along with a number of others, will be rented to the railroad men, many of whom have already sent in applications. Meals will be served to the Railroad men, so that they will then be able to have both rooms and meals. The Association also expect to have meals ready for anybody who desires to have a small lunch. The charges will be welcomed by a large circle of railroad men and also a number of our citizens, who will be able on some busy day to drop in and get a lunch in much less time than it will take to go to their homes.

Bit of Advice by John L. Sullivan.

The redoubtable and only John L. is credited with giving this advice to two small boys who paid homage to his shrine not long ago: "Boys, if you want to get along do your work. Work is the only thing that makes men happy and successful. Don't be like the boy whose father wrote to the boy's boss asking where his son slept. The answer the man sent back was: 'We don't know where your son sleeps at night; he sleeps in the shop daytimes.'"

Home From India.

Orilla News-Letter: Prof. Adolph Lehmann arrived home from India on Monday last for a couple of months' visit to his parents here. Prof. Lehmann, who is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, is in the employ of the Mysore Government and has had supervision of its agricultural interests for the past five years. "The farms there are exceptionally large," remarked the professor humorously, "three acres being a good sized farm." Apples are about the only northern fruit which can be grown, but they require great care and when marketed sell for $1 a dozen. Raspberries also grow, but like other tropical fruit they are somewhat insipid. Ragi, something like our millet, is the principal crop of the country.

FAVOR ABOLISHING THE BARS,

And Want the Bible Taught in the Schools of the Province.

At the meeting of the Anglican Synod in Toronto last week the report of the committee on temperance reform dealt at length with the evils of the liquor traffic, suggested remedies to lessen them, deprecated the treating habit and the promiscuous use of intoxicants in households, advocated the abolition of THE BAR, and the suppression of private by public control. A measure of total prohibition was, the committee believed, against the best interests of the province, for it would have the effect of creating a criminal class which did not at present exist. On the other hand, however, they held "local option," especially in villages, contiguous to towns or cities, and in urban suburbs, to be effective and practicable.

The committee appointed some time ago to confer with representatives of other religious bodies as to taking steps to secure religious instruction in the public schools was re-appointed. Rev. T. W. Allan is chairman.

A lively discussion took place at this point as to whether it was advisable to "introduce the Bible into the public schools of Ontario as a compulsory text book." Rev. J. Pitt Lewis and S. H. Blake, K.C., delivered forceful and interesting addresses, in which they deprecated the lack of manners in the average school child of to-day. They attributed it to the lack of religious instruction. The latter speaker, referring to the college founded in Philadelphia by the late Mr. Gerrard and re-appointed, stated that one of the chief text books of that institution was the Holy Bible. A motion to the effect that the Bible be adopted in the public schools was unanimously adopted.

Sued by His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used, as I had good reasons to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this—in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all druggists.

Profits Must be Large.

According to present indications, the public may look for good service in the coal and wood lines the coming fall and winter. Some four or five firms will be engaged in the business and Mr. W. J. Wright, of Port Hope, who has conducted a coal and wood shed there for the past thirty-two years, was in town lately and may possibly locate with us in the same business, if a suitable opening presents itself. Some of the dealers are already making a canvass of the town for orders, and beyond all question the war must naturally prove warm. It will be a case of the survival of the fittest.

The Weekly Post

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JUNE 17

ACQUITTED BY THE FACTS.

(The Globe.)

It will be generally admitted that the introduction of political feeling in the militia would be to do a great disservice to the volunteer forces of which the country is so proud. Let us see what the facts tell us as to who was guilty of doing this in connection with the organization of the 13th Light Scottish Dragoons in the eastern townships. We have the testimony of Sir Frederick Borden, the Minister of Militia, that Mr. Fisher, his colleague, was the first to suggest the formation of a cavalry corps in the eastern townships. His ideas were adopted, a commanding officer was appointed and a list of officers finally submitted for approval. Was it at all out of the way that the man who had first advocated the formation of the corps and who was also the member of the Government more particularly identified with that district should have been consulted as to the names of the officers?

When he examined the list of officers suggested he found the following facts in connection with one squadron, which it had been originally arranged should have Adamsville for its headquarters. Senator Baker is the leading Conservative of the district. Five of the officers nominated for this squadron are relatives of Senator Baker. John M. Gibson is a nephew of Senator Baker. Mr. G. H. Baker is a son of Senator Baker. Mr. Thor. R. Pickell is a son-in-law of Senator Baker, and, finally, Mr. T. F. Cotton is a son-in-law of Mr. John M. Gibson, and grand nephew of Senator Baker. Now if all these gentlemen had possessed military qualifications there would still have been objections to officering the squadron with a family compact of this kind. But when the case is considered from the point of fitness it was still less defensible. Dr. Pickell, whose appointment made him a field officer, had no military experience, and had never shown the faintest interest in the militia. Yet he was made squadron commander, and for his convenience headquarters were changed from Adamsville to Sweetsburg.

Mr. Fisher objected to placing a gentleman with absolutely no knowledge of military matters at the head of the squadron, and expressed the opinion that some position of lower rank would be more fitting for Dr. Pickell in view of his lack of knowledge and experience. Did Mr. Fisher suggest that the majority be filled by a Liberal? No, his proposition was that Mr. Thor. M. Gibson, a strong Conservative and spoken of in connection with the Conservative nomination for Mississquoi, should be the Major. He is a graduate of the Military College at Kingston, and that fact alone, Mr. Fisher urged, pointed him out as the proper person for the command. Mr. Fisher further urged on Cols. Smart and Whitley that provisional Lieut. Baker, Senator Baker's son, who had been in camp one year, should be Captain. To further show that Mr. Fisher was actuated solely by desire for the success of the regiment he criticized the appointment of Mr. W. H. Russell as Major of the Stanbridge squadron. In the same squadron appeared the name of Lieut. Holland, who so distinguished himself in South Africa and subsequently received the Victoria Cross for gallant action in the field. Mr. Russell is one of the prominent Liberals of Mississquoi, but Mr. Fisher felt that Lieut. Holland's experience gave him higher claims on the chief command of the squadron over any other competitor. Mr. Fisher interested himself in the cases of two other Conservatives, Lieut. Gay Carr, whom he knew as an old cavalry officer, and Surgeon-Major Macdonald, whom he had known to be an enthusiastic militia man in connection with the local regiments for many years. Does not all this support Mr. Fisher's statement: "I waited it to be a cavalry regiment of which all the people of the eastern townships would be proud?" Does not this course thoroughly support this view? It may be presumed that Lord Dufferin was quite unaware of the family compact that was put in control of one of the squadrons, which, however, only shows how necessary it is that someone with local knowledge, should have been consulted in the matter. What would have been thought if Mr. Fisher had been urged the appointment of some prominent Liberal, absolutely innocent of knowledge of military matters, to the position of Major in the squadron and four other members of the same Grit family to the posts? Then there would, indeed, have been occasion to charge him with political interference.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Chicago Tribune, in an article referring to Mr. Fielding's budget speech, says, "It is not only poor business, it is also poor statesmanship, for the American Government to encourage or allow a further drifting apart of the United States and Canada."

The Ontario farmers will have to raise the wages of the hired man if they want Scotch ploughmen. Mr. J. Bruce Walker, Canadian agent at Liverpool, says in a letter: "When I approach a thoroughly competent ploughman and ask him to pay his way to Toronto, and work in a strange country under unknown conditions for a wage only equal to or perhaps a little less than he has been getting, the smile is broad, audible, and unsatisfactory." In addition the Scotch farm labourer works all the year round. Mr. R. E. Kijie, of Oakville, who was sent as a special agent from Ontario, also states that the Ontario farmers will have to pay better wages.

GOOD IN THE WHEEL.

Strong Testimony in favor of Systematic Riding for Exercise.

New York World: "The outside of a horse is good for the inside of a man." Horseback riding benefits the muscles, the nerves, particularly the digestion.

Bicycling is just as good, and in the city much cheaper. Says the editor of American Medicine, Dr. Gould: "We would be healthier and better people if everyone rode his bicycle daily."

Said the late Mrs. Harriet Hubbard Ayer: "The wheelwomen who bicycle for pleasure who ride not in an attempt to pile up centuries, but sensibly and temperately, have struck a beautifying process that discards all the philters and magic secrets ever revealed to the sex."

Dr. Gould emphasizes upon the "daily." Mrs. Ayer insists upon the "sensibly and temperately." Don't ride centuries one day and then for a fortnight. Don't "search." Don't cramp the lungs by sitting bent like a fish hook, but have the handlebars above the hip level. Don't "crush" hills. Don't be ashamed to stop and look at things. Even so, the bicyclist can get quite as far afield as the ordinary automobilist.

Whoever heeds these hints will find a bicycle, as the very eminent Dr. Geo. Henry Fox puts it, "worth a hundred times its weight in patent medicines."

Judging by the large number of bicycles repaired and mended by Mr. Webster, Lindsay's mechanical expert, the good people of this town are wide awake to these facts.

A Douro Picnic.

The annual Douro picnic will be held this year on Thursday, June 23rd. Addresses will be delivered by Dominion and Provincial members of Parliament, and other prominent public men.—w1.

Excursion to Muskoka Lakes.

The 17th annual excursion under the auspices of Beaverton Oddfellows will take place from Lindsay via Blackwater Jet, to Royal Muskoka Hotel Park, Lake Rousseau, on Wednesday, June 15th. Train will leave at 2:30 a.m., reaching Muskoka wharf at 10:30. Fare from Lindsay and return $1.45, children 75c.; corresponding rates from Opa, Mariposa, Manilla, Blackwater and other stations en route. All tickets good to return next day.—w2.

A New Licence Inspector.

For a number of years Mr. John Short, of this town, has efficiently performed the duties of licence inspector for both West and East Victoria, but has done so under protest the size of the district entailing too much work for one man. This fact has at last been recognized by Provincial Secretary Stratton, and at last Tuesday's meeting of the Cabinet Mr. J. T. Robinson, of Bobcaygeon, was appointed inspector for East Victoria. The choice is an excellent one, and Mr. K. will attend to his duties with a conscientious thoroughness that will strike terror into law breakers. With East Victoria eliminated, Inspector Short will be in a position to give even better service in the West.

MARIPOSA T'P LEGISLATORS

BOARD OF HEALTH SUBMITS A GOOD-SIZED ACCOUNT.

Council Will Supply Wire at Cost Price for Road Improvement.

The municipal Council of Mariposa, met at Oakwood on 13th of June 1904. The members were all present. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Messrs. Watson and McLeod were detained on the way by various persons concerning about gravel pits, culverts, wire fences, etc.

Several persons and deputations waited on the Council during the day and the feeling was spreading that if they stayed till after 12 p.m. doing business for the township, they would be entitled to two days pay. The consideration of the purchase of gravel pits, wire fences, the court of revision, changing the mode of supplying wire fences, cleaning out streams, besides sundry and other matters, made it a pretty long day for the township fathers.

Mr. William Hancock presented a petition from the people of Little Britain and surrounding vicinity, requesting the Council to take action to remove the obstruction in the creek.

Mr. T. R. Goldsmith was on hand in good time to present the merits and advantages of the municipality purchasing a quantity of fence wire, and by so doing a price could be put on a purchase of 500 or 1000 rods, so as to be an advantage to the municipality and also to the individual purchaser.

Mr. W. F. Clarke notified the Council of two dangerous culverts at lot 1, con. 15.

Mr. W. J. Davitt desired some change in the order for culvert pipe as reported last month.

Mr. John Bancroft wished to have all his road work done on his home beat, but the Council preferred to make no change in the by-law, whereby this might be done.

Mr. George Cole and Mr. Hector Grant presented a petition signed by some fifty-four ratepayers, desiring some changes in the by-law in regard to giving bonuses on wire fences.

Mr. Richard Hill and Mr. Alex. Ferguson put in appeals as to the assessment of their property. Messrs. Joseph Coad, Alex. Daniels and the assessors handed in some names to be added to the rolls.

The following resolutions were passed:

Moved by Mr. Taylor, seconded by Mr. Watson, that Mr. Michael and Mr. McLeod be authorized to purchase a gravel pit from Mr. Neil McLean at lot 3 con. 13.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Michael, seconded by Mr. Michael, that the petition signed by W. R. Pogue and 88 ratepayers of the village of Little Britain and surrounding vicinity, relative to removing the obstructions in the creek at the village be laid on the table till the next meeting of the Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Taylor, seconded by Mr. Watson, that the clerk be authorized to notify Mr. H. J. Hogg to remove his fence from off the road allowance on the boundary line lot 1 con. 5, Mariposa.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Michael, seconded by Mr. Michael, that Mr. Watson and Mr. Merk be appointed to purchase a gravel pit from Mr. Alfred King and then Mr. Taylor and Mr. Michael be appointed to purchase one on the north line, west of Oakwood.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Michael, seconded by Mr. Michael, that the clerk be instructed to write Mrs. Whiteside with regard to purchase of gravel pit on her property, lot 18, con. 3, and failing to purchase the same that it be left to arbitration.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Watson, seconded by Mr. Taylor, that the clerk be authorized to notify Mr. William Sherman, of Lindsay, to take the polls from off the road allowance at Manilla Junction forthwith.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Taylor, seconded by Mr. Watson, that W. H. McCannan be appointed inspector of the Hancock drains at salary of $2.00 per day of actual service, and that a by-law be prepared to confirm the appointment.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Michael, seconded by Mr. McLeod, that the reeve and treasurer be appointed to sell the debentures of the Hill drain, amounting to $1534, and the Hancock drain, amounting to $1800.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Taylor, seconded by Mr. Watson, that the order for the culvert pipe be changed so as to make the order for 700 feet of 10 inch pipe, 350 feet of 12 inch, 250 feet of 15 inch, and 100 feet of 18 inch pipe.—Carried.

Council then focused themselves into a Court of Revision and proceeded with the appeals to the assessment rolls.

Moved by Mr. McLeod, seconded by Mr. Michael, that the assessment of the north half of lot 2 con. 3, $4600, be sustained. That the assessment of the north half of lot 12, con. 13, $3900, be reduced to $3700. That the following names be added to the assessment rolls for 1904, John Good, M.F., lot 14, Lewis Pascoe M.F., Oakwood, George Savine, M.F., Oakwood, Mark Hicks, M.F., Oakwood, Wellington Tait, M.F., Oakwood, Simon Ferguson, M.F., lot 15, con. 9, Roland H. ONKWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

What's the matter with the Onkwood baseball team? Not a loss this season. On Monday last the boys went to Valencia and played a friendly game with the last bunch of the Scougburg and won by the score of 13 to 4. They all speak in glowing terms of the treatment received from both players and spectators, and are loud in their praise of the sumptuous fare provided by the ladies of Valencia. The local players also wish to thank Mr. W. F. Hogg for so generously providing them with a team and carriage to make the trip. Valencia plays the return game here in a couple of weeks. Mr. E. G. Lytle umpired the game and gave the best of satisfaction.

Mr. W. J. McCullough lost his valuable driver "Minnie Mack" last Saturday morning. He has the sympathy of the community, as his loss was no small figure.

Quite a number from here took in the Beaver excursion to Muskoka on Thursday and report an excellent time.

The Public Library Board made a selection of a large supply of new and up-to-date books by good authors the other evening and expect them here in a few days. Citizens! It takes money to do this kind of thing. Help a good cause and pay your annual tax.

VICTORIA ROAD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Victoria Road is no doubt the busiest village in the county. Machinery coming in and machinery going out, the big pea-fuel company going out, the new with a different process, and what appears to be the sensible plan, coming in.

The Raven lake people, only a mile and three quarters from Victoria Road, will be shipping cement before long. The mill is very rapidly approaching completion, and ere long the sound of the grinding wheels will be thumping on short and long cars.

Mr. H. T. Baker, from Ridgeway, has bought Mr. E. J. King's good stock. Mr. Baker comes from a competitive part of the province and has already given the sign that he is pushing and energetic business man.

The dog poisoner has not been doing any business lately; possibly left or is taking a snooze. Time will tell with a crop of dead dogs when the unknown genius gets to work again. Watch.

Newton Magwood, of Toronto, and Howard Magwood, of the Ontario Bank, Lindsay, are around shaking hands with old friends and taking in the bracing air of Victoria Road during their holidays. That pony-well, it's a beauty and pleases the ladies immensely.

Too much water—all spring the river here has been flooded with water from Balsam Lake, filling up the ditches along the road and flooding many acres belonging to people below the dam on the canal, particularly at the north of the village and down into the township of Gordon.

At the south of the village the water is sinking along the road, being the leakage from the dam soaking through the imperfect construction, as well as soaking quite an area of private property that formerly was fairly dry and quite dry at this season of the year. People talk among themselves, and some have ventured to approach those in authority, but not until a few days ago have the stop logs been put in the dam. Now the air is purer but not near as nice as formerly, as comfortable slimy slush is along the banks of the river below the dam and many pools resembling muskegs are endangering health, and stagnant water lying over the ground matting and breeding we know not what fever. People have been complaining of too much water ever since the water was let into the canal, but as yet they might as well have been addressing passing whirlwinds.

Miss P. Graham, of Norland, spent Sunday under the porland roof.

ONEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The crops are growing very rapidly but on low ground are somewhat backward.

Thos. H. McQuade is still improving.

John Bennell is one of the jurors at Lindsay.

Miller Bros., of Lindsay, have received the contract for the new high and public school buildings; this is generally satisfactory. The building material can easily be brought up to advantage by boat, as the water in the river is unusually high this season.

One of our cricket teams went to Betony on Monday and got a good old-time 11 there to play against which surprised them beyond expectation.

On Saturday, the 18th, our senior cricket team goes to contend against the L.C.I. team of Lindsay for a return match.

Large shipments of stock this week at good prices.

Our bridge is being repaired at the mill.

Our first electric dynamo is being placed by Major Evans in Stephens mill for the use of a number of citizens.

Miss Annie McCaffrey has opened up a school of telegraphy.

The cheese at Fair's factory has been sold to a Belleville dealer at 8 5-10. There is a large quantity of milk coming in this season.

J. D. Thornton, general agent for the Peterboro Cordage and Binder Twine Co., has placed large quantities of binder twine on the market.

MANILLA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. G. Robinson attended the Bay of Quinte Conference, held in Peterboro, but owing to ill-health had to return before the sessions closed.

Rev. A. W. Coome, of Milford, Prince Edward Co., while attending the Conference spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. James Coome, and during the absence of the pastor took the pulpit of the Methodist church in the evening.

Mrs. John Coome was pleasantly surprised to see her son and his wife Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Coome, of Peterboro, who after an absence of three years returned last Tuesday evening. He was called upon to take charge of the service last Sunday evening. Both boys did well and will undoubtedly make their mark in the ministry. We are proud of them as village boys, and give them a hearty welcome whenever they return.

The Glee Club concert, which was advertised for June 7th, was held and proved to be successful. The glee and choruses by the club were well rendered, as were the solos by the Misses Miller, McPhail, Edwards, Glendinning, and Messrs. Coome and McLeod, also the violin solos by Miss Mary Miller and clarinet solo by G. Smith. Mrs. G. B. Miller and Miss Winnie Coome were the accompanists. The Club were greeted with a good crowd, which greatly added to the finisings.

The people of Manilla circuit were delighted to learn that the Conference had seen fit to send to them the man of their choice for the ensuing year, viz., Rev. C. E. Craig. He is expected to take charge of the work the first Sunday in July, if not before, and he should be greeted with a grand howl. A reception should be tendered to Mr. Craig on his arrival.

On the 26th of June the Pencil people intend holding their annual anniversary for the Sunday School, and on the Monday evening following there will be an entertainment, with the Manilla Methodist choir to furnish the music.

Miss King, of Oshawa, is the guest of Mrs. Dr. McPhail.

GOOD WORDS FOR THE POST

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS ELICITED BY CHANCE IN SIZE.

What is Thought of Lindsay's Daily in Other Sections.

The Peterboro Daily Times; The Lindsay Post has been enlarged and greatly improved. We congratulate our contemporary on this evidence of prosperity.

Peterboro Examiner; The Lindsay Post came out on Saturday in an enlarged form. From a four page six column paper it has been enlarged to an eight page five column sheet. The Post is to be complimented on the enterprise shown, and the Examiner wishes it's contemporary air the success this enterprise deserves.

Belleville Daily News; The Lindsay Post has been enlarged to a five column eight-page paper and is a big improvement over the old form. The Post is a splendid paper, well written, newsy and the mechanical make-up is all that is desired. It deserves the support of the citizens of Lindsay which it evidently enjoys judging from its advertising pages. We wish The Post all kinds of success.

—In some of the papers it is advertised that seven-door shirt waists are going to be popular this summer. The mosquitoes will surely appreciate the ladies' idea of fashion this season.

—Express Agent Wilder suffered a serious loss last night in the death of one of his delivery horses, valued at about $80. Lockjaw was the trouble, the animal having stepped on a rusty nail a few days ago.

—Here's a tip for Lindsay dry goods men. Messrs. Turnbull & Co. of Peterboro announce that during July and August their store will be closed at 5 o'clock each afternoon. There will be a rush of clerks to get positions with that firm.

—"Bob," well known as one of the finest of fox terriers, owned by Mr. V. A. Goodwin, is the latest victim of the poisoner's skill. Affection and tears availed not to stay the hand of the wretch who so frequently of late has brought pain and sorrow to those who love their four-footed friends. May he live long enough to regret this despicable deed.

—Ex-Mayor Ingle's planing factory is on the boom these days. He has looked already material for over a quarter of a hundred houses in this locality, as well as the House of Refuge, and many less important jobs. The handsome and commodious veranda added to Mr. J. D. Finlay's cottage at Sturgeon Point was also built by Mr. Ingle's men and is a credit to his factory.

—A former resident of Lindsay writes back from Oklahoma Territory to know if a party numbering between 75 and 100 persons can secure accommodation anywhere along the Kawartha Lakes for a three week outing. The writer is from Muskoka. Of course we cannot provide for him. This is one example out of many to show us what we are losing through the lack of a first-class hotel in Lindsay or at Sturgeon Point.

—A barn raising of the old style was held at Mr. Jas. Kennedy's, on the 14th cent. of Emily Jones st. It was attended by the sturdy yeomanry of that district. —The moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Sylvester band Tuesday was fairly well attended. The Kenosha stopped at the Point, and then made a trip around the lake, returning to town about 11.15. The rain in the afternoon no doubt deterred many from attending the outing.

—Westminster Lodge, Sons of England, will hold an important meeting next Tuesday evening in their handsome lodge rooms over the Dominion Bank. Several Grand Lodge officers and visiting brethren from Peterboro and elsewhere will be present, and the guests will be entertained at a banquet at the Pym house.

—According to a paragraph in The Review, Peterboro grocery clerks have to work from about 7 a.m. till rear midnight, and realizing that they are little better than slaves, are now trying to better their condition by petitioning their employers to close at a reasonable hour. Lindsay grocery clerks, who have for years quit work at 7 p.m., will pity their Peterboro co-workers.

—Miss host Wardrobe, of the Benson house has received a smart-looking Chinese boy to look after the room on the 2nd fl., it being impossible to get a girl who would take sufficient interest in her work to dust and clean to a thorough and systematic manner. High wages and poor service is the motto of the majority of domestic servants at present.

—Toronto World: Blancha Royal, who has been acting strangely for some time, will be examined by a physician as to her mental condition. The girl is one of those sent out from London. She has twice attempted suicide. She has been inmate of several charitable institutions, but the matrons do not appear to be able to do anything with her. Blancha is known in Lindsay, having tried to commit suicide at several of our hotels a couple of years ago.

—The local paper of a Kinsastown this refers to a society event that burg: The new gown worn by Helen Glade at a dance last night was made of Chantelle, and is said to have cost $40. Old man Glade owes Sim Key $80 for groceries, John Barb $60 for meat; Sam Brown $5 for milk; this paper $5 for subscriptions, and has a lot of other bills that have been running two or three years. Society seems to be about the same kind of mixture the world over.

—The garden party held on Mr. John Shuggett's lawn near Mr. Harb on Monday was a most unqualified success. The evening being fine, the young people of the surrounding country took advantage of the occasion to spend a social hour or two. The receipts were most satisfactory. A number from town attended. Mr. Shuggett was most attentive in looking after the wants of the outside visitors. A fuller report will appear in our Mt. North correspondence.

TWO RUNAWAY ACCIDENTS.

Occupants of the Vehicles Luckily Escaped Serious Injury.

What might easily have proved a very serious accident occurred on Kent-st. west Saturday afternoon. Mr. J. English, of Cambridge, was driving a spirited team up street when from some unaccountable cause the animals became frightened and got beyond the control of the driver. On turning the corner the rig was upset and the occupants thrown out. Mrs. J. Maunders, also of Cambridge, was in the vehicle and struck the ground with such force that for a time her condition was considered most serious, but apart from the nervous shock to her system she sustained no injury. She was able to return to her home yesterday.

Another runaway accident is reported on the same day. Mr. Henry Whetter, of Mariposa, was driving to town and his team became frightened at some object on the roadside. Before they could be got under control an upset was the result, but the occupants escaped with a few bruises.

Lindsay Milkmen, Take Warning.

A milkman in Berlin, Germany, was recently convicted of watering his milk. After a fine of $20 had been imposed by the magistrate it was ordered that the man's name with the details of the case, should be printed and placed in two foot-square and posted on the city advertisement board nearest his shop.

How Much Does Your Horse Cost?

The cost for keeping a horse for a year on a farm is, says Shaw's Farmer, much more than many persons usually suppose. An estimate of such cost was made at the New Hampshire Experiment Station. It was found that a horse weighing 1,200 pounds and kept at moderately hard work would cost $74.32 per year for board, food, of course, are higher in New England than in some other quarters. In Minnesota, Shaw's Farmer says, taking one horse with another, as kept on a farm, and allowing for the period of idleness with many farm horses in the winter season, the cost of keep would not be more, probably than $50.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS.

Swain—Mark.

A social event of great interest occurred last Wednesday, the 8th, when a pretty June wedding was solemnized at the home of John A. The bride's going-away dress was of blue broadcloth and a pretty picture hat of champagne chiffon with pink tulle. They will also visit Ottawa and other eastern cities before returning to their home in Toronto.

During the meeting and after adjournment, a very brisk and hot discussion took place between Mr. Flavelle and Mr. Whitton in which Messrs. Brown, Staples, Robinson and Sharp had some thing to say.

VICTORIA CO. CHEESE BOARD

THE TIFF BETWEEN BUYERS FLAVELLE AND WHITTON.

"Are Belleville Buyers Wanted on the Board?" Asked the Latter.

Following is a brief synopsis of the lively discussion which took place at the Cheese Board meeting Monday:

Mr. Flavelle made the first bid at $ 1-8 Mr. Whitton raising to $ 3-16.

Mr. Flavelle did not think it was right for Mr. Whitton to bid unless he put up the cash.

Mr. Whitton—"I have bought more cheese than Mr. Flavelle ever saw, having been on the road for 25 years, and I am prepared to buy cheese. I can pay for cheese as well as Mr. Flavelle can."

Mr. Fitzgerald then made a bid of $ 1-4, which Mr. Whitton did not think was fair play, saying that he had the call and not Mr. Fitzgerald, and raised the bid to $ 5-16. He remarked: "If you two men want to drive me off this Board why, do so—if you don't want us Belleville men here, say so." At $ 1-4 Mr. Whitton got Dunsford, North Ops, Pine Grove, Reaborg, Bobcaygeon, Maple Leaf and Red Rock, and offered $ 3-16 for the balance of the board.

Mr. Flavelle—"I will offer $ 3-16 for the balance of the board."

Mr. Fitzgerald made a remark, which was answered by Mr. Whitton as follows: "You said you were on the same terms as Mr. Flavelle, and tried to beat me on the board. Do you call that square? I don't. I can expose some of your business,—don't step on my toes."

Mr. Fitzgerald—"Expose it, then."

Palestine, Cameron, North Verulam, Cambray and Mariposa, refused to sell to Mr. Whitton. Mr. Flavelle afterwards got North Verulam, Cameron, and Palestine at $ 3-16, and Mr. Cook Quebec at $ 5-16.

A short talk took place as to the date of the next sale.

Mr. Robertson—"Petersburg Board have more cheese than we have and are adjourning for two weeks. We should stay behind them. Last year we sold before them and they got the benefit."

Mr. Staples stated that at the latter end of June the weather is hot and cheese should be sold inside of one week.

Mr. Flavelle—"We should not buy the cheese until it has been inspected."

Mr. Whitton—"I would like to say one word—the greatest hardship we suffered last year was the scarcity of boxes."

It was decided to adjourn for two weeks.

Mr. Whitton—"I want one minute. I don't want fair play. If the people of Lindsay don't want us Belleville people to buy here, I don't want to come. I don't feel inclined to be made a stool pigeon. I feel like throwing up the whole bid. If I have not done the fair thing, I want the men to get lay and tell me so."

Mr. Flavelle—"Mr. Whitton's record is before us—I know it, we all know it. This board has been free, what we want to do is to protect ourselves in a matter of this kind. We don't want to drive any buyers of this board and it is very annoying to come here and listen to Mr. Whitton's talk—he knows just as well as I do where he bought cheese and then threw it up."

Mr. Whitton—"Name me where I threw up any cheese, except on account of bad quality. It appears that you want me off this board. I came up here in good faith; you don't want me here. I'll throw my bid up here. To the salesmen: Two years ago—and I can furnish the figures—on account of the Belleville buyers dropping off your board you lost at least $10,000."

Mr. Flavelle—"If Mr. Whitton does not want to buy on this board, I can get others to come here. We do not want irresponsible men on this board."

Mr. Whitton—"I am willing to stand or fall by my reputation as a cheesebuyer, but I do not care what Flavelle, Fitzgerald and the others say. You gave me the call at $ 3-16."

Mr. Brown at this juncture referred to the matter of firms and their character.

Mr. Staples—"I know that one year our factory sold cheese to Mr. Whitton and it was drafted all right, but we were called the last time for green boxes. I have sold to Mr. Whitton several times and have had no dissatisfaction, and certainly think he's been suited to-day. The buyers all kick, but Mr. Whitton has no right to get mad. Mr. Staples made a lengthy speech and finished with a good laugh."

President Robertson then explained his views in the matter.

Mr. Flavelle—"We can get other gentlemen as well as Mr. Whitton, but we should have good responsible men."

A bit of last year's business was then touched on. Mr. Whitton remarking that Mr. Flavelle knew nothing about the facts concerning last year's trouble.

The Board adjourned about 11:30.

Morning Sunday School.

Beginning with the 3rd of July the Cambridge-st. Methodist Sunday School will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning before the church service in the morning instead of in the afternoon. This is a good change and will be welcomed by the scholars, many of whom are working during the week and would like to have Sunday afternoons to enjoy a walk. It will also be welcomed on account of the warm weather which we are about to have during the month of July. Although this will only be a test change, we feel confident in saying that according to the talk among the scholars they will try and turn out in the mornings as regularly as in the afternoons.

THIS BY-LAW WAS NEEDED.

Parties Who Deposit Filth or Rubbish on Our Streets Will be Fined.

Nothing that our Council has done of late is more to be commended than the attempt now being made to keep Kent-st. and other thoroughfares in a neat and sanitary condition. With this object in view the following by-law was introduced and passed at last meeting, and Chief Verison will earn praise or blame in proportion to the efforts he puts forth to secure its enforcement. The by-law is No. 1047, and its clauses are:

1. — No person or persons shall throw any dirt, filth, glass, hand-bills, paper, ashes, brush, saw-lust, or other rubbish, or the carcasses of animals, upon any street, lane or highway in the Town of Lindsay.
2. — No person or persons shall foul any street, road, lane or highway in the Town of Lindsay, by washing ice or washing out spittoons thereon.
3. — That any persons convicted of a breach of any of the provisions of this by-law shall forfeit and pay, at the discretion of the convicting Magistrate, a penalty of not less than $2 and not exceeding $20, exclusive of costs, together with the costs of the prosecution, and in default of payment of said penalty and costs forthwith, the said penalty and costs, or costs only, may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, and in case of there being no distress found out of which the same can be levied, the convicting Magistrate may send the offender to the common goal for the County of Victoria, with or without hard labor, for any period, not exceeding twenty-one days, unless the said penalty and costs are sooner paid.

Ottawa's Swift Gait.

An 85 foot aerial ladder was put up by the Toronto firemen in 29 seconds, says a newspaper of that city. This must be a misprint of 20 minutes judging from the performances of Ottawa's white-and-gold aerial wonder. —Now, where does Lindsay come in!

The Advertiser's Limits.

A member of the Sphinx Club (an advertisers' society) says that "no experienced advertiser hopes to reach everybody." There is no doubt that he can reach the largest possible number through the newspapers. When he has impressed these as thoroughly as possible, what remains is hardly worth worrying about.

Sick Headache

If troubled with this distressing ailment, watch for the first indication of an attack; as soon as you feel it coming on take three of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the attack may be warded off.

Mr. Geo. E. Wright, of New London, New York, says: "For several years my wife was troubled with what physicians called sick headache of a very severe character. She doctored with several eminent physicians and at a great expense, only to grow worse until she was unable to do any kind of work. About a year ago she began taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and today weighs more than she ever did before and is real well." He has since recommended these Tablets to several of his neighbors, who are enthusiastic in their praise of the remedy. Sold by druggists at 25c. per box.

ARE THE RICH AS HAPPY AS THE POOR?

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Discontented young working women often indulge in bitter resentment towards the people of wealth and leisure.

I wish these young toilers might study the faces and hear the conversation of hundreds of women in fashionable homes and at fashionable resorts.

Restlessness, ennui, dissatisfaction and ingratitude distort many a lovely face and render beautiful costumes but a mockery.

I do not mean to say that this is true of all women of wealth.

What I mean to say is just this: As many people in the humble walks of life, toiling for their daily bread, find enjoyment, as in the ranks of wealth and fashion.

It is a matter of character and disposition, not of money. One who travels to any extent is sure to arrive at this conclusion.

There is, indeed, greater dissatisfaction to be read on the faces of women in a hotel dining room than in the faces of women who emerge from shops and factories at 6 o'clock in any of our large cities.

Yet the majority of these toilers regard the women who can travel and wear fine garments as favored by the gods.

No woman is favored by the gods unless she has cultivated cheerfulness, appreciation, kindness and good will, and sets forth each day determined to be happy and to make happiness for others.

Many a working girl could teach her wealthier sister how to enjoy life. In no home of poverty did I ever see unhappiness, so much as in the faces of an entire family as on one I saw at a hotel not many moons ago.

The mother's eyes were full of jealousy and ill-temper; the father's face was defiant and bitter with disappointment; the son was a dissipated wreck of manhood, the daughter a restless, irritable, fault-finding child of misfortune.

Yet there were millions of dollars being spent yearly for the "enjoyment" of this family.

There was no love, no harmony, no good will, no gratitude to God or man in the hearts of these people.

Better a crust of bread and a cup of milk after a day of hard labour, and love in the household and hope in the heart, than such splendid misery.

The poverty of the heart is the worst poverty on earth. Remember that you too may find wealth. If you can keep your heart rich with love, sympathy, and kindness, hope and faith, then whatever you acquire of worldly wealth will increase your opportunities of enjoyment.

But wealth alone can never give you enjoyment or happiness, and no poverty of the purse can make you poor while you have these qualities.

A good disposition is the only thing worth coveting, and that can be acquired.

PRIZE FOR HON. MR. STRATTON.

Rev. Dr. Chown Credits Him With Enforcement of the Liquor Act.

At the London Methodist Conference last week, Rev. Dr. Chown, Secretary of the department of Social and Moral Reform, credited the Provincial Secretary's Department with an improved enforcement of the liquor law. He declared Mr. Ross must bring forth fruits meet for repentance by making certain changes, and a clear statement of policy, if he wanted the support of the temperance people.

The Department of the Provincial Secretary, said Dr. Chown, "has been true to our interests." The license branch of the Government was now administered in such a way as to give cold comfort to the liquor men. He had been consulted in regard to the appointment of some inspectors. He was confident no liquor would be sold in Toronto Junction, and believed the liquor men had given up hope there.

In regard to race-track gambling, he said he had strong reason to hope that an amendment would be passed at the present session of Parliament, making it illegal to bet at a race course. He said the key to the political situation in Ontario was in wise action.

The leader of the Ontario Opposition was not in favor of prohibition, but the license reform. The Liberal party had not yet kept their promises, but the improved enforcement of the law should count in their favour. It was then that Dr. Chown announced himself in favour of the phrase, "Abolish the bar," as one that would unite all the forces of reform. He urged the formation of temperance committees in every church.

THE G. T. R. FAST TRAIN.

NEW SERVICE WAS INAUGURATED LAST MONDAY MORNING.

Other Changes on this Division, Which Will be Appreciated.

(From Saturday's Evening Post.)

The new summer time-table on the Grand Trunk, which goes into effect Monday next, is of unusual importance to the people of Lindsay and district because it provides for the much desired fast passenger train between this town and Toronto, starting at Peterboro, and because certain other changes necessitated by Lindsay growing importance as a railway and business centre will also result in a greatly improved service in other directions.

This morning Trainmaster Irwin was interviewed by a representative of The Post. Mr. Irwin intends to make a feature of this through train, and says it will be run on time to the minute. The train will be more convenient than any other running between Peterboro and Toronto, as it will give passengers plenty of time to transact their business and also to get their supper before leaving. The train will consist of a baggage car, vestibule coach, with smoking department, and a parlor car. It leaves Peterboro at 7:20 a.m., arriving at Lindsay at 8:50 o'clock and departing at 9:05, arriving in Toronto at 10:10 a.m. The return train leaves Toronto at 7:20 p.m., arriving in Lindsay at 9:40 p.m., leaving at 9:45 p.m., and will arrive at Peterboro at 10:25. The only stops will be at Cummer, Markham, bridge, Stouffville, Markham, Scarboro Junction and Queen's, Toronto.

Conductor Dan McMillan will be in charge. Conductor Haskill, of the Lindsay-Bellefonte mixed, takes McMillan's place on the accommodation train between Peterboro and Belleville. Conductor Kelley, of the Lindsay-Whitby mixed, takes Conductor Haskill's place; and Conductor Jobit of the Belleville way-freight, will take Conductor Kelley's place. The former mixed train running between Lindsay and Belleville, which left here at 6:25, arriving at Belleville at 11:20, will now be run as a straight passenger train and will leave Lindsay at 7:20 a.m., arriving at Peterboro at 8:15, at Belleville at 11 a.m. The returning train leaves Belleville at 6 p.m. instead of 5:55 p.m., as formerly, and arriving in Peterboro at 8:15 p.m., departing at 8:20 p.m., and arriving at Lindsay at 9:45 p.m., instead of 10:20 as formerly.

A new train has been put on to run between Peterboro and Lakefield leaving Peterboro at 5:40 and arriving in Lakefield at 6:10; returning leaves Lakefield at 6:20, arriving at Peterboro at 6:50. The train that used to leave Peterboro at 1:30 will now leave at 12:15.

Citizens will do well to remember that the fast train leaves exactly 5 minutes after it arrives here, and that it will be run to the minute.

DYSPEPSIA CURED.

A Severe Sufferer Tells How He Overcame the Trouble.

"Not only do I not hesitate to declare the benefit I have received from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I feel it my duty to do so." These are the words which Mr. Edward Lavoie, of St. Jerome, Que., lately addressed to the editor of L'Avant-courier du Nord, when relating the story of his cure. Mr. Lavoie is well known in St. Jerome, and what he says carries weight among those who know him. For a considerable time he has been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, which caused several headaches, pains in the stomach and sometimes nausea. Sometimes he felt as though he would suffocate, he would become quite dizzy, and experienced ringing noises in the ears. His general health so bad that he found it almost impossible to work, and when the headaches attacked him he had to quit work. For six months, he says, he suffered both physically and mentally more than he can be imagined. During this time he took medicine from several doctors, but found no help. Then one day he read of a cure of a similar case by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. He used the pills for a couple of months, and they have made him feel like a new person. He is no longer troubled with any of the old symptoms, and says he can now go about his work as though he never had dyspepsia.

The digestive organs—like all the other organs of the body—get their strength and nourishment from the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. This new blood strengthens the stomach, stimulates the liver, regulates the bowels and sets the whole digestive system in a healthy, vigorous state. Good blood is the true secret of good health. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always bring good health to those who use them. You can get these pills from your medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Betting the Evil.
(Bystander.)

It is asked what is the use of raiding pool-rooms in Toronto if you are to have at Woodbine a betting ring through with high company, and with fair ladies hovering round? In a horse race itself there can be no sin.

Amended Fishing Regulations.

By the new fishery regulations recommended by S. T. B. do and adopted by the Dominion Government, anglers are only permitted to catch eight instead of twelve bass per day. The limit for muskellunge is four, pickerel twelve, and lake trout four, speckled or brook trout thirty or ten pounds. The size limit for pickerel is fifteen inches, for muskellunge thirty inches, measured from point of the nose to the centre of the tail. The sale and export of speckled trout, black bass and muskellunge is prohibited for a period of five years.

EPITHELIOMA

Covering One Side of Face and Reaching to the Eye

CURED BY CUTICURA

Which Acted Like a Charm After Doctors and Hospitals Failed.

Here is another of those remarkable cures of torturing, disgusting skin humours daily made by Cuticura Ointment and Soap, assisted by physicians, hospitals and all else had failed.

"I feel it my duty to try to help those suffering from skin diseases. My case was a very bad one, covering all of one side of my face and had reached my eye. I had two or three doctors prescribe without any relief. They said my disease was Epithelioma. I was then advised to go to one of our hospitals, which I did, taking their treatment for some time. I had given up all hope when my husband asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies. My face being in such a very bad state, I used the Cuticura Soap with lukewarm water and a small silk sponge and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. I took one teaspoonful of the Resolvent four times a day. They acted like a charm, and in one week's time my face was cured entirely and has remained so. I certainly can recommend the Cuticura Remedies as infallible."

ARRESTED FOR FRAUD.

Toronto Man's Scheme to Fleeced a Number of Lindsay People.

Wanted.—Young or middle-aged man, to represent a large manufacturing firm. Salary of $15 weekly, or commission. Enquire of Cassidy, at the Simpson hotel.

The above advt. appeared in The Evening Post of June 2nd, 3rd and 4th, and the bell boy at the hotel came near throwing up his job in disgust owing to the large number of callers who asked to be shown to Mr. Cassidy's room—No. 20, top floor, Saturday morning, 4th. Mr. Cassidy caught the morning train for Toronto, and soon after his departure Chief Nevison received complaints from several individuals that the advertiser had come to Lindsay, and of various amounts on the strength of engaging them at $15 per week. The Chief placed himself in communication with the police at outside points. The following from yesterday's Globe tells the Toronto end of the story:

T. J. Cassidy was arrested last week on a charge of obtaining money by fraud and false pretences. The complainant is the Chief of Police of Lindsay. Detective Forrest, who made the arrest, found Cassidy in a branch office of Albert Tyler of London, Ont. The branch office in Toronto, which is located at 37 Front st. east, was filled with emigrants at the time that Forrest made the arrest. It is alleged that Cassidy has been selling "sole agency rights" for a tea company of the United States to a number of people.

OLDEST DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE.

Mr. Geo. Wilson, Newspaper Man, has the Honor.

Peterboro Examiner: Mr. George Wilson, the veteran editor of the Port Hope Guide, who is in town as a delegate to the Methodist Conference, and a guest of Mr. John Nugent, gave the Examiner a fraternal call Saturday. Mr. Wilson is perhaps the oldest delegate attending the Conference, as he is the oldest newspaper man in active work between Montreal and Toronto. He is in his 89th year. Mr. Wilson has been a Methodist for 62 years, a total abstainer for 44 years, and a "good hard-shell" "Grit" for 80 years.

Mr. Wilson is able to make a boast founded upon facts which have no precedent on this continent elsewhere. He related one of the incidents in connection with the operation of The Guide office that in 1832 when the Duke of Wellington died. The Guide contained a column and a half account of his death. A few days ago Mr. Wilson, on looking through the back files, ran across this paper, and called attention of some of the men in the office to it. One of them said: "I set that article in type," as another remarked, "I turned the old hand-press for the issue of the paper in which that article appeared." Here were two printers, who for 52 years had been at work continuously in The Guide office, a record which few printing offices in this country can boast of.

MISSION WORK IN INDIA

MISS SINCLAIR'S ADDRESS IN ST. ANDREW'S SCHOOLROOM.

The Purdah System and Evils of Child Marriage Referred to.

A crowded audience comprised of ladies from the different missionary organizations in Lindsay greeted Miss Sinclair Thursday afternoon in St. Andrew's Schoolroom, where she delivered an address on India. Miss Sinclair has been 15 years in India and has a firm grasp on the affairs of the country, religious social and political. She speaks with ease and fluency, rapidly and with great earnestness. In her opening remarks she said to the ladies present represented all denominations she would not speak particularly of the work of the Presbyterian Church in Central India, but of missionary methods and work, which would apply to all churches alike. Missionary work is divided into three divisions—educational, evangelistic and medical. Educational work is really foundation work, for with a mind untutored and ignorant as the average Hindoo woman was it is all but impossible for her to grasp even the simplest truths of Christianity.

The Mohammedans, when they conquered India 1000 years after Christ, brought many evils in their train, and amongst them the purdah system, which means seclusion of women. In thousands of homes all the women ever know of the beautiful world of sunshine, flowers and openness is the little blue patch of sky, which they may see by looking up, ward from a little open courtyard. There are usually a good number of women in each household, as each son takes his wife to his father's home. There is almost no work to be done, as they have no furnishings to care for, their clothes require no sewing, for the meals are of the simplest. Practically none of the women can read, and can easily see how empty and purposeless their lives are and how difficult to teach them. The best hope is in the children. These the missionary may teach up to the ages of ten or twelve, when they are married. The great hindrances to educational work are child marriage and heathen festivals. During these festivals, which occur with great frequency and sometimes last for days, it is not possible for women or children to be on the street, consequently the children are kept at home and the teacher may not go out. Child marriage is not only a great hindrance to the work of education, but brings untold misery upon the women of India. It accounts for the number of widows—22,000,000 out of a population of 150,000,000 women.

The teaching they get before marriage will, it is believed, bring forth rich fruit in succeeding generations, and one generation follows another very quickly in India.

The need for workers is pressing. There are 715,000 villages. The population is rural and in thousands of villages the face of a white man or woman has never yet been seen and consequently no one has told the gospel message there. Miss Weir, one of the Presbyterian missionaries, went out with a man and woman for three months travelling through some of these villages the face of a white man and was everywhere treated with respect and courtesy. All seem willing and anxious to be taught, but alas! there are not enough teachers. The medical work is perhaps the most successful because disease is rampant, due largely to the lack of cleanliness and to the fact that so little effort is made to stay away from contagious diseases. It is no uncommon thing to see a child walk into school in the morning with her face covered with sores. They gladly accept treatment from the medical missionary, and it is their privilege not only to endeavor to heal the body, but to plant the seeds of eternal life in the soul. The gospel is making rapid headway in India; the signs of the times all point to a great awakening.

Miss Sinclair closed her address by a stirring appeal for help and support by the church at home for those who are in the forefront of the fight.

Miss Dickson, of Fenelon Falls, who is under appointment to a mission field in China, spoke a few words. She expects to go in September to the island of Macao. It is two hours distant by ferry from Hong Kong and three weeks' distant from Toronto. It is a Portuguese possession but has a population of 70,000 Chinamen. It is a new mission, being only two years old, and is under the care of the Women's Board of Montreal. Miss Dickson said some very earnest words as to the responsibility and duties of the women at home in regard to mission work, and asked each one to make herself quite sure that she was doing the work God intended her to do in the place that he intended her to be, bearing testimony to the fact that God fulfills the promise to make His will clear to those who give their lives into His keeping.

Tea was served at the close, when a very social hour was enjoyed by all present.

Served Him Right.

"Why," asked the boarder with the comical habit, "is the letter 'K' like the marriage ceremony?"

"Give it up," said the rest of the family group in chorus.

"Because," explained the party of the prelude, "it changes coming to cooking."

A Lindsay Contractor Gets It.

Some time ago tenders for the erection of a new High School building at Onemore, to replace the old structure destroyed by fire last winter, were called for by the Board of Education of that village, and the offer of Mr. Thos. Rutherford, of Peterboro, was accepted at the price of $2810. Contractor Rutherford, of this town, put in the highest offer of $7400, and was pleasantly surprised Saturday to receive a visit from Mr. T. C. Ivory, chairman of the Board, who explained that Mr. Rutherford had backed out, and that the Board had decided to accept Mr. Miller's tender. We can assure them of satisfaction.

A Large Funeral.

The funeral of the late Geo. Francis Landry, the victim of June 3rd, lamentable railway accident, took place the next Monday, and the deep sympathy of our citizens, and the popularity of deceased among the train men, was evidenced in the large attendance. The pall-bearers were Robt. Tedger, George Brady, Joseph Duffus, Jas. McGeough, James Diamond and Joseph O'Connell. The funeral services were conducted by Archdeacon Casey, St. Mary's church, beset by those in attendance. The men of the G.T.R. shops attended in a body, also the conductors and other trainmen not on duty. Among the relatives present from a distance were Mrs. Frank Dismantel and son, of Peterboro; Miss E. Landry, sister, of Detroit; and Wm. Landry, brother, of Brockville.

GOOD FRENCH-CANADIAN STORY.

How She Got Even—"Dere was Twins Two Tahm Runnin'."

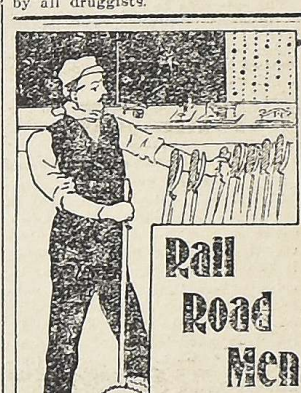

A good French-Canadian story from the Province of Quebec is related by a correspondent of The Boston Transcript; Louise Loblain was engaged to marry Joe Belaire, but they quarreled about politics. He was a Bleu, she a Rouge, devoted to Laurier. As told by a mutual friend her to marry him. But no. Louise admitted she was sick with love for Joe, but she could not change her politics, and she would not marry him unless he would promise to vote for Laurier. As told by a mutual friend of Louise and Joe: "Joe was one of those Conservatives so bleu that you never can wash him off. The Cure tried to get him to promise as Louise wished. But Joe, he's tell de Cure, 'Monsieur le Cure, d'avez vous use for promise. I can't change my politique. My principle d'avez mon honneur. Sure, you don't ask me for loss de. After that the mother of Louise (she's come for see the Cure and next week de Cure is go for see Louise. He's apik long (ahm) wis Louise, till he get her for consent to be marry. So dey was married. But what was it? M'sieu de Cure tol Louise what mek her consent after her mother couldn't mek her? Well, sah, ahbi tol you, it was lik dis. M'sieu de Cure he's say, 'Louise, mon enfant, take my advice and marry Joe Belaire. You know he's love you good an' strong. You know you love him and I will ask le bon Dieu for bless your marriage. I will pray God to give you a big family. Also I will pray that all you children be boys. Den you can bring de whole lot up to vote for Laurier.' So she married Joe Belaire. And, begosh, dere was twins two (ahm) runnin' already, and dey's hall boys!"

Want Glory, Not Criticism.

A Berlin dispatch says: In the town council to-night a motion was introduced that a vote of censure be passed on the press of the town for criticisms of aldermen, and because of reports of informal meetings of the aldermen, which had, from time to time appeared. Several aldermen pointed out that it would not be wise to antagonize the press. The mover of the resolution saw the force of the argument, and withdrew it.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns, and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on the same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also delays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

Rail Road Men

In all departments of active service stand in need of the readiness of mind and promptness of action which depend on a healthy nervous system. Let a railroad man be "rattled," and every life depending on him is in danger. A great many railroad men have found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a valuable tonic for the overstrained nervous system. It builds up the body, purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and induces a healthy appetite and refreshing sleep.

I suffered for six years with constipation and indigestion during which time I employed several physicians, but they could not reach my case. I wrote Mr. C. Popplewell of Eureka Springs, Carroll Co., Ark. "I felt that there was no help for me; could not retain food on my stomach; had vertigo and would fall helplessly on the floor. Two years ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and in 10 days I felt better. I was able to do light work, and have been improving ever since."

AS A WORKING TOOL

for the student and the writer, as an authoritative reference book for schools, teachers, families, business and professional men, there is one book which offers superior advantages in the solid value of its information, and the ease with which it is obtained.

One's admiration for Webster's International Dictionary increases daily as it comes to be better known. It never refuses the information sought and it never overwhelms one with a mass of misinformation illogically arranged.

The St. James Gazette of London, England, says: For the teacher, the pupil, the student and the literateur, there is nothing better; it covers everything.

The New and Enlarged Edition recently issued has 25,000 new words and phrases, a completely revised Biographical Dictionary and Quotations of the World, 280 pages and 300 illustrations.

Our name is on the title-pages of all the authentic dictionaries of the Webster series.

"A bucket shop, my son," said the father, feelingly, "a bucket shop is a modern co-operative establishment to which a man takes a barrel and brings back the bung-hole."

Wedded in Winnipeg.

On Friday, June 3rd, at Holy Trinity Church, Winnipeg, by the Rev. Mr. McKinnon, Mr. Leslie Arnold, of Meila Man, formerly of Whitby, to Miss Eva Corbetta Wilson, youngest daughter of the late Hugh Wilson of Whitby. The bride is sister of Mrs. R. J. Checkley-Taylor

Minden Echo: A happy event took place at the residence of Mr. Daniel Taylor, of Minden township, on Wednesday, the 8th inst., when his daughter, Miss Jessie Taylor, was united in matrimony to Mr. Percy Checkley of Lindsay. The bride looked very pretty in pure white, and the bridegroom, Add Taylor, cousin of the bride, was tastefully dressed in the same color. The groom was supported by Mr. Archie Taylor, brother of bride's.

There was a large gathering of guests, who spent a pleasant time on the small hours. The happy couple will make their home in Lindsay, where Mr. Checkley is well and favorably known, and is employed as engineer on a boat there.

Thompson-Staples.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. J. Staples, Kirkfield, June 8th, when his youngest daughter, Edythe E., was united in marriage with Mr. W. H. Thompson, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Wickett. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a going-away gown of grey touched with green, wore a tulle and grey hat to match, and carried a snowier bouquet of roses and smilax. She was unattended.

The house was prettily decorated with palms, roses and carnations. After the ceremony and congratulations, a recherche dejeuner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left on the morning train for West Toronto, where they will reside.

Young-Corbett.

On Wednesday, June 8th, St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, Toronto, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Lucia Corbett was married to Mr. J. W. Young, of Peterboro. The ceremony, which was conducted by Rev. Father Steinhil, was witnessed by a number of relatives from Chicago, Peterboro and Lindsay.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. M. Watterson, was attired in white silk organdie over silk tulle. She was attended by Miss Anna O'Connor, who wore white silk organdie over tulle. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Matthew Young, of York Point. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch, and to the bridesmaid a pearl pendant. A reception was held at Mr. M. Watterson's. The young couple left on the evening train for their home in Peterboro, where a grand reception awaited them.

Thomas-Junkin.

A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday evening, 7th inst., at Lakeview Farm, Vernon, the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Junkin, when their daughter, Alta, was married to Mr. Wm. J. Thomas, also of Vernon. The home was beautifully decorated with ferns and wild flowers. The ceremony, which was conducted by Rev. J. Baistone, of Bobcaygeon, took place on the lawn, which was made bright with many Chinese lanterns. The wedding march was played by Miss Pansy Junkin, sister of the bride, who came out accompanied by her father. She wore a beautiful dress of ivory crepe de chene, with deep bertha of beautiful lace, and carried a sheaf of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Viola Junkin, sister of the bride, wore a very pretty cream gown and carried American beauty roses. Miss Alta Beata, cousin of the bride, a lovely little girl, charmingly dressed, acted as flower girl. The groom was supported by Mr. Wm. McNeill, of Red Hook.

Guests numbering about 100 sat down to a very tastefully served wedding repast. The groom's presents to the bride and bridesmaid were beautiful solitaire rings, and to the little flower girl a gold chain and pendant. The presents to the bride were numerous and expensive, and the high esteem in which she is held among those present were the immediate relations and friends of both parties, also friends from Toronto, Buffalo, N.Y., Lindsay, Omece, Fenelon Falls, and Bobcaygeon.

Youthful Horse-thief Caught after Travelling over Sixty Miles.

Peterboro Review, June 8th: One of the saddest and most deplored sights that we have ever had the misfortune to witness was the youthful horse thief, Earl Schweizer, in police court yesterday. The charge against so enormous, and when one glanced at the baby face in the dock, one could not fail to be deeply impressed by the sight. The little fellow not yet ten years old, and when sitting in the dock, not visible above the sides, did not seem to realize his position, and smilingly answered the questions of the Police Magistrate put to him. He seemed almost proud of what he had done, and had bragged to the constables on his way to Peterboro about the masterly way he had managed the spirited horse. He had always been a very wayward boy, having boarded the train a couple of times for Port Hope, and several times run away to farm houses surrounding the town. He is a bright, pleasant-looking chap, and it is a pity that something cannot be done for him. He took the horse from the Commercial house sheds about seven o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and started west. During the night he fell asleep and when he awoke he did not know where he was. He kept on driving until Saturday night about 8 o'clock, having covered between sixty and seventy miles, when a farmer named McNeill, near Fenelon Falls, noticed him, and questioned him as to who he was. Not getting a satisfactory answer, he took the horse and rig from the boy, and reported to the Police at Fenelon Falls. Yesterday afternoon Constable Adams, who was searching in the vicinity of Omece for the boy, received word from the Chief here that the boy had been seen in the vicinity of Fenelon Falls, and he drove there and brought the runaway back. The horse, which was a very spirited animal on Saturday, is pretty badly used up now, and presents a most deplorable appearance from its long journey and long fast.

The boy is a son of Mr. John C. Schweizer, Sherbrooke-st., and has always been the agent of the Children's Aid Society lots of trouble. He can hardly write his own name, and can scarcely read.

He elected to be tried by the Police Magistrate, and was committed to the Mimico Reformatory for a term not exceeding five years. The Magistrate remarked that a good raw-hiding would also be a good remedy for him.

Newspapers and Magazines.

The July Detective is a magazine of beauty, interest and utility. The display of Summer fashions is exquisite and complete, the fiction bright and entertaining, the special articles, clever and informative, and the number is rounded out by a series of practical papers on domestic topics. In fiction, interest centres in Mrs. Hugh Fraser's quaint love story of Japan. The Giver of Honour, although The Rebellion of William Henry by Herminie Templeton, is thoroughly enjoyable, for both its keen humor and its real sympathy with boy nature. For young people there are entertaining stories and pastimes, and for needleworkers and householders many pages of useful information.

LORD ROBERTS

The Handsomest Carriage Stallion in Canada,

LORD ROBERTS has never been beaten in the Show Ring. He captured first prize and medal at the Toronto Spring Show and at the Industrial several times. His colts took first and second prizes in harness and first prize in General Purpose classes in 1903 at the Toronto Industrial.

LORD ROBERTS stands to day without a rival in the Show Ring and his colts are following in his footsteps. LORD ROBERTS is himself a grand animal, with choice blood and possessing superb all-round action, and will when bred with the ordinary mares of the country be sure to sire style and knee action—two qualifications that to-day command almost as much money as speed.

THE PROPERTY OF
G. W. CURTIS, LINDSAY.

How We Are Building Our Reputation.

Once there was an old blind man who went to a meat market to buy a steak. The rubicund butcher chuckled to himself as he noticed the man's blindness. "Now," thought he, "here's a chance for me to get rid of a tough steak," and he sold him a steak that many had refused to buy.

The blind man discovered how he had been treated by the butcher when he attempted to eat the steak, so he told his friends how he had been imposed upon.

The word passed about the town and the butcher's customers left him one by one. Some Dry Goods stores make the very same mistake. They try to sell undesirable merchandise to their customers, thinking they will not know the difference, and like the butcher, they will not discover their mistake until it is too late.

When we sell an article of merchandise of any kind we see to it that it is of the sort that will make you want to come here again to trade—bring your friends, for we believe a store's best recommendation is the intrinsic worth of its merchandise.

If we cannot secure and retain your trade by trustworthy merchandise we do not want it, because the store will never stoop to catch-penny schemes, such as offering you a grade of merchandise below our standard, with the idea that you will not know the difference.

We've a reputation at stake that we intend to maintain, and we believe that the very highest standard of merchandise at absolutely the lowest prices is the right way to build and maintain a lasting reputation.

The following list of new and reliable summer goods is only one instance of how we back up these statements mentioned above. Come to the store and see the goods.

funeral took place Wednesday and was very largely attended.

A Women's Foreign Missionary Society was organized here, recently, when a number of delegates from the Auxiliary at Minden were present.

Mrs. E. Thompson has gone on a visit to Cobocook friends. Miss Jennie Hoyle, of Balsam Lake, is renewing old acquaintances here. A number of our fair damsels have entered into the blissful state of matrimony lately, and many more will follow suit before the end of June.

CAMBRAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The Presbyterians are holding a monster picnic in Sinclair's grove on July 6th. Everyone should keep that date open, as the management are sparing no pains to make the affair the best of the season. Cambray's fine brass band will be in attendance.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary at Eden Methodist church on Sunday and Wednesday last was a huge success. On Sunday the Rev. Mr. Wilson, a former pastor, preached two very powerful sermons to very large and appreciative audiences. On Wednesday a baseball game was played. Tea was served from 6 to 8 a.m. afterwards a good programme was given in the church, consisting of singing, recitations and addresses. The correspondent congratulates Eden friends on the great success achieved.

Mr. Cooper opened his ice cream parlor on Saturday last and it was well patronized. A very successful barn raising was held at Mr. D. Gillies' on June 6th. Several of the fair sex from our village walked over and appeared to have enjoyed themselves immensely.

Mrs. Jas. Wilson spent the past week with her sister in Peterboro.

Miss Eva Jackson, of Lindsay was spending a few days with Miss Webster and Miss Sinclair this week.

A number from here took in the Zion garden party on the 10th and reported a good time.

The many friends of Mr. Wm. Wilson were glad to see him in the village again on Saturday, and looking so well after his serious illness.

W. Gilbert, the leading general merchant, is offering great bargains in all departments. Inspection invited. No short weights at this store.

Mr. Arch. Campbell, Woodville, was calling on friends in our village on Saturday last.

REABORO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The new fast train service on the G. T. R. came into effect last Monday morning and to those who will receive the benefit it will certainly be a boon, but as far as can be learned we are not to be among those thus privileged. It seems a hardship to the good people of our burg to be thus slighted, as I think the word a mild way of expressing ourselves. To use a slang phrase we are not "quite as many" as some, yet our individual wants may be of as much importance as that of larger places and I think we are justly entitled to be recognized to the extent of being able to flag the train when any of our citizens may have occasion to visit the city.

Mr. Robt. McMan, of Cold Springs, near Cobourg, visited his brother, Mr. Dave McMan, blacksmith of this place, last week, and was very much impressed with the growth and general improvement of our village. Mr. McMan is in the carriage and wagon business and is kept busy in looking after the wants of his numerous customers.

The Rev. Mr. Brown, Methodist minister, who has been stationed at Onemee for the past three years, and who held service here each Sabbath, has been transferred to Oakwood. His place will be taken by the Rev. Mr. Johnston, who we understand will come to reside with us. We welcome the rev. gentleman and family to our midst and feel that his presence amongst us will exercise an influence over the good people of our village that cannot fail to be helpful.

Mrs. Thos. Hawkins' many friends in and about Reaboro will be pleased to learn that her ultimate recovery is now assured from her recent severe attack of illness.

Mrs. S. Skuce, of Peterboro, is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thos. Skuce, of this place.

Miss Carrie Moore, who has been ailing for the past few weeks, is showing signs of improvement and her friends are hopeful that her recovery may be permanent.

Mr. Dave McMan has got a good one in his eye—we mean in his horse flesh—and he intends to have a "shy" at the "green" purse this coming fall at the Lindsay Central.

CAMBRON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mr. Albert Jackett, of this place, is one of the busiest men in the vicinity. He is overhauling his outbuildings and will have his barn raised high enough for a basement, which will be of the most modern and up-to-date. Messrs. W. Hill and Bert Maunier are the contractors. In connection with Mr. Jackett, he has formed your correspondent that he feels that Canada is all right, and that in the present reign of prosperity we have a great deal to be thankful for, and voices the hope that the people of Canada may long enjoy the protection of a legislation, which has since its inception been converting deficits into surpluses, not alone in the treasury of the country, but in each individual farmer's private dealings.

Mr. Robt. Bagg has invested in a new windmill, which gives quite a number of apartments to his buildings. Several others are about to be erected during the present summer.

We are sorry to learn that some discussion has arisen between the teacher and some of the ratepayers of this section. We hope that the friction may be dispelled and that a better feeling may soon prevail.

Mr. John Simpson, the veteran host of the Temperance house is enjoying a very fine time from the travelling public and is ever ready to make his house as comfortable as his limited space will afford.

Mr. Willis Simpson is spending a few days with his friends. Some of the low lands here suffered to a greater or less extent from the effects of a two frequent rain, but on the whole the outlook is most promising for another bountiful year.

Mr. Mark Devine intends erecting a new house this summer. It is a big house to hear of the cage being built.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Rev. J. M. Whyte preached a most interesting and impressive sermon to the Onemee Sunday morning. A large crowd was present. The church was decorated with plants and cut flowers and presented a pleasing appearance.

A large number from here took in the picnic at the North line, Friday, and report a huge time, there being over 200 people present.

Mr. A. J. Scott lost a valuable cow last week.

Our boys have organized a baseball team, this season and received a challenge from Minden to play there July 1st.

Miss Annie Johnson has returned from Toronto to spend the summer with friends here.

CORRESPONDENT'S LETTERS

PENIEL.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
On Monday last the bible class of Peniel Sunday School, were entertained at Mr. George Herdy's residence, "The Elms." They report a very enjoyable evening.

Miss Mabel Osborne has been visiting friends in Toronto for the past three weeks.

Several improvements are being made in this vicinity this summer. A. Bagshaw is putting a large addition to his barn. The stone masons are at Mr. H. Grant's house. The bricklayers are bricking Mr. George McKague's house. The masons are also working at Mr. John Bagshaw's house.

LORNEVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
About forty people from this community took in the Maccabee excursion to "Niagara Falls" last week. The day was wet and disagreeable; the lake was so rough that the majority of the passengers, and even some of the boat's own crew, experienced to a more or less degree, a taste of sea sickness.

Mr. John Owens is moving into the village to occupy the house just vacated by Mr. W. Bowles, who has moved to the brick house owned by Mr. Rapp.

Mr. J. Lowe and his young bride were the guests of Mrs. McRae over Sunday and Monday of this week.

We are pleased to learn that Mr. J. Lapp and Mr. Walter Douglas, who have been on the sick list, are both improving in health.

BURNT RIVER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
A concert is going to be held in Cobocook, the programme of which will be supplied by Burnt River talent.

The stone quarry is now running full blast.

Mr. A. Albion and wife are moving into Mr. John Hodgson's house and are taking with them a fine light running, standard rotary sewing machine sold by Mr. D. Abbott, of Lindsay.

Mr. D. Alcott was in our village on Monday and reports business very favorable. He recently sold a magnificent Ball organ, cathedral model, to the Methodist church here. The committee having examined different makes decided the Ball organ was the most durable.

The young people of this district intend holding a picnic on English's flat July 14th, and are living in hopes that the weather will be favorable.

Mr. A. B. Townsend is home for a few days.

HARTLEY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Crops around here not looking the very best, considering the recent wet weather.

Mrs. Arksey and sister, Mrs. Worsley, are visiting friends in Toronto this week.

Miss May Driscoll, of Toronto, is home at present.

A garden party, under the auspices of the school is to be held on the school grounds here, Friday evening,

June 24th. The Woodville band will furnish music. Mr. A. B. Montgomery, of Orillia, the popular Scotch singer of the Midland district, will be present in his Highland uniform. Other excellent talent will be secured also.

MT. HOREB.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The garden party which was held on Mr. John Sluggitt's lawn on Monday evening, the 13th inst., was voted by all a huge success. Visitors were present from many miles around, quite a number having driven out from town. The grounds were beautiful and tables were erected which groaned under the weight of the good things provided by the ladies of the vicinity.

After the refreshments were disposed of, a programme was given of music, recitations, etc. Rev. Mr. Harrison, the pastor, acted as chairman, and was untiring in his efforts to attend to the wants of the visitors. Mr. Sluggitt also was most anxious to see that those having horses and rigs were properly looked after.

ISLAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mrs. J. H. Wilson is visiting her friends in Peterboro.

Miss Anna is visiting her sister at Pleasant Point.

Miss May and Annie Rickaby, of Toronto, are visiting their old schoolmates in our burg. We are pleased to meet their smiling faces, which bring us back to the bye-gone days.

Mr. Alex. McFadyen has his new house nearly complete. He is making a grand finish on the "lee" side.

Mr. W. H. Brookshire has purchased a wagon from the Threthway firm of Woodville. It has an extra finish with box to change to suit all purposes. Farmers will do well to call and see, before buying elsewhere.

Mr. James H. Wilson has erected a fine windmill to run his grain crusher, water pump, turnip pulper, a twelve-inch cutting box with blow-off, and a fine corn sheller.

The crops are looking well at present.

KENNEY'S.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The farmers of this section are bound to do a part in the good work going on throughout Canada at present by way of improvements in their business and in the way of stock feeding and winter dairying.

Mr. James Finnigan is busily engaged in overhauling his barn; walls are being placed underneath, with cement flooring. Mr. Finnigan is a young man who is making a success of farming and intends going in more and more into farming than formerly.

Mr. Hugh Gunn is a o engaged in the same line of work, remodeling his barns and fitting them more for stock feeding. Mr. Jas. Hussey is getting estimates for similar work, and will no doubt follow up the good work of his neighbors. Mr. Ed. Burns has also added to the appearance of his premises by having stone foundations placed underneath. Mr. Daniel Finnigan is having his house and surroundings touched up in an appropriate and tidy manner. Policeable rumor has it that Dan is contemplating a change in the running of his business. Particulars later.

MOUNT HOREB.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mr. Wilbert Hartle, son of Mr. Herman Hartle, has been visiting friends here last week. He attended the School of Pharmacy in Toronto and is after getting through with honors. He is now a full-fledged druggist.

The many friends of Mr. W. J. Skuce, will be pleased to learn that his condition has been showing steady progress within the past two weeks and his friends are now hopeful of his ultimate recovery after a three months' illness.

Mr. Herman V. Harte, our pioneer thrasher, has invested in a new twenty-four horse power engine, self-feeding separator, and wind starter, manufactured by the Waterloo Threshing Co. The sale was effected through Mr. Thos. Hicks, the local agent at Lindsay. Mr. Harte, who by the way, is one of the best known thrashers in Victoria and Durham counties, found it necessary to get more modern and up-to-date outfit than what he had been using to meet the requirements of his growing trade, as work had to be turned away during the past two seasons, and it sometimes fell to the lot of some of his best customers to be disappointed. With the present outfit he hopes to be able to attend to the wants of his old customers in a more faithful manner than hitherto, and also as many new ones as he can accommodate.

Mr. Arthur Graham, of Fleetwood, was in this section lately and was fortunate in placing a number of those labor-saving devices, the Myers Hay Forks and Slings, with some of our most progressive farmers.

Mr. Jos. Shaw, of Peterboro, is visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brandon and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Wilson, of Kinmount, spent Sunday with friends here.

Mr. Stubbs, of Peterboro, gave a photograph and moving picture entertainment here, last week.

Mrs. Wm. Hughes left Monday for a visit to St. Louis Exposition, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Moore, of Qu'Appelle, N. W. T.

Mrs. McGregor, of Lindsay, visited friends here lately.

Deep sympathy is felt for Mr. Jos. Shaw, in the loss he has sustained by the death of his young wife, which sad event occurred on June 7th. The

And Whereas, under the provisions of Section 4 of Chapter 37 of the Statutes of Ontario for the year 1904, it is not necessary for the Council of any County to submit to the electors, or to obtain the assent of the electors, to any by-law providing for the issue of debentures for the purchase of a site or the erection of buildings for a House of Refuge where the amount required to be raised does not exceed $40,000.00;

And Whereas, the total amount required by the Municipal Act to be raised annually by special rate for paying the said debt and interest is the sum of $2,944.00; whereof $1,670.00 is to be so raised annually for payment of interest during the currency of said debentures and $1,344.00 is to be raised annually for the purpose of creating a sinking fund for payment of the debt secured by said debentures;

And Whereas, the amount of the whole rateable property of the County of Victoria, according to the last revised and equalized Assessment Roll thereof is $11,656,215.00;

And Whereas, the said County has no debenture debt, but the said County has by its By-law numbered 567 guaranteed the repayment of debentures regularly issued by the Village of Fanelon Falls—a municipality within the said County of Victoria—to the amount of seventy-five thousand dollars;

THEREFORE, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the County of Victoria enacts as follows:—

(1) That for the purpose of raising the said sum, debentures of the said County to the amount of $40,000.00 as aforesaid shall be issued, in sums of not less than $1,000.00 each, on the First day of October, 1904; each of which debentures shall be dated on the said First day of October, and shall be payable on the First day of October, 1924, at the Bank of Montreal, in the Town of Lindsay, in the said County of Victoria.

(2) Each of the said debentures shall be signed by the Warden of the said County of Victoria, and also by the Treasurer thereof, and the Clerk of the said County of Victoria shall attach thereto the Corporate Seal of the said Municipality.

(3) The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable half yearly at the said Bank on the First days of April and October in each and every year during the currency thereof, and shall have attached to them coupons for payment of said interest; which coupons shall be signed by the said Warden and Treasurer.

(4) During the currency of the said debentures there shall be raised annually by special rate on all the rateable property in the said County of Victoria the said sum of $1600.00 for payment of interest on the said debentures, and the said sum of $1,344.00 for the purpose of creating a sinking fund for payment of the debt hereby secured, making in all the sum of $2,944.00 to be raised annually by special rate as aforesaid during each of the said twenty years.

(5) This By-law shall take effect on the first day of October, 1904. Passed at the town of Lindsay, in the said County of Victoria, this day of June 1904.

Mariposa Lady Seriously Injured in a Runaway Accident.

On Monday of this week, as Mrs. W. Philips was driving down the 9th con. of Mariposa, and when near the Oakwood road, an automobile passed going east. The horse she was driving took fright, and turned the rig completely around, throwing the lady out and overturning the buggy. Mrs. Philips was picked up in an insensible condition by two young men who witnessed the accident. The driver of the automobile did not stop to render any assistance, nor is the owner of the machine known.

TO CAMP ON 28th

45th Victoria Regt. Companies are Getting Ready.

OFFICERS WILL ENDEAVOR TO HAVE EIGHT UNITS OF FULL STRENGTH

New Clothing and Accoutrements to be Issued to the Men Before Leaving.

Not since June '91 has the 45th Victoria Regiment appeared at annual drill in full strength, and led by the regimental band. Last year, and the year previous, the D. O. C. authorized a skeleton formation, and the eight companies turned out with less than 30 officers and men in each, but this year the word has been passed that the Regiment is to assemble in full force and with all colors flying, and bands playing, so to speak, on the morning of June 28th, when the force will entrain for Kingston for two weeks' drill—and other sport. The Regiment will be officered as follows:

Lieut.-Col. R. H. Sylvester, in command.

Major Staples, second in command.

Lieut. F. Hopkins, Acting Adjutant.

Major E. H. Hopkins, Quartermaster.

Capt. J. A. Williamson, Paymaster.

If each Company fills its ranks—which is considered most likely—the Regiment will march out 360 strong. The Company commanders are:

No. 1, Lindsay—Capt. Henley.

No. 2, Lindsay—Capt. Williamson.

No. 3, Lindsay—Capt. Holtorf.

No. 4, Onemee—Capt. McGee.

No. 5, Burnt River—Capt. Suddaby.

No. 6, Woodville—Lieut. Patterson.

No. 7, Little Britain—Lieut. E. Smith.

No. 8, Bobcaygeon—Capt. Lancaster.

The 45th Regiment Band, 21 members strong, led by Bandmaster Roenick, will accompany the Battalion for the first time since 1891, and will be as confident, do their part in winning credit for the Regiment and honor for themselves.

The men of the several companies will learn with no little satisfaction that the efforts of Lieut. Col. Sylvester to secure a new issue of clothing and fittings throughout has been successful, and the Regiment will therefore be in a position to present an exceptionally fine appearance. Helmets were supplied new last year, and are in excellent condition, but new pugarees and badges were asked for by Col. Sylvester and have been forwarded. When they are added the finishing touch will have been given to the spick new outfit.

For the Credit of the County.

A word to the men of the County who have sons fit to make soldiers of. Encourage them to seek admission to the Regiment—two weeks in camp under strict yet not irksome discipline, combined with the physical benefit resulting from the drill, has a grand effect on young men, but there is a more potent reason why they should join—and that is, from patriotic motives. At the present time, when an earnest effort is being made to improve the Militia force and to foster Rifle Associations in every district, it would be most discouraging to those at the head of affairs, and to the officers of the Regiment in particular, if the young men—the hope of the country—were prohibited from joining and receiving the needed training because the head of the family thought the son's services were needed on the farm. The country has need of him, and the father who fails to do his part in the scheme being moulded for the defence of his country will incur a grave responsibility. The home that sends a young man forth with the 45th Regiment will be honored above others in the estimation of true lovers of Fair Canada.

It may not be amiss to point out that under the new regulations the men will be much better paid this year than formerly. First year men will receive an increase of 20c. per day or 70c.; second year men 50c. increase, or 90c.; third year men 50c. increase, or 1.00.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, of Lakeview Farm, Receive Congratulations.

On Thursday evening, June 16th, one of the happiest events of the year was celebrated at the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, "Lakeview Farm," it being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. In the evening about 9 o'clock the guests from Ops and Lindsay began to arrive to spend with the happy couple and their family a few hours of well-earned enjoyment. About one hundred guests were present, and just on the one object of wishing Mr. and Mrs. Lynch another twenty-five years of wedded life. After an evening spent in games, music and dancing, the gathering broke up in the wee small hours of the morning.

The bride and groom of twenty-five years ago seemed to be as young as ever, taking part in the first dance the same as the young people present. The bride received many gifts which were very handsome as well as useful. It is an evening that they will long remember as well as the guests who were present. The Post joins with their many friends in wishing them another quarter of a century of married life.

RUSSIAN CRUISERS

Arrive Back in Vladivostok After a Successful Raid.

DETAIL OF THE WORK THEY DID

Japs Continue to Advance From Suifu—Continuous Skirmishes Between Outposts—No Further Advance of Gen. Oku's Army Reported—Well-Informed Russian Authority

Vladivostok, June 22.—Lying in the harbor are the three Russian cruisers which have just returned from their successful raid in the Japan Sea and Straits of Corea. Vice-Admiral Bezobrazoff took the squadron out on June 12. The first day the warships were fog-bound. They reached the Korean Straits, June 15, and were sighted and watched by a fast three-masted Japanese cruiser. On Tsu Island the Russians pursued a vessel resembling a yacht, which escaped in shore.

They sank the Japanese transport Izdumi off Kotsu Island. The Izdumi was bringing back invalided soldiers from Port Dalry, 105 of whom were rescued by one of the Russian cruisers.

The Japanese transports Hitachi and Sado were next sighted, and soon after the Hitachi, which was filled with troops, disregarding the signal to stop, put on full speed. The Russian cruisers thereupon opened fire on the Hitachi, crippling her engines and setting her decks on fire. Russian Loss 6,500.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—The reports of heavy fighting at Haicheng are denied by the general staff. The Japanese are continuing to advance from Suifu, and there are continuous skirmishes between outposts, but no further advance of General Kuroki's army has been reported.

The Russian losses at the battle of Vafangow are turning out to be heavier as the reports of the various regiments come in. They are now placed by conservative official estimates at four thousand, but a usually well informed authority expects the total to be no less than 6,500.

War Correspondent Shou.

New York, June 22.—A cable message to The World, which was unsigned, but which The World says probably was forwarded by the American Legation at Peking, announces the shooting of Col. Edwin Emerson, jr., one of The World's correspondents in the East, and conveyed the impression that he had been killed. The cable stated it was reported that Col. Emerson had been shot by retreating Russians who mistook him for a spy.

Premier Needed a Rest.

Toronto, June 22.—Premier Ross leaves this afternoon for Hot Springs, Virginia, where he will remain till Aug. 1. "Whether my visit will be extended beyond that time remains to be seen," he concluded. Hon. J. M. Gibson said that the statement attributed to him about the Premier's health was rather too strong. Except for his rheumatism, and the natural fatigue following the hard work of the session, Mr. Ross was in fairly good health.

Second Gibraltar Bought.

Madrid, June 21.—Various papers state that they understand the Spanish Government has sold to an English official the Island of Fraile, which lies opposite Aguilas, in the Province of Murcia. The island has a superficial area of ten acres, and is bombastically called the second Gibraltar, and is a fine strategic position. It is stated that the place is to be fortified. The Government is to be asked for an explanation.

Not Favorable.

London, June 21.—Earl Percy, the Under Foreign Secretary, replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, said that representations had been made to the United States regarding the disadvantage under which West Indian sugars labored in the markets of the United States, as compared with Cuban sugars, but no reply had been received indicating a prospect of any arrangement more favorable to British trade.

Canada's Taxidermist Dead.

Victoria, B. C., June 21.—John Fannin, founder and for many years curator of the Fannin's Natural History Museum in Victoria, died yesterday, aged 66 years. He was a native of Kentville, Ont., and one of the earliest pioneers of British Columbia, having worked across the plains in 1862. It was reckoned the most skillful taxidermist in Canada, and had no superior on the coast as a hunter.

Canada Won.

London, June 22.—(C. A. P.)—At the Crystal Palace the Canadian bowlers defeated a strong side of the London County Club, led by Dr. W. G. Grace. The Dominion bowlers displayed the best form they have yet shown while on tour, winning in brilliant style by 85 to 79. On Saturday the Canadians play an international game against Wales at Cardiff.

Infant Was Murdered.

Toronto, June 21.—Coroner Pickering's jury last night returned a verdict of wilful murder against some person or persons unknown, at the resumed inquest into the death of the infant found in a bag in the bay on June 11. There were 54 yards of tape wound around the throat and head, a napkin tied tight around the neck and the head was battered in. The body was that of a fine healthy ten-pound baby.

JOHN TOPP, PIRATE.

"Afraid?"
"Yes, afraid. What of it?"
"It isn't like John Topp."
"John Topp fears no man," I said sharply. "but the devil I won't tackle."
"Jack, your superstition is childish," said Alec gravely. "An angry Spaniard was the only devil I could see."
"Then, for the matter of that, why did you run?"
"Partly because you did."
"Thanks! And the other reason?"
"I was afraid of a sword in his hand, and apparently you are not ashamed to own that."

"That was not my reason," said Alec. "No? Then what was? Surely a very cunning one, for I quite fail to see it." It was my turn now, I thought. "He's your sweetheart's father," replied Alec simply.

I stopped dead. "Alec," I said, "I give you leave to hit me as hard as you like, straight from the shoulder, here on my blundering, stupid mouth—a straight left hander, mind! And I promise you I won't return the blow."
"No, thanks," replied Alec, with a laugh.
"I wish you would," I answered penitently. "I deserve it for venturing to speak of cowardice and Alec Ireland in the same breath. Can you forgive me?"

"Of course I do," said Alec, with another laugh, and he wouldn't let me say another word about it. I saw, though, that he was hurt, and no wonder. When a man is acting from motives of pure chivalry, it is hard that his own sworn shipmate should accuse him of cowardice. I was thoroughly ashamed of myself, and even now the only excuse I can make for my disloyal suspicions is that the fearsome scene we had witnessed in the alchemist's laboratory had so scared me that I did not rightly know what I was saying. It's a thin excuse, though, at the best.

CHAPTER III.

"One eye, one hand and an otter skin cap"—that is my earliest recollection of Willie Trehalton.

Our first meeting took place when I was quite a youngster. He had come up to the vicarage on some errand or other, and when I told him my father was out he said he would wait and offered to pass the time in telling me a story for a pot of ale. I remember well, even now, how he grumbled at the poverty of the liquor I gave him, and, to tell the truth, our small beer was exceedingly small.

But, admitting that I could not fairly be blamed for the weakness of the

I hung upon his words, brew, he sat down on the bench outside the kitchen door and to pay for his drink spun me such wonderful tales of working wonders on which there lived magicians who sold wands of mermaids and sea serpents and other marvels of the deep, all of which he had himself seen in his travels, that I hung upon his words and thought him the greatest hero I had ever seen. And afterward, whenever I met his squat, square figure rolling down the street, he always had a nod or a cheery "How goes it, my young master?" for me, a place of condescension which gave me more pleasure than did the most extravagant praise from the schoolmaster or any other of my lawful teachers. That my estimate of Willie's qualities was not altogether accurate was proved by the manner of his leaving Whitby.

One night, in a frolicsome mood, engendered, no doubt, by liquors more potent than the vicarage beer, he attempted to break the constable's head, and as next day he had to sit in the stocks as a penalty for his joke he considered that he had been insulted by the inhabitants of Whitby. He disappeared, therefore, from the town, and, though I did not see him again for nearly eight years, I remembered his stories, but the man himself became a mere hazy phantom in my mind until on the day after our adventure with the alchemist I met him again.

About midday Don Miguel had called at the vicarage and asked to see my father. They were closeted together for a long time, and as I began to fear that this conjunction of the church with one of the devil's own favorites boded ill for my comfort presently, I told Alec.

"Well," said he, "what can we do? We shall just have to take our punishment."

"Yes, I suppose so," said I, "but if I've to be punished I don't see why I shouldn't have some fun first, and in any case it would be a shame to waste a fine afternoon like this at school."
"Does seem a pity," he replied, "and it will be very hot and wearisome, with nothing to do but pester old Prosody in his after-dinner sleep. Come on; let's do something else!"
"Right. What shall we do?"
"Fish."

"The very thing! Then I can take a salmon as a present to Dame Garrat in the evening. She's apt to get sharp-tongued if I go too often empty-handed to see Inez."

So we borrowed a boat and a net and set up the river at the second hour of the flood. We had just grounded our boat on the bank near the high bluff, where the stream turns off to the north, and were busy making fast one end of our net on the shore when we noticed that a stranger had taken up his quarters on the opposite bank.

He was a short, dark, sturdy man in the dress of a sailor. He wore loose knee breeches, with a short canvas smock over them; coarse blue worsted stockings, and shoes latched with brass buckles. Round his waist was a broad leather belt, into which was stuck a bone-handled sheath knife; on his upper spurs was a huge brown, wide-sleeved, wide-skirted coat, with the tails looped up to be out of the way, and on his head was a cap of brown skin. He was standing in a 20 foot boat, which he had fitted with a house of canvas and wood, and was finishing his work by giving it all a generous coat of tar.

The figure seemed somehow familiar to me, and when I saw that the tar pot hung from a hook which had been substituted for a right hand the feeling that I ought to know the man grew stronger. Suddenly he broke out into a song, accompanying himself by beating a tattoo with the tar brush on the top of the cabin. The song was one I frequently had heard Willie Trehalton bawl through the Whitby streets years ago:

Ball away,
Hack away,
Plunder! (Tap with tar brush.)
Beat all the money like a man.
Come back,
Nothing lack,
Thunder! (Rep.)
Gather all the valuables you can.

This verse was solo and chorus both, and to begin singing the song was very much like starting to roll a big stone down hill—it was easy to start, but almost impossible to stop till the voice, like the slope, was exhausted.

"Willie Trehalton, ahoy!" I cried, and the singer turned round to see who was calling.

He had not altered one jot since I saw him last. His face was browned by the sun, wrinkled by the winds and purpled by strong liquors, and, as this richness of coloring was in strong contrast to the rest of his head, which, underneath the protecting otter skin cap, was as round and smooth as an ivory ball, the effect of the whole was distinctly striking. Add to this background of purple and white a globular blue nose, a jag for a mouth, an irregular depression where the right eye should have been, and (always remembering the iron hook for a right hand) you have a fairly faithful picture of Willie Trehalton, boss 'un.

We pulled across to him, shooting the salmon net as we went.

"How goes it, Willie?" I cried. "Don't you remember me?"

"Master Topp, I warrant me! Growned to a stout lad since I seed thee last, master, but the same face as Willie Trehalton left eight years ago last gull egg season. It'll be scraped with a razor afore long, trust me. And who be this?"

"My sworn shipmate, Willie."
"Service to you, master. And his name, if I may be so bold?"
"Alexander Ireland," I said. "Come to Whitby since you left."

Willie started when I told him the name, and I saw his solitary eye scanning Alec all over, as if he expected to see something familiar in him.

"Any manner o' kin to Captain Harry Ireland, what was lost on the Spanish main?"

"Son," said Alec.
"Put it there!" cried the sailor, molesting his leathern hat and holding it out for Alec to grasp. "Put it there, if a young gentleman like you ain't too proud! I sailed under your father, lad."

"Sailed with my father!" exclaimed Alec excitedly. "Then you can tell me about him."

"That I can. I sailed with him to the Barbary coast on a back just afore he left London river for the Spanish main. It was a r'yal voyage we made an good for him if he'd been content with what was brought home then. But he was always a venturesome man, was Cap'n Ireland, an his search for Manoa proved to be his last voyage, poor body!"

"Tell me about it," said Alec eagerly. And I could see that his face was flushed with excitement at the prospect of hearing news of his father.

"We went out to the Barbary coast with about ten peddler's packs o' beads an gewgaws, along with some risted nails an a few score o' barrel hoops, an we came back with a cargo as a Jew would sell his beard for a look at. Such a cargo—gold dust an gold pens an gold pebbles an ornaments o' gold an a great gould kettle big enough to stew a goat in, that Cap'n Ireland gave to the queen's own majesty! I tell 'ee there was gold enough to fill this boat o' mine three times over. Why, there was a many o' us as sold the ragged old clothes off our backs, let alone what was stowed away in the chests, an some even would have traded the weapons o' the ship o' Captain Ireland hadn't stopped them. Elephants' teeth there was, some black with age an some still bloody from their moorings, an river horses' teeth an other things as I disremember the outlandish names of. An when we left the king o' the blacks fell a-blubbering because we had nothing more to sell him."

"A right swift pass we made o' it home, too—58 days out o' the Barbary river—never an hour more—when our anchor was dropped again in honest Thames mud. An when the merchants came aboard with their clerks an the news was spread on shore the bells was set a-ringing out o' sympathy with our good fortune. It was a r'yal voyage for sure!"

"And afterward?" asked Alec when the boatswain stopped.

"Afterward? Why, afterward we went an spent our money like men. No more work for a spell, so off we set ashore. We lived like emperors, sparing nothing we wanted, some for a week, some o' the thrifty ones even longer. You should ha' seen us setting casks o' good ale abroad for every one to drink your father's health, young sir, an decking the girls with ribbons till they looked like a lot o' laughing rain-bows! Eh, but those were merry days!"

"But my father," said Alec impatiently—"what of him?"

Willie's single eye dwelt for a second on the questioner's face and then turned away.

"Best draw your net, masters, afore you hear any more o' the yarn," he pronounced. "Tide's ebbing fast, an you'll have a tough job to get across as it is."

Absorbed by the interest of Willie's story, we had quite forgotten about our fishing, and now the rapidly ebbing tide gave us considerable difficulty in hauling in our net. The catch, however, was a good one—seven very fair fish and one 20 pounder, which, I resolved, should go as a peace offering to Dame Garrat, the Spaniard's house-keeper.

There was a small grate in the cabin of Willie's boat, and we soon had the rich, red salmon steaks toasting before it.

The scent of the cooking brought an addition to the party. A gaunt, long-legged, black cat put his nose round the door and leered at Alec and me with such an evil expression that we involuntarily shrank back, and I, at least, had uncomfortable recollections of the stories I had heard of witches and of the evil eye. A cat may be a mere cat and nothing more, but the other sort—never name them—are much the same to look at, and I had no particular fancy for being hurried away on a roomstick to attend a witches' Sabbath.

Willie noticed my consternation and broke out into a roar of laughter.

"Ha, ha, Master Topp! Afraid o' Nep, I see. Come, Nep; there's a compliment for you! You've scared the young gentleman with your pretty smile. No need to fear him, my lads. If there ever was any witchery in him, the salt water has washed it all out by now. Nep's been half over the world with me, an was half-drowned, an the dark for a week without getting a spark out o' him."

That was all very well, but when Nep set up the brine stiffened bristles on his tail and arching his back, spat and swore at me through his jagged teeth, all because I moved my 20 pounder out of his reach, I thought it advisable to rap out a piece of Latin just by way of precaution. As a child I was taught to do so, and I have followed the rule with success throughout life. Nep, however, was nothing more than he seemed, and in later days we became shipmates and firm friends, though it took some time before I became sufficiently accustomed to his eccentricities to be able to pass him without a shudder.

When the steaks were cooked, the boatswain produced from one of his lockers a little canvas bag of spices and from another some rough wooden plates, and while we set to with our knives Nep did the same with his teeth, growling vigorously to show his satisfaction, though I had previously taken the precaution to sign a surreptitious cross over the share that Willie gave him. We made a hearty meal, and Willie, after he had with sailorlike tidiness stowed everything back into its place, tucked himself comfortably into a corner of his cabin, took the cat on his knee and advised us to follow his example and enjoy 40 winks to help our digestion.

"But you haven't yet told me about my father," objected Alec.

"Your father, young sir," said Willie solemnly, "sailed once more for the Spanish main in search o' the golden city o' Manoa, an o' him an o' the company o' brave lads as went with him never a word has been heard to this day."

Alec was silent for a few moments, and neither Willie nor I cared to interrupt his thoughts.

"I don't believe my father is dead," he said at length.

"Mayhap not," answered Willie, "but if he hasn't, why, then he's in the inquisition's claws, an that's nigh upon the same thing, for you'll never set eyes on him again, though it's sorry I be to have to say such a word to you."

"Jack," said Alec solemnly, taking my hand, "I shall search for my father, and I know that some day I shall meet him again, but how—I wonder how?"

"I'm with you in the search, Alec," I whispered.

Willie had been watching us narrowly, with a smile of half-doubting approval seaming his face. Now he spoke: "Well, well, lads, if ever you do start to throw away your lives on such a fool's quest just let Willie Trehalton know, an mebbe he'll ship with you as boatswain. Captain Harry Ireland was the best captain that ever stepped, an I'm thinking that this old tar can't do better than take service under his son. But you'll never find your father, lad, Manoa has led many besides him to their graves, an mebbe he's the death of a few more before it's found."

CHAPTER IV.

Three days had passed since our adventure in Don Miguel's house, and as I had heard no more about the broken crucible I began to hope that if there had been a storm it had blown over.

But on the fourth morning, after breakfast, my father told me to follow him into his study, and I guessed that an uncomfortable half hour was in store for me. I was not wrong.

"John," said my father, "what were you doing at Don Miguel's house three nights ago?"

"I went to see Inez," I replied, trembling, but defiant.

"Do you often go?"

"Yes, father."

"Why?"

He was looking at me so gravely, and he spoke so quietly, I knew he was very angry. I thought, however, that the boldest course was the best, so I spoke the plain truth.

"Because Inez is my sweetheart."

"Your sweetheart? H'm!" he stared at me harder than ever.

"Yes, father," I said, twirling my cap in my fingers nervously, "and—and I want to marry her."

"Oh, is that so? How old are you?"

"I'm in my nineteenth year."

"Quite true, quite true. Your statements are generally reliable, John. It is your own good point. But I may remind you that it is also true that you celebrated your eighteenth birthday just a month ago. You'd forgotten that for the moment!"

"No, father."

"No? Well, just for the sake of argument, we will say you are 18. Rather young to marry, isn't it?"

"Yes, father," I answered, "but—"

"Never mind the 'but,' John. You are too young to marry, and that's one point against you. How do you propose to support a wife? Pardon my asking; it's a very pertinent question."

"I thought perhaps that you—"

"Well, out with it, John. You thought perhaps that I—"

"That you would set me up in some business."

"Good! I was afraid that you were going to suggest that I might share my income with you, but I'm glad to find that I misjudged you. Let me see. What sort of business should you prefer? A fisherman's? You shake your head. A poacher's? No? Well, I'm afraid I can't think of anything else for which you are suited. It is very sad, but really I don't think you can support a wife at present. Point number two, John!"

"But, father—"

"But I want to go to sea," I cried.

"Wait a minute. I have two more points to urge yet, and then you can have your say. Point number three—The lady is a foreigner. Point number four—I have other views for you. Now let me hear what you have to urge on your side."

"I love Inez."

"Ah! And—"

"She loves me."

"And—"

"Nothing else."

"Well, John, they are both, no doubt, very cogent reasons. I shouldn't advise you to trust too much to the second, by the way, but I am afraid they are not sufficient. Now, sir, listen to me. You are an idle, good for nothing scamp, and from every side I hear nothing but bad reports of you. You and your companion in mischief, Alexander Ireland, are a disgrace to the town. Don Miguel tells me that you utterly ruined an experiment of his which had taken months of constant work and had cost him a large sum of money. He had just brought it to a successful conclusion when you caused him to spill his precious liquid on the floor, and he demands that I shall make good the damage. What do you say to that?"

"That you won't do it," I answered, for I knew my father.

"Well, no. I don't consider that he was engaged on lawful work, so I shall refuse to pay. But that is not the point. Your conduct is simply disgraceful, and I have resolved to put a stop to it. I have obtained a sizarship for you at Clare Hall, Cambridge, and you shall start off there in two days."

"But I want to go to sea," I cried. (To be Continued.)

DUNDONALD AND BULLER.

(Montreal Daily Herald)

Not so long ago, spurred on by false friends, who wanted to attack the Ministry of the day, General Buller speaking at a semi-private dinner severely criticized his Cabinet superiors.

What happened to Buller?

The British Government, finding him insubordinate, promptly relieved him of the duty of subordination.

He was down and out before he had time to get his second breath.

He had made the mistake of assuming that because they are soldiers they are superior to other people and held by none of the restraints that bind other people.

Then he committed the defence of his action to parliamentary opponents of the Government.

Buller failed in the brief campaign he undertook, and thus he was dropped by those who had used him to serve their own ends.

Dundonald's case is similar. When he got back from the war in South Africa the British Government had no place to put him. But as they were political friends of his and his powerful connections they had to find him a place. General O'Grady-Haly was then in Canada, and the Canadian Government were perfectly satisfied with him, and wanted to keep him. No politics in it, of course, but Dundonald's political friends had to find a place of some honor for him, and they got him this one. So reluctantly the Canadian Government parted with O'Grady-Haly, and took him.

Now he has done just what Buller did. He criticizes from Buller only in that he asserts his superiority to the Government which provided him with employment, and allows himself to speak in contemptuous terms of those with whom he has passed the last two years.

What with his insubordination, his remarks about "etiquette," his direct attack upon the Minister of Agriculture, and his making Col. Sam Hughes, (of all men) his Parliamentary advocate, it ought to be clear to Lord Dundonald that he has ceased to be the intermediary between the Government and the militia.

MASTERS POLITICS.

Toronto Saturday Night in its last issue refers to Hon. Mr. Fielding's budget speech in the following appreciative terms:

Mr. Fielding's budget speech was a piece of masterly politics. Without yielding to the clamor for more protection in a sweeping sense and for the salvation of the British preference, he has apparently adjusted the tariff to meet the necessities of the situation. If any national neighbor overcharged with goods endeavors to make Canada a dumping-ground, provision is made to prevent the slaughtering of stuff here to the damage of our local manufacturers by something like what our Yankee neighbors call a countervailing duty. Those clamoring for abrogation of the British preference have quoted the woe of the woolen trade as being damag-said is that the matter ought to be carefully and impartially investigated. The Town of Port Hope and the adjacent municipalities have asked for a fair, impartial and exhaustive survey of both routes by an independent engineer, and this seems to be a reasonable request.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Montreal Herald: Sam Hughes' view is that there should be no politics in the militia until voting day, and no political influence in the regiments until the Conservatives get back to power.

In 1885 the Canadian national debt was $50.07 per capita; it has now been reduced to $46.69, notwithstanding that the population has largely increased. Well done Laurier!

The attendance at the St. Louis Fair for the week ending June 6-11 was 495,228. The largest day's attendance was on Wednesday, 131,951, of which only 68,467 were paid admissions. Such figures prepare one for an adverse financial showing when the show closes.

The Globe might properly ask Col. Sam Hughes for an answer to the following: The General Officer Commanding should be an example to the whole force. If every officer in the militia is at liberty to make speeches against his superior officer, what will become of discipline?

Lord Minto's successor, Earl Grey, comes of a distinguished family, and will not enter upon his duties here as an untried man. He is in his 53rd year, has had considerable political and administrative experience and owns an area of about 17,600 acres in Northumberland, of which share he has been Lord-Lieutenant since 1899.

Hamilton Daily Times: The way to encourage more building is not to lower the taxes on houses in existence, but to put the increase on the land values without regard to whether they are improved or not. Then men would not find holding vacant land for a big rise profitable, and would seek to make it revenue-yielding by building houses and shops and factories.

Some of the Brantford aldermen complain because the local newspapers do not publish their speeches at greater length, and one wisacre purports to have a municipal reporter appointed to write accounts for both papers. But how is he to get the papers to publish the reports. Do as they do on the other side in some places? Have the city pay for them as so much advertising matter?

Wednesday the St. Louis Exposition managers were called upon to pay to the Government 40 per cent. of the gross receipts from admissions and concessions in part liquidation of a loan of $4,000,000. The receipts have been away below expectations, and the Secretary of the Treasury has warned the fair people that if payment is not made the Government will take charge of the sale of tickets. Have world's fairs lost their power to bring in the shovels?

The Farmers' Sun replies to Industrial Canada's cry that "even the farmers require protection," as butter is imported at some points in Canada, by saying: "The argument is as foundationless as such arguments usually are. The products named are imported into Canada because, at certain points along the frontier, American sources of supply are so much nearer than a Canadian source that to compel the consumer to draw upon the latter would involve heavy and unnecessary cost in the way of transportation charges."

The Dundonald fracas aired in the House of Commons last week may be fairly sized up as an attempt to grab all the important commissions in the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons for Tory helpers, which scheme was rather cleverly checkmated by the Hon. the Minister of Agriculture, who by the way represents the county from which the main strength of the regiment is drawn, and may therefore be credited with having intimate knowledge of all the circumstances of the case. All honor to the minister, who blocked the scheme to re-introduce politics into the affairs of the militia.

Montreal Witness, Wednesday: The budget debate, which is nearly at an end, has been a most curious one. In the old days, the financial critic of the Opposition was always prepared with his answer as soon as the Minister of Finance had resumed his seat, but it was a full week after Mr. Fielding's proposals had been brought down before Mr. Borden felt equal to or was prepared to reply to them. Perhaps like Mr. McLaughlin, in his scheme of life, the leader of the Opposition was waiting for something to turn up, on one side or the other, during the debate, to afford new and stronger matter for constructive or destructive argument; but if so he was doomed to disappointment, and his speech of yesterday, after so much deliberation, had not nearly the force of his speech a year ago, which immediately followed that of Mr. Fielding.

AN ASSESSMENT COMMISSION

PETERBORO ALDERMAN THINKS IT WOULD BE STEP IN ADVANCE.

Experiences of Other Cities and Towns Referred to.

Examiner: Ald. Rush, at the last meeting of the Council, called the attention of the Council to the present method of assessment in force in Peterboro, and suggested that the time had come when a change might be made, in the interests of the town. His plan was to appoint an assessment commission, who would devote his whole time to the work. He pointed out that at the present time those appointed to do the assessing were engaged only two or three months during the year, and could not be expected to keep in close touch with the affairs of the department. He believed that the assessment of the town would be much more equitably done if a permanent official were appointed to do the work. Persons wishing to build residences or business places would be obliged to obtain permits from the commissioner, and would submit plans of the proposed building, in which case the commissioner would be in touch with the new building being done, and would be enabled to fix the assessment intelligently.

He pointed out, too, that the new assessment act, which will come into effect next year, will require some very careful study before it will be understood, and it is hardly to be expected that men who spend only a few months each year will be in a position to familiarize themselves with the details of the new act.

In Guelph, where the assessment is $4,000,000, and the rate 20-1-2 mills, the assessment commissioner has a salary of $700, and in Brantford, with an assessment of $5,000,000, and a rate of 20 mills, there are two assessors, who each receive $150 a year. In Windsor there is an assessment of $5,500,000, and a rate of 21-1-2 mills. The commissioner gets $600, and $500 as secretary of the School Board.

Ald. Rush believed that the change as suggested would be in the interests of the town.

The Mayor stated yesterday that he had not gone into the matter thoroughly, but thought some improvement should be made in the as-

Mrs. Rosa Adams, niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C. S. A., wants every woman to know of the wonders accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you with pen and ink what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me, suffering from the ill effects of the sex, extreme lassitude and that all gone feeling. I would rise from my bed in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed, but before I had used two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to feel the buoyancy of my younger days returning, became regular, could do more work and not feel tired than I had ever been able to do before, so I continued to use it until I was restored to perfect health. It is indeed a boon to sick women and I heartily recommend it. Yours very truly, Mrs. ROSA ADAMS, 819 12th St., Louisville, Ky."

Any women who are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, general debility, and nervous prostration, should know there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No other medicine for women has received such wide-spread and unqualified indorsement. No other medicine has such a record of female cures.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am very pleased to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for womb and ovarian difficulties from which I have been a sufferer for years. It was the only medicine which was at all beneficial, and within a week after I started to use it, there was a great change in my feelings and looks. I used it for a little over three months, and at the end of that time I suffered no pain at the menstrual period, nor was I troubled with those distressing pains which compelled me to go to bed, and I have not had a headache since. This is nearly a year ago. I always keep a bottle on hand, and take a few doses every week, for I find that it tones up the system and keeps me feeling strong, and I never have that tired out feeling any more."

"I certainly think that every woman ought to try this grand medicine. It would prove its worth. Yours very truly, Miss ELSIE DANFORTH, 203 1/2 5th St., Memphis, Tenn."

The Weekly Post

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JUNE 24.

A WATCHFUL GUARDIAN.

We don't it our duty to call the attention of the people of the County—and the citizens of Lindsay and Ops in particular—to a fresh instance of the watchful supervision exercised by Mr. George McHugh in connection with all affairs calculated to affect the well-being of any portion of this district which he more immediately represents. His zeal and faithfulness have been demonstrated on very many occasions in the past, and so quietly as a rule that he has generally managed to escape the praise which was his due, but in the case to which we have alluded above the matter had to be dealt with by the Council of Ops township, and in this way a meritorious action was given the publicity it deserved.

Senator McHugh's bit of good service was in connection with the Lindsay Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway right of way south of this town, at the point where the track leaves the Duck farm and crosses the main road. The proposed route of the line as first explained to the Councilors and their interested had been accepted as satisfactory, but some few weeks ago the Senator, while attending a meeting of the Legislative Railway Committee, happened to catch sight of a plan of the L. B. & P. R'y line through Ops which did not seem to tally exactly with the one he had first seen. An inspection of it disclosed the fact that a change had been made in the location of the track at the Duck farm which would necessitate a narrow jog in the main driving road at that point. Suspecting that the Council were ignorant of the intended deviation, Senator McHugh at once notified them of his discovery, and urged them to forward a protest against the covert action of the Railway Company. This was done, with the result set forth in the following communication forwarded by the Senator and will be considered at the next meeting of the Township Council:

Office of the
RY COMMISSION FOR CANADA,
Ottawa, June 10th, 1904.

Sir,—I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 9th instant in re the petition of the Township of Ops in reference to the line of the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway. The Board, I understand, has favorably considered the petition, and will make the alteration in the plan asked for by the petitioners, and I am drawing an Order to that effect, which will be duly passed as soon as there is a meeting of the Board. This, I trust, will be satisfactory to your petitioners.—I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

A. D. CARTWRIGHT,
Secretary B. R. C.

The Hon. G. McHugh,
The Senate, Ottawa.

The thought may occur to some minds—and very properly, we think, "Why did not Dr. Vrooman, our member, or Col. Sam Hughes, who claims to be a Lindsay man and aspires to be our next representative, make this important discovery in advance of the Senator?" Why they did not we do not know. There is some excuse for the Doctor, who may have imagined that the carrying out of the first plan was an absolute certainty when once filed, but Col. Hughes who has consorted much with railway manipulators of late years, must have known better. Perhaps the true explanation is that he doesn't care a rap for the interests of the people of Ops and Lindsay—except at election time.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Globe: The misrepresentations of the Dundonald case by the Opposition press are amazing. One of them is that Lord Dundonald had to communicate with Col. Hughes in order to get his statement before parliament. The very object the Minister of Militia had in drawing his Lordship's attention to the reports of his speech in the press was to give him an opportunity of making a defence.

Toronto News (Ind.). The Opposition press has seized upon the word "foreigner," inadvertently used, and instantly corrected, by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in his statement regarding Lord Dundonald. It is clear from the context that the word the Premier substituted, "stranger," accurately conveys the thought to which he was giving expression. Nor was the term applied in an offensive way. The argument hinged upon the General's unfamiliarity with Canadian ideas, and the intention was to show that in that sense he was a stranger. To endeavor to fasten upon the Premier the charge that he called Lord Dundonald a "foreigner" is petty political tactics that will rather alienate sensible people.

WEST VIC. FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Annual Meeting for the Election of Officers and Other Business.

The annual meeting of the West Victoria Farmers' Institute was held in the Council chamber, Lindsay, on Wednesday, 15th June, 1904, at 1.30 o'clock p.m. Minutes of last annual meeting read and approved. Report of the Executive committee was read by the President, and on motion was approved. The President gave short address on the working of the Institute.

Moved by Mr. Robson, seconded by Donald Jackson, that we appoint an assistant secretary; at Woodville W. J. Escroff; Oakwood, J. E. Lowushough; Little Britain, Wesley Cornish; Valencia, Thomas Carpenter.—Carried.

Report of the Treasurer was read by him, showing a balance on hand of $10.40.—Adopted. Moved by W. R. Swain seconded by D. Jackson, that our regular meetings be held at Woodville and Lindsay, and our supplementary meeting be held at Oakwood, Little Britain and Valencia.—Carried.

Wm. Channon, President, called on H. Glendonning, Manilla, to take the chair. Mr. Glendonning then asked for the election of officers, President elected, Wm. He said that there are a great many holding meetings and judging stock by record cards, and he thought it a good plan for instruction as to judging. He then gave a description of his trip to British Columbia and what he saw there, and the methods of farming. The meeting then adjourned.

THE ARRIVAL OF THE RAILWAY.

L. B. & P. R'y Construction Train Reached the New Station Last Monday Evening.

Another link was Monday added to Lindsay's fine railway system by the completion of the C.P.R. line from Burketon to the new station of the L. B. & P. R'y. Co. in the east ward. At noon the construction gang and trains had reached Flavelles cold storage warehouse, and hundreds of citizens spent the afternoon watching the course of operations. They saw track-laying reduced to a science and with the least possible expenditure of labor. During the afternoon one of the two engines ran out of water, but the tender was replenished from the hydrant nearby, saving a trip to Burketon.

As the afternoon waned the large gang of men at work put on an extra spur in order to get the rails laid to the station and enable the engines to reach the newly erected water tanks. This was accomplished about 6.30 by leaving the rails partly unspiked all the way from the G. T. R. bridge.

At 8 o'clock as the construction train was backing to the cookery and sleeping cars on Ward's farm a van and flat car left the track near Beal's tannery, and the rehoming of them on the rails kept a number of men busy nearly all night.

Conductor Jas. Bott, formerly in the employ of the G.T.R., on this division, is in charge of the construction train and he received a warm welcome from old friends when he pulled in last evening.

Frontenac Company's Dividend.

The Frontenac Cereal Company of Kingston has declared a dividend of 7 per cent. per annum on the preferred stock of the company. The dividend was decided on at a meeting of the directors a few days ago. This is the result of the first year's business of the food, which has become so popular and which may now be found in almost every grocery and general store from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The success of the Frontenac Cereal Company in this, its first year's operations, is an indication of a very bright future before it.—dwil.

Prizes for the Lindsay Central.

The secretary of the Bug Death Chemical Co., Ltd., of St. Stephen, N. B., has notified Secretary Jas. Keith, of the Lindsay Central Exhibition, that the company will offer the following prizes at the coming Lindsay Central Fair, as special prizes for potatoes: 1st prize, three 12 1/2 lb packages of Bug Death valued at $2; 2nd, two 12 1/2 lb packages of Bug Death, $2; 3rd, one 12 1/2 lb package of Bug Death, $1. The potatoes are to be grown with Bug Death, no poison to be used. Confirmation of this to be furnished by the exhibitor if asked for. The exhibitor is to have a green basket, with not less than half a bushel of potatoes. The company will also have the privilege, if they so desire, of taking any of the prize lots for testing, to find out the percentage of starch they contain. Any information desired may be obtained from the secretary, as the best results are obtained by applying the Bug Death, while the plants are small. Intending competitors should get information at once.

CORRESPONDENTS' LETTERS

CAMBRAV.

(From Our Own Correspondent) Mrs. Wm. Wells was "at home" to a number of young people on Monday evening. Miss Edna Webster is spending a few weeks with friends at Manilla. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Little Britain, spent Monday afternoon in our village.

Mrs. Wm. Sinclair is visiting friends at Victoria Harbor and other places. Mr. and Mrs. Horn, from the vicinity of Orillia, have spent the past week with friends in this neighborhood. Mr. John Blachford and family, of Edmonton, are visiting their parents, Mr. Jos. Blachford. Mrs. Wallace, of Lindsay, was the guests of friends in our village last week.

Mr. Douglas, a former storekeeper in our village, was calling on friends here this week.

BROWN'S-MARIPOSA.

The trustees of our school have, with commendable good taste, invested in a new set of slate blackboards to replace the old wooden ones formerly in use. The purchase was made through Mr. E. P. Gillogly, of Lindsay, who represents a leading Toronto publishing house in school supplies. Teachers and pupils alike are most lavish in their thanks to those gentlemen who were so thoughtful as to provide this long felt want.

Mr. P. P. Anderson, one of our popular young men, was in town last week attending court as a juror. Miss Laura McCorvie, of the L. C. 1, will spend Sunday under the parental roof.

All the youth and beauty of the place are looking forward with marked interest to their prospectus visit to your town on the 1st of July. Mr. Marsh Lake is assisting Mr. Anthony McKinnon during the summer months.

One of our young men, who visited your town last week in the capacity of a juror, as far as can be learned, did not put in all his time at the Court House. Being of a genial disposition, he, during his short stay formed some social relations, which later on may ripen into something more than ordinary friendship.

VALENTIA.

Mr. Jas. Stoker is setting the pace for some of the older heads of the community. Since coming amongst us by close attention to business and honest, hard labor, he has been able to purchase the farm he rented here some few years ago, and has now given the contract to Mr. R. McTaggart to take down his present outbuildings and reconstruct them into one of the most modern stock and grain barns to be found in the county, with stone basement underneath. This is a showing that Mr. Stoker may well be proud of and is an object lesson for many a young man to copy after.

The anniversary services here on Sunday and Monday, the 12th and 13th, were voted by all a success. The Rev. Mr. Wallace, of Lindsay, conducted services twice on Sunday to large congregations. On Monday evening a tea was served by the good ladies of the locality, and the vital services were most appetizing. The Rev. Mr. Sinclair of Sonra, gave a lecture on "Church Union" and was listened to with varied attention. A programme of varied selections was given by the choir and children of the Sunday school. The receipts amounted to the gratifying sum of $130. The arranging committee deserve credit for the manner in which each detail was looked after.

—Owing to a rush of advertising, several of our correspondents' letters were unavoidably left over till next week.

PRESENT YEAR'S ESTIMATES

CITIZENS MAY HAVE TO PAY THE 30 MILLS RATE.

Owing to Absence of Several Members Council Did Not Fix the Rate.

The special meeting of Council called for Monday evening last had for its object the consideration of the estimates to be brought down by Finance Minister Cunningham, as per instructions issued to him about a week ago, but the absence of Alderman Robinson, Maund and McWaters rendered a discussion inadvisable, and the thrashing and winnowing of the items making up the somewhat alarming total will be undertaken at a meeting of the Finance Committee to be called for that purpose.

The Year's Estimates.
Mayor Scotherman pointed out that the absence of three members would necessitate a meeting of the Finance Committee to consider the estimates. The statement was then introduced by Ald Cunningham as follows:
Gentlemen, I respectfully beg to submit herewith a statement showing the estimated various rates and the taxation required to be levied for the purposes of the Town of Lindsay for the year 1904.

I am sorry to report that the rate will have to be considerably increased over the rate of last year owing to the large increase in the demands as many departments, as hereafter shown.

The uncontrollable expenditure of the Town of Lindsay for the current year amounts to $50,698.99 and requires a rate of 24.8419 mills on the dollar to meet same. This expenditure is made up of the demand of the County of Victoria for... $ 3,220.00

DEATHS

THE REGULAR JUNE SESSION OPENED THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Not Much Business to be Dealt With by the Members.

The June session of Victoria County Council opened Tuesday, June 14, at 2 o'clock, with the Warden in the chair, those present being: Messrs. Austin, Bailey, Bryans, Fairbairn, Graham, McGee, Scully, Shaver, Staback and Dr. Wood. The minutes of the January session, and of the special session held March 3rd, 4th and 5th, were read and confirmed.

The Warden then addressed the Council as follows:

Gentlemen,—Following the practice that has prevailed for a number of years, I shall not at the opening of the session refer to any matter calling for your consideration which may properly come before you by the submission of correspondence or other documents.

It is my duty to bring to your attention a matter in connection with the proposed introduction of a by-law, under the provisions of which debentures are to be issued for raising money for the purposes of the House of Refuge. Since the special session of the Council a question arose as to the most advantageous plan to be adopted for issuing the debentures, namely: By making the principal payable with the interest in instalments, or, by making the principal payable at the end of the term, out of a sinking fund to be levied annually. I deemed it to be expedient to consult the various committees, and a meeting of the Committee was held on May 17th. The County Clerk has communicated with a number of investing corporations, and the replies were submitted. After full discussion a resolution was passed advising me to have a by-law prepared for the issue of debentures amounting to $40,000, the debentures to bear interest at four per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly, provision to be made for the sinking fund in accordance with the terms of the Municipal Act. A by-law has been drawn by the County Solicitor in the terms indicated, and will be submitted for your consideration.

The settlement of the question of taking advantage of the provisions of the Act for the improvement of public highways has been deferred from session to session. I venture to bring that important subject to your attention anew, in the hope that progress can now be made.

On motion of Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Fairbairn, the various paragraphs of the Warden's address were referred to the appropriate committees.

Gentlemen,—Referring to the report of your committee adopted March 4th last, your committee beg to report that when Mr. T. R. Labelle, of Toronto, was informed that the tender was accepted, he asked that the sum of $688 be added to the amount of his offer. The chairman decided that the proposal should not be entertained, and with the concurrence of the Warden and such members of the Council as he could call together for immediate conference, he entered into negotiations with Mr. William McLean, of Woodville, whose tender was the lowest that had been received from residents of the County.

The result was the making of an offer to Mr. McLean of a contract for the whole works, for the sum of $29,000. The offer was accepted and an agreement was executed on March 9th. The agreement is submitted herewith.

NATURE'S WARNING SIGNAL.

The cry of a baby is nature's warning signal that there is something wrong. If a little one is fretful, nervous or sleepless, the safe thing to do is to administer a dose of Baby's Own Tablets. They speedily cure all the little ills of childhood, and give sound, natural sleep, because they remove the cause of the wakefulness and crossness. Mrs. T. L. McCormick, Pelee Island, Ont., says: "I am never worried about baby's health when I have the Tablets in the house, they always give prompt relief for all little ailments." The Tablets are good for children of all ages, and are guaranteed to contain no opiate. If you do not find the Tablets at your medicine dealers send 25 cents to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and a box will be sent you by mail post paid.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

Satisfactory Attendance at the Meetings—New Officers and Directors.

The last of the series of Women's Institute meetings was held recently, at which Mrs. Kenny, of Grandview, gave an address and Miss Duncan, of Emery, acted as demonstrator. It was shown by reports that the smallest attendance was about 31 and the largest about 100. During the past year meetings were held at Reboro, Valencia, Little Britain, Lindsay and Woodville. One thing which was noticed was that at some of the meetings a number of gentlemen were present. Twenty-two new members were enrolled this year, and it is the intention to make the coming season more successful.

The following officers were appointed: President, Mrs. G. H. Whitely, Lindsay; Vice-presidents, Mrs. D. W. King, Oakwood; Miss Agnes Jackson, Woodville; Mrs. Wm. Corsh, Little Britain; Directors, Mrs. G. V. Mills, Lindsay; Mrs. R. M. Bell, Lindsay; Mrs. Wm. Channon, Oakwood; Mrs. J. Barchard, Linden Valley; Mrs. Geo. MARIPOSA'S BIGAMY CASE.

WHAT LED UP TO THE HUSBAND'S DESERTION OF HIS WIFE.

A Dispute About Property at the Bottom of the Trouble.

A correspondent from Little Britain vicinity furnished the following particulars concerning the above sensation:

The case of bigamy in Mariposa has called forth a great deal of talk. It seems that about eight years ago Ellwood Rogers, a well-to-do young farmer living near Mariposa Station, married Miss Lucy J. Prior, one of the first young ladies of that vicinity, and only daughter of Thomas Prior, a well-to-do farmer and one of the oldest settlers. It is said that Mr. Prior gave his daughter the deed of his estate after his life as her wedding portion; then he leased the said estate to the son-in-law, which he wished in terms of five or seven years, but the son-in-law drew the lease for forty years. When the old gentleman found this out he was indignant and sought to have this lease broken; thus the dispute arose between the father-in-law and son-in-law and not between the wife and husband.

Mr. Rogers, after settling with his father-in-law about the lease, took the train for the West, leaving his wife and infant son. He remained in the West a short time, where he claims to have got a divorce. He returned and has been living in Mariposa for the last seven years, working together with his father. About May last the talk arose that he had married a Miss Emma Hillborn, daughter of Timothy Hillborn, of Kettleby, near Newmarket. His wife, hearing that he had married again, engaged a detective to verify the rumor. As a result the couple were arrested and both are under bonds awaiting the hearing of their case next Monday.

BANISH THE WRINKLES.

In Many Cases They are Merely Signs of the Ailments of Women.

A woman's face plainly indicates the state of her health. Wrinkles, which every woman dreads, are not necessarily a sign of age. Pallor of face, wrinkles and a prematurely aged appearance are the outward indication of those ailments that afflict womanhood alone, and from which she too often suffers in uncomplaining silence, rather than consult a doctor. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a woman's best friend. They actually make new, rich, red blood, and this blood, acting upon the nerves and all the organs of the body, brings new health and happiness to weak, weary and despondent women. Mrs. John McKerr, Chickney, N.W.T., tells for the benefit of other suffering women how she found new health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "For some years," says Mrs. McKerr, "I was greatly afflicted with the ailments that make the lives of so many of my sex miserable. The suffering I endured can only be understood by those who are similarly afflicted. I tried many remedies but found none that helped me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These have actually made me feel like a new person, and the suffering I had endured almost continuously has passed away, and life is no longer the burden it once seemed. I think these pills worth their weight in gold to all who suffer from female complaints or general prostration."

We ask every suffering woman to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. They will not disappoint you, and the benefit they will give is not for an hour or a day—it is permanent. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. See that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is on the wrapper around every box.

COUNTY COURT IN SESSION.

The Cases Will Conclude To-day—Grand Jury Presentment.

The County Court has been in session since Tuesday, one of the four cases occupying two days. The Court will adjourn this afternoon. Below we print the presentment of the Grand Jury:

May it please Your Honor,—The Grand Jurors of our Sovereign Lord the King, assembled at the General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Victoria, beg to make their presentment as follows:

They have given consideration to your Honor's remarks at the opening of the Court relative to the need that exists for systematic efforts being made to keep the roads in a passable condition during the winter. It is worthy of observation that the erection of wire fences along the leading highways has done much to keep them free from drifts, and in the opinion Grand Jurors the local municipality should show an encouragement for the erection of such fences to a still greater extent than has yet been done.

The Grand Jurors have visited the County Gaol and found only three persons in custody. Of these one man is of unsound mind and the other two are held on minor charges. It is evident that the commission of offences against the criminal law prevails to a very great extent in this County. The premises are in all respects in excellent condition.

The Ross Memorial Hospital has been visited. No comment, however favourable, would do justice to the high quality of the building and its equipment, and the management appears to be exceptional in its efficiency. It is a question whether the people of the County of Victoria have yet begun to realize how excellent a work has been made possible for the care of the sick and injured by the generosity of the donor of such a splendid institution.

The Home for the Aged continues to do the work assigned to it very creditably considering the limited facilities. It should be cause for gratification to the people of the County to have the Home of Refuge so permanent in the care of the destitute will be assured.

AT ST. MARY'S ON SUNDAY.

THIRTY CHILDREN MADE THEIR FIRST COMMUNION

An Impressive Ceremony—Sermon on the Sacraments by Fr. O'Sullivan.

The preparation of children of a suitable age to receive the sacrament of holy Eucharist for the first time is a duty to which the Roman Catholic church devotes the utmost care. The youthful candidates have to be thoroughly conversant with their catechism and be well grounded in the fundamental truths of their religion. In this work of love and duty Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Fr. O'Sullivan and the Sisters of St. Joseph had been engaged for some weeks prior to Sunday last, the class numbering 15 girls and 20 boys, and the last three days were set apart as a retreat, during which the young people reviewed the instructions received and indulged in prayer and meditation.

On Sunday morning the children received communion, Archdeacon Casey officiating. The girls were neatly attired and wore white veils; the boys wore dark suits and white shoulder knots, and the earnest and pious demeanor of the children contributed to the impressiveness of the occasion and the effect left upon the large congregation present. In the afternoon the children assembled again at the church at 3 o'clock to be invested with scapulars, after which there were prayers and the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

At high mass at 10.30 Rev. Fr. O'Sullivan delivered a sermon on the sacraments, of which the following is a synopsis:

"Ye shall draw water with joy out of the Saviour's fountains"—Isaiah XLII, 3.
God's greatest gift to us is His grace. Without it no one is justified, to one can perform any good work tending to his salvation. This treasure Jesus Christ purchased for us on Calvary and transmits to us chiefly through the channels of the sacraments. A sacrament is a visible or outward sign or action instituted by Christ to give grace. Three things, therefore, constitute a sacrament, viz., the external sign, the invisible grace, and the institution by Jesus Christ. Man being composed of a body and soul, has need of visible sign or sacrament to raise his mind to the invisible. Jesus Christ founded a religion in every way proportioned to the needs of our nature, consequently He has not failed in the institution of the sacraments to leave us visible pledges of the invisible grace which infallibly accompanies them. Moreover, the Catholic church is a visible society, and it is by participating in the sacraments that its members proclaim themselves its faithful children. Provided he who administers the sacrament has the power of doing so, and the intention of doing so, and faithfully performs the essential outward ceremony, grace is infallibly conferred unless the recipient places in its way the obstacle of mortal sin. Jesus Christ is the chief minister of the sacraments, and they operate by His grace in the soul by virtue of an intrinsic power which He was pleased to give them.

There are two kinds of grace produced by the sacraments, viz., sanctifying and actual. Sanctifying grace is an abiding perfection of the soul making us children of God and heirs to heaven. "Behold," says St. John, "what manner of charity the Father hath bestowed upon us that we should be called and be the sons of God." Actual grace, on the other hand, is a transient action of God upon the soul, enlightening the understanding and inclining the will to avoid evil and do good. "Without me," says Christ, "you can do nothing." Hence it is that though we be in a state of grace we have need of the special assistance of actual grace to perform a work tending to our salvation. Just as one who has good eyesight cannot see in the dark, so even he who is justified cannot perform a meritorious act unless assisted by actual grace. All of the sacraments produce sanctifying grace in the soul of the worthy recipient. It is the special function of two of these—baptism and penance, called sacraments of the dead—to produce sanctifying grace in those who are destitute of it, to give life to those who are spiritually dead. It is of the nature of the other five to increase sanctifying grace in the souls of those who already possess it. Hence they are called sacraments of the living. Three of the sacraments which can be received but once during life imprint an indelible character on the soul. Baptism stamps us as the children of God, Confirmation as the soldiers of Christ, and Holy Orders as the ministers of His altar. In addition to sanctifying grace to the worthy recipient of each of the sacraments is attached special actual graces, or graces of assistance proportioned to the needs of the receiver and the end for which the sacrament was instituted.

The third thing necessary to constitute a sacrament is that it be instituted by Jesus Christ. He alone—to whom all power was given in heaven and upon earth—can make external signs efficacious of grace. As formerly He was about in the flesh curing infirmities by means of visible signs. He now, through the sacraments, infused into the people of every age and race the precious virtue of His merits.

The seven sacraments are admirably adapted to the needs of our spiritual life corresponding to the three states of life. A child born into this world is born to a life of grace in the sacrament of Baptism. He must grow up and become a man, and by Confirmation he becomes a man in faith, a perfect Christian, and must have food to preserve and nourish his body—his soul has need of spiritual nourishment, the "Bread of Life" which he receives in the holy Eucharist. He may become ill, may be wounded, and must seek a remedy in the healing balm of the sacrament of Penance, which restores him to spiritual health. Religion, like society, has need of rulers and teachers, and if a young man is called to be a spiritual guide of souls he receives the necessary grace in the sacrament of Holy Orders, and if called to live a married life the sacrament of Matrimony gives him grace to bring up his children as good citizens and true Christians. His life's work over at last, he must die, and Jesus Christ is there with the graces of the sacrament of Extreme Unction to strengthen the dying Christian.

Thus you see, my dear brethren, how our divine Saviour assists us by the sacraments at every step from the cradle to the grave. Let us thank Him for his benefits and receive these pledges of His love. Many of your children, dear parents, have received this morning for the first time our Blessed Lord in the sacrament of the Eucharist. They have learned the essential truths of religion, and have prepared themselves for this great event by prayer and recollection during the past three days of retreat. This morning Christ has come to them stripped of all the marks of His majesty and justice, meek and loving, under the appearance of their corporal food. "Today He says to them as He said to Zacharias of old, 'Hasten to descend and prepare thy house, for this day I shall abide with thee.'"

Not only does He abide with them, but He becomes incorporated with them so that they can say "I live not I, but Christ liveth in me." Whatever may be your successes in after years you will always look back on this day as the happiest in your life—this day on which Christ has given you a pledge of a glorious resurrection. "He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood abideth in me and I in him, and I shall raise him up on the last day." This is a great step towards heaven, but only the first step. It remains for you, dear children, to persevere. He who has begun the good work in you perfect it unto His coming. As a great means to this end see to it, parents, that your children go frequently to communion. Do not restrain them from approaching the sacraments because of their childish faith and levity—God calls them to a child what a child can give, and He has said, "Let the little ones come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." If they acquire the habit of frequent confession and communion, "now will be its time," when their passions assert themselves and they meet with the temptation of life. If you are faithful to this practice I will not promise you, dear children, that you will not meet with no trials or sufferings, for these are the Christian's portion, but I do promise you that you will have strength to bear them patiently, to esteem them in the words of St. Paul as not worthy to be compared to the glory to come which shall be revealed in us. Your lives may be very ordinary and commonplace, but you may yet gain fame in the eyes of the world, but you will persevere unto the end, and when the secrets of hearts are revealed worldlings shall say of you in the words of the Book of Wisdom, "We fools esteemed their life madness and their end without honor. Behold now they are numbered among the sons of God and their lot is among the saints."

Sued by His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used, and he goodly reasons to believe it was he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this—in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all druggists.

Big Stock Reduction Sale

Stocks must be reduced to the lowest possible point.

Starts Friday, July 1st. Store Open
Till 12 a.m.

Twice a year on February 1st and August 1st we strive to have our stock reduced to the lowest possible point. To accomplish this we have always had, as probably you remember, a Stock Reduction Sale the months preceding these dates.

This season we start the sale on Dominion Day, and decided to keep our store open till 12 a.m. for the benefit and convenience of our friends many miles from town.

This will make the day doubly interesting to you, for we not only guarantee to save you big money on your purchases in the morning, but we assure you that the Lindsay Lodge of Independent Order of Oddfellows have provided an abundance of good, clean amusement for your pleasure and enjoyment during the afternoon and evening.

Now, a word about the bargains we offer.

If we were printing a paper we would get out an extra about the sensational prices we're going to sell new and seasonable goods for.

The backward season has forced makers to accept less profit and losses in many instances than they had planned.

Their loss is your gain. We've added surplus stock from every department in our store and we are throwing the whole lot on the market at reckless reductions.

Reductions cut past the quick. Goods must be sold at some price.

We've determined to clear them before 1st August, whether school keeps or not.

If it seems to you strange to be able to buy really good stylish goods for so little, come to the store for curiosity sake and look into it. The savings will pay your railroad fare and allow you a good surplus for the day's sports.

have reason to congratulate themselves on the picnic held last week.
Both socially and financially it was without doubt the greatest success of any effort made by them in recent years. No pains were spared in the preparations and with favorable weather good results were expected and there were no disappointments. Nature did her part by furnishing beautiful weather and everything contributed to make the event a howling success. The ladies of Downeyville have long enjoyed an enviable reputation as cooks, but this year they even surpassed themselves. If anyone left Downeyville picnic, feeling the pangs of hunger it was certainly his own fault. The aim of every parishioner on the ground seemed to be to provide enjoyment for the strangers of whom an unusually large number were present. The wants of the thirsty and the sweet-mouthed were catered to from two booths, managed by Messrs. P. Hickey and Jas. Lucas.
A large dancing pavilion furnished a great deal of enjoyment during the day, assisted by the excellent music for which Downeyville is noted. The clergymen we noticed on the grounds were: Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Father O'Sullivan, of Lindsay, and Father FitzPatrick, of Ennis-more.

A very pretty wedding took place here on Tuesday morning, when Mr.
Simon Connell and Miss Theresa Molloy were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Bretherton.
The bride was assisted by Miss Theresa Shyne, an Mr. John Connell, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. The happy couple have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.
Rev. Father O'Leary, of Robenay-mond, Father Jno. O'Brien, and Father Frank O'Sullivan, of Lindsay, were the guests of Father Bretherton last week during the forty hours' devotion.

(Small fairs sometimes cause a great deal of excitement and no inconsiderable loss of property. Such a one occurred not far from here a week or two ago.
Miss Florence Corkery, of Peterboro, is the guest of Mrs. D. O'Leary for a few days.
A good many farmers around here are foresting in new frost proof wire fences, and they certainly are an improvement, in a good many ways, over the old wooden ones.
Mr. J. H. Knight inspected our school on Monday. Mr. Knight's coming always reminds one of that poem which says that:
"All the world are men may go,
But I go on my own."

We hope Mr. Knight may be spared a good while longer to carry on his good work.
